Strathalbyn residents express concern over dust and dirt cloud cover...

DOWN AND DIRTY

By Deirdre Graham

A number of Strathalbyn residents whose homes are near the Old Bull Creek development site say recent carting of dirt to the paddock is blanketing their homes with unwanted dust and causing health concerns for asthmatics.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, Planning Minister Nick Champion approved a Code Amendment for a portion of Lot 1000 Old Bull Creek Road and 14 Abbots Lane.

Through the Code Amendment, the adjoining Neighbourhood Zone and associated 450 square metre minimum allotment size over the area was extended instead of the previously requested Master Planned Township Zone.

The concept plan was also amended to ensure no more than two dwellings can access Abbots Lane and that a future road reserve connects future allotments near the road, and to increase the area of open space around Dawson Creek to 40 metres, apply the urban tree canopy overlay to the whole area, and limit building height.

Rotary and Lions join forces for school voucher program

By Deirdre Graham

Strathalbyn Rotary and Lions Club members have stepped in to save a program that sees struggling students receive $50 or $100 vouchers to help with returning to school costs.

The vouchers can be put towards items such as school shoes, uniforms, stationery or sporting equipment.

They are distributed across the region through the Fleurieu Community Foundation, but this year its normal funding body withdrew its support.

That's where the Strathalbyn groups stepped in.

"This is an instance of the Lions and Rotary working together to provide the funding for both EFS and Tyndale," Rotary President, John Agnew, said.

"The amount is not the world, but sometimes when some of those unexpected things come up at the start of the school year, (it) is something that can help you get through it.

"We are providing $7500 between the two schools, and that is money that we have raised as clubs and we are sharing 50/50.

"It is certainly something that in these times, when things are tough, it would be something that we hope can help families here a bit."

The foundation has been able to distribute vouchers to schools across the Yankalilla, Alexandrina, and Victor Harbor Council areas, and had chosen to continue the program as the need was even greater this year.

"(Overall), about $31,000 worth of $50 vouchers have been distributed, and both the data and anecdotal evidence from previous years shows they are greatly appreciated by the schools and their respective communities," Fleurieu Community Foundation Voucher Program Co-ordinator, Allan Phelps, said.

The schools will have the say on who will receive the assistance.

Anyone wanting to donate to the program can go to the Foundation's website at (<https://www.fleurieucommunityfoundation.org.au>).

Mount Barker nears election

Voting slips have now been posted out for Mount Barker District Council's Supplementary Election for a councillor of the Central Ward.

This process is to fill the position after Sally Harding resigned as a councillor in November last year.

Eight candidates have put up their hand for the position: Janette Size, Jimiur Pathan, David Malpas, Clare Dorey, Rachelle Barlow, Mark Bourne, Michael Shaun Hughes and Putu Kusuma.

Council elections are voluntary and ballots are sent in the mail four weeks before the closing date of March 18 at 12-noon.

Dry times hit Freedom Hill sanctuary

By Deirdre Graham

The ongoing dry conditions and the increasingly difficult task of sourcing hay is impacting on animal rescue services such as Freedom Hill sanctuary.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, South Australians are facing ongoing dry conditions, with annual rainfalls last year recorded at near or record lows.

Owner Kym Henley said conditions at the Brinkley property were akin to a drought.

"We are virtually growing rocks – there is not one bit of grass or one bit of green at all," she said.

"Going through a 'drought' is incredibly stressful at the best of times, but when you have got over 200 animals – cows, horses, donkeys, ponies, goats, pigs and sheep – that rely on you to make sure the food is there, it does put a lot of pressure on you.

"We always hand feed our animals anyway, even in winter, but at the moment, the horses are going through a bale of hay every two days.

"So, when you would normally be having maybe once a week (that) the horses might eat a bale of hay... they are churning through it in two days, so in your week you are going through three of them."

She said hay prices were continuing to rise, with even meadow hay – the poorest quality – costing $200 a bale.

"This is where it gets scary – the scarcity of the hay – it just isn't around," Ms Henley said.

"My last truckload of hay that came, the delivery guy said he had been doing runs from Ouyen in Victoria down to Naracoorte to dairy farms until Ouyen had run out of hay.

"There is just nothing around in South

'Growing rocks'

Australia at all, and the last drought that we went through there was nothing about at all (anywhere).

"We ended up taking a loan out just so we could go to an auction and buy 90 bales to get us through, and that was $30,000."

Ms Henley said animal sanctuaries were binding together to try to figure out a way to help alleviate and work through 'drought' conditions.

"But in saying that, you can't be prepared for it as a sanctuary because you haven't got the money to stockpile your hay," she said.

"You haven't got $30,000 sitting there to go and buy a truckload of hay or 90 bales to get you through until the next reaping.

"Then we are still unsure as to what this winter is going to be like."

The sanctuary was also facing higher numbers of animals being surrendered to them, including from pet owners and farmers who are unable to care for their animals as dry conditions continue.

"We are the ones they are coming to, and I would probably get a call every two weeks, and if it is not every two weeks, it would definitely be once a month, from people surrendering horses because they just can't afford large animals," Ms Henley said.

"The feed costs are too high, so they want to surrender them, and they think sanctuaries can take them, but they just don't realise we haven't got an abundance of hay or money to be buy the hay to take their animals on as well.

"I know of one farmer, before the 'drought', (who) had spoken to a neighbour of mine, and he said he was just going to shoot the young lambs because he wasn't going to buy food in and they would starve to death, so it is pretty scary out there.

"I am glad that I am a bit sheltered in my own sanctuary because the paddocks I do see are bare, and I am wondering what the sheep are eating."

Ms Henley said the current conditions were "distressing".

"Rescue work is emotional at the best of times, but when you are constantly worrying about how to afford the next truckload of hay, it takes its toll for sure," she said.

"We pour everything into caring for the animals, and the pressure of making sure that we can continue to always be there, it takes its toll.

"There are a lot of sleepless nights, that is for sure.

"You still have your vet bills and things like that... all those things don't go away."

The problem is only exacerbated because sanctuaries fail to qualify as primary industries, which therefore meant they were unable to qualify for any relevant government assistance.

A Department of Primary Industries and Regions (PIRSA) spokesperson confirmed animal sanctuaries are not eligible for the On-farm Drought Infrastructure Rebates, which are currently being offered through PIRSA to eligible primary producers.

Animal sanctuary owners can find out more about grants they might be eligible for at (<https://www.sa.gov.au/topics/care-and-support/concessions/financial-aid/grants>) or (www.business.sa.gov.au).

Delays continue for Lot 10 project development

By Giorgina McKay

Frustrations have run high over continued delays to the proposed Lot 10 project, with Alexandrina Council yet to make the decision that would solidify its future occupants.

The highly anticipated business case for the development ordered by council was received towards the end of last year, with The Southern Argus previously revealing the project's Steering Committee members had recommended the consultant's preferred option, which excluded the Strathalbyn Harness Racing Club (SHRC) from the site.

Substantial upfront expenditures will be required to realise these plans, with the committee's preferred option estimated to cost $33.52 million in addition to an annual operating expense of $451,665.

Councillors were initially meant to endorse a preferred master plan option towards the end of last year, but it was deferred due to SHRC indicating its intent to prepare an offer to purchase a portion of the site from council.

This is not the first time the club has proposed to purchase part of the land.

This forced a decision to be pushed back until councillors could have a briefing in early February, which was held in confidence.

At last Monday night's council meeting several Lot 10-related motions were put up for debate, including adjourned motions and governance arrangements.

It was noted that further reports will be presented to council as soon as practicable but no later than the first week of March to progress the project, with a special meeting scheduled for the third of the month.

Council also formally elected North Ward councillors Sue Miller and Christie Thornton, and West Ward councillor Michael Scott onto the project's committee, though not without frustrations being expressed by Cr Miller at all the delays.

"This has been going on for two-and-a-half years and these groups have worked so well together," she said.

"You know what would be best? If there are no council members on it at all and let all the community groups drive it without any interference from council, and we have our say when they make recommendations to administration.

"I am really confused and this just gets muddier and muddier, and it drives the community insane.

"I am incredibly frustrated and this is just making a mockery of a community that is desperate to have some decisions made, and we're just making it harder for them to make decisions."

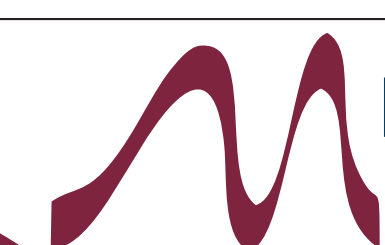

Also thrown into the mix now for the site is the proposed Strathalbyn Dog Park.

Its initial location was recommended for the corner of Langhorne Creek Road and Berry Smith Drive, but after local residents opposed the choice of site in May last year, it was opened for further investigation.

Since then, the originally proposed site now houses storage tanks for CWMS and is no longer viable.

At last Monday night's meeting council agreed to investigate the establishment of the dog park as part of any initial stage of development at Lot 10.

Councils renew partnership

Resilient Hills and Coasts members renewed their commitment to a cross-sector partnership to build climate resilience in the region last Friday during a formal ceremony held at Mount Barker's Laratinga Pavilion.

Deputy Premier and Minister for Climate, Environment and Water Susan Close renewed the five-year non-binding, collaborative sector agreement with all partners, including Alexandrina and Mount Barker councils.

These partners, who have been working together since 2014, also affirmed their commitment to the Regional Climate Action Plan 2025-2030, which sets out the direction for Resilient Hills and Coasts, and their collaboration to accelerate climate action and community resilience in the region.

Since the first Regional Climate Change Adaptation Plan was launched in 2016, the collective has successfully received $1.2 million in external funding, and undertaken 28 projects and more than 40 advocacy and engagement activities.

The partnership also aims to build community capacity and resilience, avoid duplication, share resources, provide a united and trusted voice on climate matters in the region and deliver projects that address shared priorities while saving time and money.

Event ready to bloom in Strathalbyn

By Tara Nash

Green thumbs will have their pick for tips and inspiration at the upcoming inaugural Glenbarr Garden Gala – a new event that has sprouted in the gardening community of Strathalbyn.

Beginner through to seasoned gardeners can enjoy expert-led talks for both adults and children, offering the chance to learn new gardening skills and explore creative ideas.

Renowned gardening experts Sophie Thomson, of ABC's Gardening Australia, and Kim Syrus, of Corporate Roses, will be among a line-up of speakers on the day.

So too will be the "really knowledgeable" Andrew Barker, founder of the Grow Free initiative and a local to Strathalbyn.

As well as this, visitors can browse a variety of local stallholders with different plants and herbs, garden tools, ornaments, and products.

Families can also enjoy children's activities, while visitors can have a breather in a quiet room.

Food and drink stalls will offer a variety of lunch options – including a barbecue from Rotary – which can be enjoyed in the beautiful gardens of Glenbarr, which volunteers have been tending to in the lead-up to the day.

Glenbarr is a historic Strathalbyn property built in 1842 by Scottish pioneers which is surrounded by farmland and supported by volunteers, including Kerry Newsham.

The seed was planted for the event after attending by Melbourne International Flower & Garden Show and Car Park Caper.

"I thought, why can't we do it here? – we've got the grounds," she said.

"I was thinking what could we do to lift our profile... (and that of) Strath."

Glenbarr Garden Gala will be held at Glenbarr Homestead on March 9 from 9.30am to 4pm.

Tickets cost $10 for adults while under 18s are free.

Strathalbyn nurse-led clinic here to stay

By Tara Nash

The nurse-led clinics at Strathalbyn and Gumeracha will now be an ongoing service following a trial.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the model was a proposed solution to the closed emergency department (ED), which "temporarily" shut its doors in 2020 due to COVID-19 and being located alongside vulnerable people in the conjoined aged-care facility.

The appointment-only service opened in Strathalbyn in September 2023, following Gumeracha's in May that year, to support people who need care for non-urgent conditions.

"We are pleased to share that nurse-led clinics at Gumeracha and Strathalbyn will continue to operate," Barossa Hills Fleurieu Local Health Network Chief Executive Officer, Bronwyn Masters, said.

"The clinics continue to be well-supported by the community."

In partnership with Adelaide University, a study is being conducted to review the services the clinics provide for the community.

"The evaluation will provide us learnings to ensure timely and appropriate care for both communities," Ms Masters said.

The review is progressing and will be completed later in 2025.

Dust and dirt concerns at Old Bull Creek Road site

While any development has yet to begin on the site, Vincent Leeton, who lives on Archer Court, said trucks were driving in and out of the site “non-stop”.

He alleged on Friday that the carting had been going on for about a week, and that residents had failed to receive any notice about it.

“They are heavy combination trucks and each truck has a trailer behind it, and there is three of them working continuously,” Mr Leeton said.

“Quite often there are two trucks out there on the paddock making dust and another coming down this road here through the gates.

“It is continuous all day from early in the morning, and they generally finish somewhere around 5pm in the afternoon.

“During the day the prevailing wind generally blows from the south to south-west or south-east, so all the dust that is created when they trail across this open plain blows straight across to the right and across our houses, and it fouls our rainwater tanks, makes the solar panels less effective, and covers the back yard in dust.

“I suffer from asthma, so I have to keep all my doors and windows closed whenever these trucks are in operation.”

Frencham Lane resident Mike Galea was likewise concerned by the dumping of the dirt, saying hundreds of tonnes of top soil had been transferred to the paddock behind his back fence.

He allegedly approached Alexandrina Council, and was told the developer was moving the soil from one location to another and was allowed to do so without a development application if the piles of dirt were under three metres high.

Council’s Chief Executive Officer Andrew MacDonald told The Southern Argus council’s Development Compliance Team had spoken with residents who had raised complaints and was currently investigating their concerns.

“If investigations deem it appropriate, council can use its enforcement powers under the Local Nuisance and Litter Control Act 2016 to address dust concerns as a local nuisance matter,” Mr MacDonald said.

“In the meantime, council’s Community Safety Team is actively monitoring the site and will be communicating with the developer to ensure appropriate measures are in place to minimise dust impacts.

“No development authorisation is required to stockpile fill on the site, provided the stockpiles do not exceed 3m in height.”

An Oakford Homes spokesperson declined to comment when contacted by The Argus.

Echunga prepares for All British Day

By Deirdre Graham

Preparations for Sunday’s 41st All British Day at Echunga are “on the final straight”, with organisers hopeful for relatively mild conditions.

This year’s event will be the 10th at the current location, with about 730 entries locked in.

The day showcases the best of British cars, bikes, trucks, boats and machinery, with a number of other attractions.

“We have a couple of new things this year, as probably our biggest problem as a static event is to try and make it dynamic each year,” spokesperson, Jamie Sandford-Morgan, said.

“This year we have an enthusiastic member, Roxeanne Legg, who is inviting people to come along dressed in the year of their car.

“Down to the stitch she will be able to work out what is authentic for the period they are suggesting.”

The feature theme for Sunday is the 1950s.

“That was a reasonably significant year when post-war Britain, Europe and Australia were coming out of old pre-war stuff,” Mr Sandford-Morgan said.

“That was when a lot of new fashions, designs, and new technology were being offered to the purchaser, so we thought that after the dreary war years, this was a breath of fresh air.”

Other attractions lined up for the day include demonstrations by medieval re-enactment troupe ‘Ironclad’, a tiger moth plane flyover, a petting zoo, face painting and electronic car racing games.

Tickets for entry to the Echunga oval are $12 for adults, $5 for children up to 18 years of age, and a family ticket for two adults and two or more children $27.

Paris Creek ravaged by fire

By Giorgina McKay

Two grassfires in quick succession at Paris Creek kept local Country Fire Service (CFS) volunteers on their toes on Saturday.

The first incident was called in at around 11am after a car caught fire on Paris Creek Road and the flames spread to nearby grass.

It spread approximately 0.5 hectares before it was extinguished by CFS ground crews and two water drops from supporting aircraft.

Not long after, at about 1pm, another grass fire was reported on the same road.

Approximately 140 firefighters and 40 trucks worked to extinguish and secure the area over several hours, while 38 water drops were made by supporting aircraft.

The fire burnt 19 hectares of grass and scrub land on private property but the cause is yet to be determined.

Fire investigators attended the scene and ground crews remained on site overnight to monitor conditions, ensure all hotspots were extinguished and prevent any potential reignition of the fire.

SAPOL pleads for better driver behaviour

South Australia Police has made an urgent call for safer road behaviours following the tragic loss of 17 lives already this year.

Vulnerable road users have been over-represented this year, with three motorcyclists, three pedestrians and two cyclists killed on the state's roads.

Officer in Charge of Traffic Services Branch, Acting Superintendent Jaimi Burns, said serious road trauma has been occurring at a concerning rate this year, and it is tragic to see the majority of lives lost on the roads have been vulnerable road users.

Superintendent Burns' warning comes as an analysis of 2024 fatalities and serious injuries reveals speed and dangerous driving as the major causes of lives lost.

In 2024, 91 lives were lost and 847 people were left with serious injuries resulting from road crashes, with the majority of incidents occurring on regional roads.

Distraction, driving dangerously and speeding were the leading causes of last year's 847 serious injury crashes.

Additionally, drug driving was a contributing factor in 70 regional serious injury crashes and 129 motorcycle serious injury crashes.

"Serious road trauma often involves one or more of the 'Fatal Five' road behaviours that significantly increase the risk of being involved in a crash," Superintendent Burns said.

"Tragically, this means almost all lives lost and serious injuries could have been prevented through safer road behaviours.

"With distraction and speeding playing a major role in so many crashes last year, the critical message to road users across South Australia is clear – these selfish behaviours need to stop.

"We are pleading with people driving on South Australian roads to stay focused, and drive to the conditions and speed limit so everyone can arrive safely."

Young drivers aged 16 to 24 and passengers under 16 were also significantly over-represented in lives lost and serious injury crashes.

In 2024, 11 young drivers lost their lives, while 155 young drivers sustained serious injuries.

Additionally, three passengers under 16 lost their lives and 16 were seriously injured

"South Australia Police will continue to take strong action to deter and detect unsafe behaviours on our roads through road safety education and enforcement state-wide," Superintendent Burns added.

"It is also essential that people understand that making smart and safe choices while on the road will prevent crashes and save lives."

Two cars collide at Goolwa

By Giorgina McKay

A Hindmarsh Island woman received an expiation notice after she collided with another vehicle at Goolwa last Tuesday.

Just before 10am on February 18, police and emergency services were called to the intersection of Gardiner Street and Port Elliot Road following a minor crash between a Ford and Mazda sedan.

Fortunately, no injuries were reported to police.

The Ford sedan driver, an 83-year-old Hindmarsh Island woman, was issued an expiation notice for failing to give way.

The other driver was a 21-year-old Goolwa North man.

Teenager loses licence for speeding

A Woodside teenager lost his licence after being caught speeding in the Adelaide Hills last Wednesday.

At about 4.30pm on February 19, police were conducting speed detection duties on South Eastern Freeway at Callington when they detected a white Mazda sedan travelling at 164km/h in a 110km/h zone.

Police stopped the car and spoke with the driver, a provisional licence holder and 18-year-old Woodside man, who was reported for aggravated driving at an excessive speed.

A provisional licence condition includes not exceeding 100km/h even if the local speed limit calls for it.

He was also issued a six-month immediate loss of licence.

Police in full force for Fringe

Local residents attending this year's Fringe Festival can expect a higher police presence.

South Australia Police has launched Operation Adelaide Fringe Festival 2025 to ensure revellers enjoy the event safely.

The operation will see the deployment of foot and bicycle patrols, along with police horses, dogs and Public Transport Safety Branch members to focus on behaviour, liquor licensing compliance, and public safety.

Event Police Commander Superintendent Scott Denny encouraged festival-goers to enjoy the event, but not at the expense of others' safety.

"We want everyone to have an enjoyable, memorable, and safe festival, and we are doing everything we can to be prepared and maintain Adelaide's status as a safe city to live, work and visit," he said.

"Police will have an unwavering focus on road safety, anti-social behaviour and alcohol-related violence and will respond to any reports of crime."

The 'Adelaide Fringe Festival 2025' Declared Public Precinct will be in place for a 12-hour period from 6pm to 6am every night during the Fringe period, in addition to the city-west DPP already in place.

This will provide police additional authorities to further protect public safety within the Fringe grounds and surrounding area, including the ability to conduct metal detector searches, drug searches and ordering people to leave the vicinity.

Free safety and assistance wristbands for children and vulnerable people are available at the Fringe Corner Box Office or Gluttony Box Office located on the corner Rundle Street and East Terrace.

"The festival is family-friendly in nature and people with children are reminded to have a plan in place should they be separated, including having a designated place to meet," Superintendent Denny said.

"Leave valuables at home or ensure they are secured and kept out of sight.

"If you're drinking, organise a designated driver, catch public transport, or catch a rideshare or taxi."

Operation City Safe will also be running concurrently every Friday and Saturday night, commencing at 7pm and focusing on the West End Precinct.

Driver arrested for carrying equipment

A local driver was arrested during a traffic stop at Murray Bridge last Thursday after police found breaking implements in his vehicle.

Just after 1am on February 20, police pulled over a Ford station wagon in Bridge Street, where checks revealed the driver, a 46-year-old Murray Bridge man, was unlicensed.

While speaking with the driver, the officer allegedly noticed a traditional Maori wooden baton, a white full-face LED beauty mask, and bag containing screwdrivers and torches in the rear passenger footwell.

The man was arrested and charged with going equipped to commit an offence and issued with a fine for driving unlicensed.

He was bailed to appear in Murray Bridge Magistrates Court on April 2.

Professor Allan Wilson, a geologist and archeologist with a world-wide reputation, visited Strathalbyn on Wednesday, February 16. Professor Wilson was a resident in Strathalbyn for a number of years after 1933, his father having been appointed as Church of Christ Minister at the time. Strathalbyn High School headmaster Frank Thomas at the time encouraged a keen interest in Geology and Geography. At Leaving Honors level (now year 12) in 1938 Allan prepared A Field Study of Strathalbyn and District for submission to the examiners and was awarded top marks in the state, presenting this original works to the Strathalbyn National Trust Museum on his visit.

Car accident leads to 60-year marriage

By Tara Nash

A car accident more than six decades ago turned out to be a blessing in disguise, as it connected Jan and Graham Pinchbeck who are now celebrating their milestone 60-year wedding anniversary today, February 27.

At the time, on the way from McLaren Vale to Bordertown, 16-year-old Jan rolled the car on Flaxley Road which was slippery with oil from a recent accident.

And serendipitously, it was right near Graham's family home's doorstep.

"I was upside-down and Mum was sitting there with her glasses still in her hand – they never broke," Jan said.

"I got out and Graham's brother ran down the road with a packet of Camel cigarettes and offered me one."

The mother and daughter waited there all day for a ride from Jan's dad, who was in the dairy industry and busy transporting pigs then milking cows.

Graham returned home from work that night when the two met.

The pair tied the knot at Mannum Church of England on February 27, 1965, during the peak of a hot day so the dairy farmer guests could return home to milk their cows.

They honeymooned with a road trip to Newcastle – returning to where Jan was born – and the car overheated a few times during the long trip.

their lives together – and also where Graham grew up – and where they had one of the biggest highlights of their lives: their four sons.

The pair now have a large family of 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The family moved to different towns over their years with Graham working in different factories and dairies as a dairy technologist and cheesemaker.

Jan has worked various roles, such as an office worker, telephonist and in an accounts payable department, and has been involved in Country Women's Association and Red Cross.

The pair both enjoyed volunteering for decades with Lions and are now involved in Strathalbyn Combined Probus Club.

The secret to a long and happy marriage, Jan believed, is "communication".

"People who don't communicate go in separate ways," she said.

"We don't argue – we just have discussions and sometimes they're a bit heated."

Graham agreed that after a disagreement,

Graham and Jan Pinchbeck wed at Mannum Church of England on February 27, 1965.

they "resolve and carry on".

They will celebrate the milestone anniversary and Jan's upcoming 80th birthday with a family dinner.

Mrs Jenkins pet lamb, Holly, has quickly become cherished by Eastern Fleurieu Ashbourne campus students.

Her presence offered a unique opportunity for students to learn about animal care, responsibility, and the importance of agriculture in our lives.

Interacting with Holly not only enhances students' understanding of nature, but also fosters empathy and compassion.

The children have been enjoying a gentle pat and love when Holly chases them around the school yard.

No bulk billing clinics found in Mayo

By Tara Nash

Mayo is one of 15 national electorates with no found bulk billing clinics, which is in the minority of just nine per cent of the 151 electorates, according to a recent report.

The local electorate – which covers much of the Adelaide Hills, Fleurieu Peninsula and Kangaroo Island – is also just one of three in South Australia without bulk billing clinics.

This is a big jump since the start of 2023, when just four electorates from across the country were without bulk billing clinics.

This is outlined in the latest report by Cleanbill, which is a directory aiming to increase healthcare accessibility.

It was the first report of its kind that offered an electorate comparison of changes in bulk billing clinics, finding “significant drops” in the practice in some electorates.

It also found “significant disparities” in out-of-pocket changes between electorates, with some experiencing a drop in fees while others had large increases.

Corella catastrophe

I was pleased to read the announcement in last week's Southern Argus that Alexandrina Council intends to prune and replace damaged, dying and dead trees in the Strathalbyn Soldiers Memorial Gardens.

The trees were damaged and killed because council did not protect them from the ravages of destructive Corellas that have spent the warmer months in the gardens for over 30 years.

Pruning and replacing the trees will be a costly exercise that could and should have been avoided.

Missing from the announcement was what council intends to do to stop the Corellas causing further damage.

If council has a plan, ratepayers deserve to know as they have to pay for council's neglect and failures.

Promoting hunting by stealth

Regarding ‘Banning hunting by stealth’ by Dr Nicola Centofanti (The Southern Argus, Feb 13, 2025), the State Government is right in attempting to recover some of the costs to administer duck and quail hunting open seasons.

Duck hunting is an entirely discretionary activity that is undertaken by fewer than one in 1700 South Australians.

The increase in permit fees for 2025 still comes nowhere near covering the full costs to the South Australian taxpayer.

The Parliamentary Inquiry to which Ms Centofanti refers was seriously flawed.

It became clear to non-hunting groups making submissions that no amount of scientific and other objective evidence presented was going to change the entrenched views of the pro-hunting Select Committee members.

An independent survey of more than 4000 South Australians in 2023 (2000 in urban areas and 2000 in regional SA) found an overwhelming majority believed that animals killed for food must be killed quickly and humanely.

It is impossible when shooting birds with shotguns to achieve this.

Many birds are not killed outright and are left wounded.

The Australian Veterinary Association opposes duck hunting on this basis.

According to Tourism Research Australia, international visitors spent $2.6 billion on travel that involved birdwatching in the year to June 2024, while domestic overnight birdwatching travellers spent $636 million over the same period, up from $414 million in 2021 – a 53 per cent increase.

We encourage Ms Centofanti to start supporting activities that protect and treasure our wonderful native birds.

Farm fight

Some politicians propose replacing coal-fired power stations with nuclear reactors.

Even pro-nuclear group Nuclear for Australia concedes nuclear reactors use at least 1.2 times more water than comparable coal fired power, and the proposed reactors are much larger than existing coal plants, meaning water use could more than double.

Some suggest desalination plants to supply water for nuclear reactors, but this requires seawater and nearly all the proposed reactor sites are a long way inland.

Desalination is also extremely costly. As a core principle, Farmers for Climate Action stands for protecting regional water supplies and does not support making water scarcer or more expensive for farmers.

Local heroes

Last weekend's close-call fire at Paris Creek was a stark reminder of why we should never take any outbreak or the work of our amazing Country Fire Service (CFS) volunteers lightly.

Crews were called to Paris Creek Road firstly at around 11am to extinguish a car fire that spread to nearby grass, but then not long after, a more dangerous fire broke out nearby, with a watch and act alert issued going out to nearby homes and properties.

About 140 firefighters and 40 trucks worked to extinguish and secure the area over several hours, while 38 water drops were made by supporting aircraft.

With their work, the watch and act alert was soon downgraded.

This fire burnt 19 hectares of grass and scrub land on private property.

How thankful should locals be for our CFS volunteers and those who helped with farm fire units?

South Australia has 425 CFS brigades in South Australia, equating to about 13,500 volunteers.

Every fire season they are called out in the heat, putting themselves in danger, to tackle the many fires that ignite each season.

Every year they call for more volunteers.

Fighting fires is a science that seasoned volunteers know well, and is boosted by being able to have water bombing aircraft swiftly on the scene.

But did you have a thought about your bushfire plan this past week, so you can help protect yourself, other adults, children, people who need assistance, and pets and livestock?

Did you consider what you would do if a blaze broke out and you were at work?

If the pets run away, the children are home alone, if you have guests, and/or your escape route was blocked?

Has your household made a decision about if you will all leave early, where you will go, what to do with your pets, what you would take with you, and who to tell of your movements?

These checklists are on the CFS website as a three-step fire safety plan.

Take some time to tick the boxes.

Milang Railway Museum opens new railway loop

By Deirdre Graham

About 90 people descended on the Milang Railway Museum on Sunday to mark the official opening of its new rail loop.

Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie and Alice Beale from the History Trust of South Australia did the honours of opening the track, while Alexandrina Mayor Keith Parkes and other dignitaries were among those who enjoyed a trip around the new loop.

Milang Railway Museum Secretary Peter Lucas said the handmade venture took about a year-and-a-quarter to complete.

"Back in 2017 we opened a building called the South Australian Light Railway Centre, which was to preserve the history of South Australian light railways, the little narrow-gauge railways," he said.

"At that time we had a short train ride which went out a few hundred metres and then back again, and that kept us going until about 2023 when we decided it would be good if we had a much longer ride around the whole area.

"So, we got permission from the rail safety regulator to do that, and then we got planning permission from the council, and went to work and started to lay the track.

"That was at the end of 2023, (and) we had an average of about six volunteers (at a time) doing the work, which was all done by hand."

The sleepers were donated by Graeme Crack, while a number of organisations such as Alexandrina Council and individuals donated towards the expensive ballast.

"We had lots of work to do on the way," Mr Lucas said.

"The sharp curves were a real challenge – we had to invent a rail bending machine to do the curved rail at each end, but we got it finished."

The official opening followed the 'Golden Spike Day' on January 7 that marked the completion of the rail loop.

Mr Lucas said the museum had helped put Milang on the map.

"Most people in Adelaide have never heard of Milang, and through this, we have been able to get it on TripAdvisor and Google, and that has brought a lot of people into the town," he said.

The museum volunteers' new project is to enable a Velocipede to be ridden.

"It is like a bicycle that goes down the track," Mr Lucas said.

"They can ride that, but it doesn't go anywhere at the moment.

"We have got permission now for people to ride a Velocipede up and down the railway track outside here, so in about two months, people will be able to come down here, get on a Velocipede, put their kid on the other end, and be able to take them for rides up and down the track."

Ruth and Tony Gates, of Encounter Bay, recorded the commentary for the Milang Flyer train ride, as written by Peter Lucas.

Award winner to Business Leader

After winning the 2024 Fleurieu Women's Community Award for Inspirational Businesswoman, Tichanun Jumpee (TJ) owner of Thai Days in Goolwa, has taken her success to new heights. In October 2024, she launched her second restaurant, Siam Seaside in Victor Harbor – a venue twice the size of her first and has quickly become a local favourite.

Siam Seaside has been thriving, operating at full capacity for lunch and dinner, six days a week through summer. This success comes with challenges. TJ built and trained an entirely new team – some of which relocated from New South Wales and Thailand, drawn by her reputation as a caring and effective leader.

Balancing two restaurants' towns apart on the Fleurieu hasn't been easy and TJ relies on her husband, Nick for his unwavering support. Their dedication to health and mindfulness – including Pilates, time in nature and a trip back to Thailand before the new opening – has helped her navigate the pressures of business.

More than just a business owner, TJ is a leader who prioritises her team's well-being. She fosters a positive work environment with team-building activities like beach volleyball and invests in leadership coaching to strengthen her confidence and resilience.

TJ deeply values the Fleurieu Peninsula and the sense of community it offers. "I love the region, the people, and the peacefulness," she says. Winning last year's award filled her with pride:

"I felt so proud to win. I am just a girl from the Thai countryside who couldn't speak English, and I've come so far from that young girl and her background."

TJ is grateful for the opportunities Australia has given her and feels a strong desire to give back, particularly to younger people in her community.

TJ's journey from a small village in Thailand to the Fleurieu is remarkable and shows hard work makes a difference.

Garden club abuzz at activity

Guest speaker Mark Rose gave a very easy to understand talk on the life of bees, how important they are in the production of food, and how a hive and its various types of resident bees operate at Strath Garden Club's first meeting for the year.

Prior to Mark's talk, there was the usual well-stocked raffle table, as well as the trading table – both of which did good business.

Tickets were on sale for the upcoming inaugural Glenbarr Garden Gala.

Club members are busy growing plants which will be sold at the trading table on the day.

In welcoming more than 90 members and guests – the highest attendance for several years – President David reminded those present that the club's AGM is not far away.

The current committee has been operating two short since the last AGM – a far from ideal situation – and he called for all members to consider nominating for a committee position.

He will be stepping down in June, as will Secretary Jenny, who by then will have completed 14 years in the role, so at least four people are needed to put their hands up.

The club's next meeting is on the fourth Friday, February 28, at 9.30 for a 10am start at the Strath Neighbourhood Centre on Parker Avenue.

As always, visitors and new members will be warmly welcomed.

Guest speaker will be Trevor Garrard from the Orchid Club of SA, who will be imparting some of his extensive knowledge of these most interesting plants.

Regional rideshare approved

The State Government has officially announced the removal of restrictions that had prevented rideshare services from operating in regional areas.

Rideshare services such as Uber have previously been able to operate in regional areas with an exemption permit obtained for about $300 annually, however, many have called for the metropolitan boundary to be removed to enable them to provide their services to regional areas without the charge.

The removal was flagged in September last year, but the government's announcement on Monday made it official.

Member for Hammond Adrian Pederick welcomed the news.

"Whether it's for a night out, getting to work or attending medical appointments, having access to reliable transport is essential," he said.

"This decision will enhance mobility for residents, boost tourism, and provide new employment opportunities for locals looking to become drivers."

However, Member for Finnis David Basham took a more cautious approach to the news.

"This regional area is fortunate to have private chauffeur operators, local taxi and Dial-A-Ride (bus) services that provide point-to-point transportation, and other public bus services," Mr Basham said.

"Moreover, many local establishments take responsibility by offering a courtesy bus to ensure safe travel home after events."

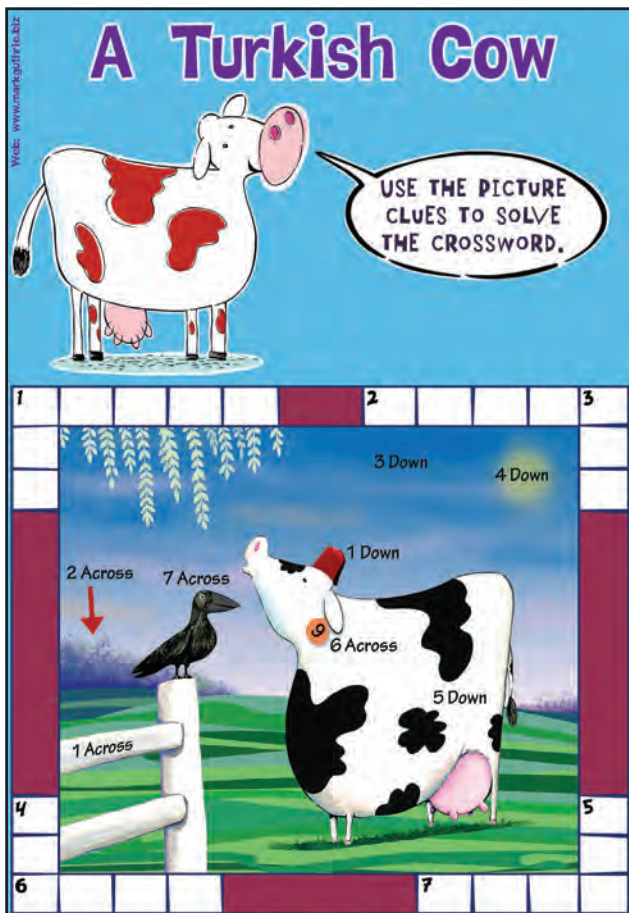

"We need to ensure we continue to support the transport services who have been supporting us, otherwise we risk losing the valuable transport options we currently enjoy."

An artist's impression of the proposed medical centre, planned to be Jones Radiology, at Adelaide Rd in Mount Barker. INSET: Damage to some of the structural elements.

Demolition of 'heritage' building knocked back by council

By Giorgina McKay

An application for a new medical centre at Mount Barker has been knocked back by council's assessment panel due to the proposed demolition of buildings, despite its heritage consultant deeming the works compliant and the structure "irredeemably beyond repair".

Beyond Ink submitted an application in November last year for the demolition of all existing buildings, including one local heritage place, and removal of two regulated trees at 44, 46 and 48 Adelaide Road to construct a two-storey consulting room building with associated signage, fencing, retaining, carparking and landscaping.

The building, comprising of a floor area of approximately 1578m², would have 15 consulting rooms, including nine at the lower ground level and six at the upper, associated supporting facilities such as administration areas, offices, staff rooms, wet areas, bin storage, mechanical plant and communication rooms, and 42 car parks, including disability complaint spaces.

However, the development received strong opposition during the consultation period, with the majority against the demolition of the heritage site.

The development proposed to demolish a 1924 local-heritage-listed home at 46 Adelaide Road, with council giving consideration to the heritage values of the structures at 42, 46 and 50 Adelaide Road, and the nearby 1 Druids Avenue.

Extensive cracking was found throughout the 46 Adelaide Road building by both Remedial Engineering Consulting and On Architecture, as well as other signs of poor footing performance, stormwater management, reactive soils, and proximity of large trees, which, if it were to be rectified, would require the entire building to be underpinned, together with complete reconstruction of walls and other elements.

It was therefore deemed to be in poor condition and the works would qualify it as being "irredeemably beyond repair", which would support its demolition.

The demolition of two adjacent buildings at Druids Avenue to facilitate the new development were also deemed non-detrimental to the overall character and value of the area.

"It has been reasonably demonstrated that demolition of the existing local heritage place is appropriate, with particular reference to its structural stability and degree of demolition required in order to fully restore the building to a safe and habitable state," a council report read.

"This demolition is further supported by a Heritage Impact Statement, which makes reference to a previous heritage survey that sought to 'downgrade' the building to a contributory item.

"The building design responds appropriately to the context of the Historic Area Overlay, incorporating appropriate building heights, fenestration, materiality and roof form/pitch."

But despite the assessment panel agreeing the proposed development was not seriously at variance with the Planning and Design Code, and the engineer's report deeming the Adelaide Road building "irredeemably beyond repair", at last Wednesday's meeting panel members refused to grant planning consent as they believed it had "not adequately demonstrated compliance" with the Local Heritage Place and Historic Area Overlays.

The medical centre was planned to be a Jones Radiology, which would have made it the organisation's third location in the town.

A spokesperson said the organisation would continue to look for the right space to increase its capacity in Mount Barker.

Volunteers deployed to Mount Remarkable

Nine local Country Fire Service (CFS) volunteers recently returned from a deployment to the Wilmington fire in the Mount Remarkable National Park in the Flinders Ranges.

Strathalbyn CFS Group deployed the Langhorne Creek 14 appliance, two command vehicles, and nine members from various brigades.

The fire was started by lightning on February 2 at about 4.30pm.

Local crews were quickly on scene, but the terrain made access difficult.

The fire response was quickly upgraded, with response by aviation and ground resources from outside the area.

Due to the complexity of the location, further resources from throughout the state responded, including the Strathalbyn CFS Group.

One member was involved in the logistics section of the incident management team, two members were Sector Commanders, and the remainder were – as CFS volunteers phrase it – “putting wet stuff on the red stuff”.

Accommodation was provided in Port Pirie, Port Augusta or Melrose, with meals being provided by the Salvation Army.

The hard-working crews at Stirling North and Port Pirie airbases kept the Single Engine Air Tractors (SEATs) bombers, and the Blackhawk bombers filled with the required fire-retardant type, as specified by the Air Attack Supervisors (AAS).

The Very Large Air Tanker (VLAT) from interstate was also deployed to drop some long retardant lines, and line scan capable aircraft were also used to map the fire edge and locate hotspots.

The aircraft dropped in excess of 39,000 litres of various retardants from 554 drops.

The area has so far burnt about 5400-hectares, and the fire boundary is about 60kms.

Men welcomed to join program

By Tara Nash

A self-development program that aims to support men in becoming the best version of themselves is coming to Goolwa for the first time.

Good Better Best Men is a not-for-profit South Australian charity founded in 2023 that promotes physical, mental and emotional wellbeing to help participants make a positive contribution to the wider community.

Over the nine-week program, men share their challenges in a non-judgemental and confidential space, ranging from alcoholism, drug addiction, and domestic violence, through to the most common struggle of finding meaning in life.

“What am I doing in life? Something is missing,” Co-Founder, Michael Brennan, said.

“Men come because in some way their lives are unfulfilled... (and) it’s a journey of trying to understand that.”

“Most men go away thinking: ‘I’ve never actually thought about (meaning and purpose) on that deeper level’”

Culture often tells men they’re unable to open up about their feelings, however, Mr Brennan believed it’s “deeper than that” – that they need support identifying their emotions.

“Part of circle work is that all of you is welcome – the sadness, the joy, the shame, the guilt and anger,” he said.

“We hold people energetically in that space to be who they need to be.

“We don’t give any answers – we don’t tell men how to do things – they’re invited and we play with different things to think about.”

By the end of the nine weeks, facilitator Sean Tavener finds a huge change in the participants, particularly after “vulnerability has been exposed” and they have “opened up to that connection”.

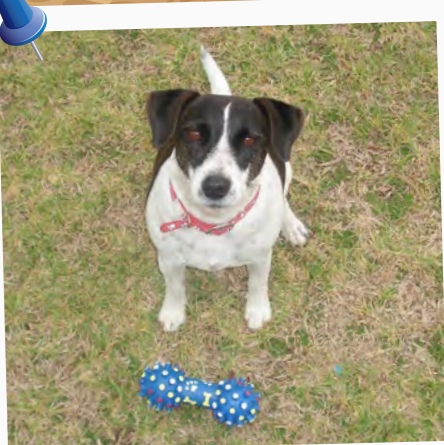

Mr Brennan has heard many men say they learn “so many tools” from the experience that they can take home.

After his own relationship struggles and personal challenges, Mr Brennan found a decline in his mental health, then found his “life calling” in his late 60s.

After working as a support worker, with Lifeline, and in a mental health program, Mr Brennan co-founded the community of men after dreaming of the idea for many years.

The introductory session at Goolwa Centenary Hall is this Wednesday, March 5.

Prospect Hill awarded new rainwater tanks

A Prospect Hill group has been awarded an almost $50,000 grant to install rainwater tanks.

The State Government has allocated an additional $1.2 million in funding to help community groups in regional South Australia bring their projects to life through the Thriving Communities Program.

The program provides grants from $20,000 up to $50,000 for small projects such as new or improved infrastructure, equipment or events with wellbeing outcomes.

Successful projects are those which build social capital through facilitating community participation, create a sense of belonging and improve accessibility.

One of the successful recipients this year was the Prospect Hill Community Organisation which received $48,656 for rainwater tanks for the Prospect Hill Community Hall and War Memorial.

“The State Government is pleased to be able to provide further funding to the highly successful Thriving Communities Program, which has become increasingly popular since it was launched in 2023,” Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development, Clare Scriven, said.

“This program provides a fantastic opportunity for community groups to bring their ideas to life with projects that help improve quality of life, boost morale and build resilience in our regions.

“Projects such as those funded through the Thriving Communities Program help attract and retain people to live and work in our regional areas.

“These projects help build resilience of the whole community, which is crucial to supporting our regional industries which contribute $36.7 billion to state’s economy.”

Earliest vintage in memory

By Tara Nash

A Langhorne Creek winery had their earliest vintage in recent memory due to the unseasonably dry season.

Bremerton Wines' busiest season of the year started about three weeks earlier than average, with ripening sped up due to dry conditions.

The low-disease pressure in the vines means the grape quality is looking "awesome", but the challenge has been ensuring the vines remain healthy and irrigated.

Excluding some extremely hot days, owner Rebecca Wilson said generally, the weather has been "really kind" to the region.

"Because of the influence of the lakes and the ocean, the coolness at night is lovely because you retain natural acidity (in the grapes)," she said.

"Langhorne Creek is pretty lucky – we're a pretty consistent region, we don't face extremes very often."

Healthy vines in good soil nutrition and with balanced viticulture can withstand the odd hot day.

Balanced viticulture refers to having good canopy to fruit ratio, so leaves can help the grapes ripen.

During vintage, Bremerton Wines has increased staff operating across seven days a week, with vineyards across two sites as well as a sourcing grapes from a couple of small growers.

Grapes fermenting.

Part of the process includes testing the maturity of the grapes, analysing the grape juice's sugar, and looking at its acidity and pH balance.

"We look at the science to guide us but the number one decision is flavour," Ms Wilson said.

"Sometimes the science tells you one story but the taste (tells another)."

This year, she has observed early sugar ripeness, so they have to wait longer for the flavour to develop.

Other parts of vintage include fermentation, separating the juice from the skins, and barrelling the wine for ageing which can be a couple of months to several years.

They have transitioned from working with the earlier whites and roses to red varieties, anticipating they may even finish before Easter, which is "absolutely unheard of" as they are typically done by the end of April.

Liam Cavanaugh, from Washington, working in Langhorne Creek for the vintage season.

Why do I need to have my identity verified in property transactions?

Conveyancers (and Solicitors and Financial Institutions) are required to identify their clients when they are involved in property transactions.

The Registrar-General who is responsible for the administration of property legislation brought in the 'Verification of Identity Policy' to minimise the risk of identity fraud and fraudulent land transactions being registered.

The Policy also allows settlements to be done online.

Verification of Identity

This is done when a client attends a 'face-to-face' meeting with their Conveyancer, and produces specific and current documentation required.

The Conveyancer can confirm the Identity.

Identification documentation includes:

- Passports
- Proof of age cards
- Change of name/marriage certificates
- Birth certificates
- Medicare/DVA cards
- Drivers licences
- Your photo may also be taken

The documentation must be kept on file by the Conveyancer for at least seven years.

It is important that there must be a link between all the documentation.

For instance, if a birth certificate and driver's licence are used, and each document has a different surname (for instance, a person has got married), then you must also have a linking document that provides evidence of the name change.

In this case a marriage certificate would also be required.

What if I can't attend a face-to-face meeting?

If you can't get to your Conveyancer's office for this meeting, then you will need to do the 'face-to-face' meeting with an agent like Australia Post or use a Virtual Verification Of Identity Service.

Verification of the right to deal (Verification of Authority)

Even when your identity has been verified, we must also establish that you have the right to deal with the property.

The Verification of Authority process establishes the link between the property and the seller (or buyer).

Sellers will need to produce land tax assessments, rates notices, utilities notices and mortgage repayment statements.

The type of documents needed to verify a seller's authority will differ depending on the type of conveyancing transaction.

Buyers will need to produce the sales contract and/or finance approval.

If you are signing on behalf of another party, then documentary proof of that authority must be established.

For example, you must produce the original power of attorney, trust deed, court order, Probate, etc.

Why is VOI and VOA crucial for secure transactions?

The verification processes are a way of safeguarding against fraudulent property transactions, identity theft, and unauthorised dealings.

At Strathalbyn Conveyancing we ensure all legal requirements for property transactions are met and we continually strive to provide a seamless, secure transaction for our clients.

If you have any questions about the Verification of Identity and Authority process, our experienced team will be happy to help you.

Things to do today that your future self will thank you for

The start of the year is a perfect time to put in place some basic financial steps that your future self will thank you for.

Building your nest egg

Adding to superannuation is one of the most powerful and tax-effective ways to build wealth over the long-term.

If you're an employee, consider salary sacrifice on top of the mandatory contributions made by your employer.

A small amount paid regularly will make a big difference over time.

There are some limits on how much you can invest before tax is affected, so it's a good idea to keep track of any before-tax, or concessional, contributions.ⁱ

Finding ways to cut living expenses and reducing or eliminating debt, including paying off the mortgage as quickly as possible, are also obvious ways to attain financial security, although not always easy to implement.

But, again, any small and regular steps towards your goal are positive contributions.

Preparing for the unexpected

Apart from finding ways to build wealth and reduce debt, being prepared for unexpected losses helps to secure your future.

For example, losing your home, business premises or vehicle in a catastrophic event when not adequately insured creates a significant financial burden.

As natural catastrophes increase in frequency and intensity, so do the economic losses created by underinsurance or no insurance.

One study estimated these losses in Australia at more than $18 billion in the nine years to 2023.ⁱⁱ

Common reasons for underinsuranceⁱⁱⁱ noted by the Insurance Council of Australia (ICA) are:

1. Incorrectly guessing what it costs to repair, rebuild or replace property and contents. The ICA suggests using insurance calculators provided on insurer websites to help predict more accurate values for building and contents insurance.
2. Forgetting to update insurance after home and belonging upgrades. Renovations, new furniture, and upgraded appliances all add to the value of your home. It's a good idea to reconsider the value of replacement changes at least every time you renew your policy.
3. Include extra costs such as demolition, clean-up, asbestos removal, council applications, architect, and surveyor services, and even the cost of temporary accommodation during a rebuild.
4. Not accounting for all your assets – you probably own a lot more than you realise. What about the contents of your garden shed and your wardrobe?

Financial protection for personal events

A survey of more than 5000 working Australians found on average, almost 80 per cent have car insurance, while just one third have life insurance.^{iv}

Life insurance is a valuable protection for your family if something happens to you.

There is also income protection insurance and various other personal insurances that can ensure you continue to receive an income when you're unable to work.

While cost-of-living pressures might make insurance or self-insurance seem like a luxury you can't afford, making an informed choice is the best you can do.

That means carefully weighing up options and the financial risks associated with events that affect yourself or your property.

Crows swoop on Port Adelaide at Mt Barker

Crows v Port at Mount Barker's Summit last Friday. Inset: Jordan Dawson. Photos: Rowan Sims

More than 5000 people flocked to the Summit Sport and Recreation Park last Friday to watch the sold-out pre-season match simulation between Adelaide and Port Adelaide in warm conditions.

It was the first time the two clubs have played against each other in the Adelaide Hills, and it failed to disappoint, giving local fans a chance to see their favourite teams play in SA before the official season kicks off next Thursday.

The event kicked off with an Auskick session, an Acknowledgement of Country and a guard of honour formed by Auskick participants and event sponsors before the players from the respective teams ran out onto the field.

The coin toss was performed by Trent Hensel, who regularly accesses services at the Mt Barker Hospital and is a diehard Crows fan, on behalf of naming rights sponsor Built.

Both teams played six 28-minute periods in which the Crows dominated the first half before the Power managed to stem the flow in the later quarters. But it wasn't enough to topple the scoreline, seeing the Crows come out winners of the 'showdown' 103 points to 79.

Goal scorers for Adelaide included Thilthorpe and Soligo 3, Rachele 2, and Dawson, Jones, Curtin, Keays, Pedlar and O'Leary 1, while Port Adelaide had Bryne-Jones 3, and Rioli, Rozee, Richards, Georgiades, Lukosius, Drew, Williams and Lord 1.

Local community organisations and sporting groups who were able to fundraise on the night by selling food and drinks included Macclesfield Football Club, Mount Barker Cricket Club, Mount Barker RSL, and Mount Barker Rotary, among others.

Quiet week at Hawk Park

The Hawk players received two forfeits this week.

The Thursday girls received a forfeit from Goolwa, and this enabled them to sit on top of the premiership ladder and score a home final.

Saturday was predicted to be hot and, once again, the Division 4 side received a forfeit from Goolwa.

Saturday was an early start for all teams in GSBA due to the heat policy rule.

Division 2 were looking for a win to maybe put them into the final four, but sadly they fell short by five shots and only two points for one winning rink.

The visitors from Victor Harbor were at the Creek bright and early to try and beat the heat.

Surprisingly, conditions were okay in the morning and only towards the end of the day did it start to get hot.

However, Hawks were able to finish the game.

With Wayne Stremple in charge, his rink was dominant all day and recorded a seven-shot win.

On the rink next door, Tim Footner and his crew were having a bit of trouble getting started, being eight to 21 shots down but, to their credit, they dug deep and came back to record an eight-shot loss.

Justin Cleggett and his gang were going along fine and looked to be in control.

Victor Harbor were not going to let this happen and they rallied to score a four-shot win, so there were only two points for the Hawks this week.

It will be the last game for the Open Gender teams this week, so let's enjoy the game and reflect on what has been a challenging but enjoyable season.

The girls need to keep their motivation going and aim for a win to finish off the minor round.

There will be a couple of Night Owls matches before the season finishes, so come along and enjoy the hospitality on Thursday night.

All are welcome to come along and to have a great meal and maybe a game of bowls.

Milang Bowls

Heat hits Milang

Last Thursday the Milang ladies played at Yankalilla with the usual gusty winds.

Milang gained four points, with two rinks having good wins, but not enough shots to cover the other one.

Bev Mullins' team were the higher winners with 24-14, while Lee's were 24-17, and Jacky's disappointed with 16-37.

Milang's last game is at Milang against Port Elliot.

On Saturday Milang played early because of the extreme temperature ruling.

Div. 3 played at Myponga and were able to complete the whole match, with a drawn result and five points to Milang.

Jacky's winning Rink of the Week scored 26-16, Glen's 19-23 and Lee's 11-17.

Div. 5 against Encounter Bay Gold were having a very close game until the temperature reached 38, then the umpire called off the game before completion of the end when Milang's three rinks were holding shots.

Unfortunately, they only earned one point, with Kym's rink being 17-all, Heather's 15-16 and Pam's 13-15.

The game this Saturday is crucial to finals positions, with Milang third and three other teams within four points.

'Good bowling' to all players this coming week.

Last tournament of the season

The Strathalbyn Bowling Club has its last tournament of the season next Friday, February 28, which is the Vern Philips Memorial Day tournament for men only.

At this point in time, the club has 88 bowlers from 18 clubs in and around the Fleurieu and Adelaide areas, starting at 10am through to around 4pm.

Great Southern sweeps the Fleurieu Zone Junior Competitions

The Great Southern Cricket Association completed a clean sweep of the Fleurieu and Districts under-age competitions last Sunday.

Competing in the finals of the Figg Cup (Under 21s), Calaby Shield (Under 15s) and Fuller Shield (Under 13s) on Sunday, 23 February, all three teams were successful.

This was only the second time in the history of these competitions that an association has won all three grades.

The Figg Cup team hosted Alexandra and Eastern Hills at Encounter Bay in a match that ebbed and flowed throughout.

GSCA batted first and got away to a blistering start.

M Parry and F Magor took full toll of the bowling, and raced to 86 in an entertaining opening partnership.

The dismissal of Captain Parry triggered a batting collapse.

Seven wickets tumbled for the addition of 34 runs as the batters attempted to maintain the scoring rate against some tight bowling.

L Nash again stood tall, taking charge of the innings.

With the support of E Anderson and K Garrett, he posted a match winning innings of 78, taking the score to an imposing 8/203 from their 50 overs.

The Alexandra and Eastern Hills' innings never really gained the momentum needed to threaten the hosts' total.

While B Judd (38) and Z Llewellyn (33) did their best to keep the scoreboard ticking over, no other batters were able to make a significant contribution.

The wickets were shared among the six GSCA bowlers used, but the stand-out was Nash (4/26) from his nine overs.

The Calaby Shield team travelled to Jervois to take on the Murray Towns Association.

The hosts won the toss and batted first, reaching 23 before losing two quick wickets.

A partnership of 36 between R

Stapleton (29) and B Gilmour (19) started to cause some concern for the visitors, but K Lang dismissed both in quick succession to put the MTCA on the back foot.

Wickets continued to fall at regular intervals until R Gladigau (15) chimed in with some enterprising batting.

When he was run out, the home side was all out for 121.

All bowlers played their part, with J Wirth (3/8 from nine overs) and K Lang (2/19 from five overs) the most successful.

H French was also involved in two run-outs.

The GSCA run chase began steadily, reaching 19 before the first wicket fell.

H Ats joined captain R Weidenhofer and they took the score to 65 before Ats was out.

Weidenhofer (52no) and J Wirth (24no) polished off the remaining 57 runs to claim a comprehensive win.

R Gladigau and T Hollis each took a wicket for the home team.

The Fuller Shield provided the most exiting match of the day.

MTCA won the toss and batted at Taillem Bend oval, reaching 23 before losing their first wicket.

From then on, there was a procession of wickets.

L Stewart (16), B Eichler (13) and J Salter (12no) did their best to establish a competitive score, but the side was bowled out for 86 from 36.1 overs.

GSCA used eleven bowlers, who shared in the wickets.

T Averats (2/2 from 2.1 overs) and L Labuschagne (2/8 from four overs) were the most successful.

The GSCA innings began disastrously, losing two wickets without a run on the scoreboard.

M Petrucci did his best to get the innings going, and J Tamblin (two runs from 40 balls) tried hard to stem the tide, but when Petrucci (13) was out with the score at 5/34, things were looking good for the hosts.

GSCA captain R Averats (13) and wicket keeper E Cudbertson took the score to 66 before Averats fell and O Davey strode to the crease.

Limited balls remaining, as well as not many wickets left, were factors working against the visitors.

Showing great intent, Davey scored 13 valuable runs from only 14 balls to give the visitors hope, but was run out with five runs still needed for victory from the last over.

Cudbertson (17no) had provided the supporting role in their partnership, but managed to steer the team home with one ball to spare from their 40 overs.

L Stewart (3/9 from five overs) was the pick of the MTCA bowlers.

All three matches were played in great spirit, and all three associations can be proud of their players' efforts.

Langhorne Creek hammer Redbacks again

Langhorne Creek's bowling attack continued their fine form when they knocked over Macclesfield for just 82 for the second time in three weeks in very warm conditions at Langhorne Creek oval.

Adam Clements won the toss and bowled, despite being out without front line bowlers Troy Blackwell and Brad Clements.

Needing to keep their dream alive of a top two finish and to boost their NRR, Langhorne Creek started well, removing skipper Tom Filsell, the dangerous Josh Lewis-Burns, and Oliver Llewellyn inside the first 12 overs, with Clements, Dan Kropp and Shane Bown all striking blows to the Redbacks' top order.

Konan Breed was proving hard to move, as veteran Joe Lions joined the opening batsman with two boundaries.

Breed fell to part-time bowler Brayden Frost with a nice catch to Darcy Paech in the deep to see the score at 4/41.

BJ Frost struck again, removing Chad Horsnell LBW, and when Jagga Kotz knocked over Lions, the Redbacks were in for an early finish at 6/44.

Things did not get any better for the Redbacks, with Long and Jones falling to the off spin of young Tigers gun Jagga Kotz, and Frost claiming another wicket.

A great catch by Dan Cleggett at first slip saw the Redbacks reduced to 9/52.

Like Bremer/Callington did last week to the Tigers, the Redbacks hung in there and pushed the score to 82 through their two young and up-and-coming stars Harrison Farrelly and Declan Long.

Adam Clements introduced himself back into the attack and removed Farrelly to see Tigers needing 83 for victory.

Spinners Frost and Kotz were the pick of the Tigers attack with three wickets while Adam Clements took 2/9 from 6.3 overs.

Shannon Jones was back after a two-week stint on the river, and he set the tone for the Tigers, whacking the first ball for four.

Jones moved along quickly for 17 before he tried to hit Luke Jones over mid-on, but only succeeded to hit a catch high to gully; a juggled take by Lewis-Burns.

Brodie O'Dea blasted the Tigers within reach of victory with a 25-ball half century, as he took to the leg spin of Joe Lions, Cade Long and Luke Jones.

Dan Kropp took a back seat as opener, only facing 10 balls in the Tigers eight over chase.

O'Dea was the second wicket, out to Lion, caught at deep mid-wicket before skipper Adam Clements finished off the Redbacks to see the Tigers jump back into second spot on the ladder.

Langhorne Creek play host to Nairne at home on Saturday while Macclesfield take on Hahndorf at home.

Around the grounds

Langhorne Creek B Grade gave Mt Barker one hell of a fright at Mt Barker High after almost chasing down 264.

Paul Newbery was in full flight, with 90, and Chris Nutt continued his good form with 54.

Toby Phillips jumped into fourth on the B Grade wicket taking list as we look to have found a replacement for the left arm Darren Aworth albeit 25 years later!

The C Grade finished before 3pm for the sixth week in a row, as they tipped a few in at the Milang pub before they went home at standard finishing time.

The D Grade continued their winning ways, with Jack Hall pushing for the all-rounder spot in the A Grade with more runs and wickets this week.

The 16s polished off Mt Barker, with 11-year-old Damien Nurse the destroyer with 3/2.

Our under 12s continue to shine in the 14s, with Sam McInnes, Dylan Pavy and Archie Frost taking seven wickets between them.

The 12s knocked over Mt Barker, with Hooter Frost happy with the boys' effort, and also the Crows performance down the road at the Summit Oval as they demolished the Power.

The 10s set alight Langhorne Creek Oval, with Isaac Fullerton and Henry Lyon on fire with the bat.

Rory Butler was back on track as he picked up four wickets, with Isaac Fullerton backing up his batting with three wickets.

Overall, a great weekend for the Tigers, with all grades bar the B Grade getting a win.

The A Grade have snuck into the top two, along with the C and D Grade, as positions tighten up for the finals.

The 14s have jumped back into the top four, with Chris Nutt having his team firing on all cylinders.

In some not-so-good news, former Tiger Robert Cook passed away during the week.

Robert has had a big connection to the club over the years, with son Simon an A grade and C Grade premierships player, his sister Leonie Warren is a life member of the Tigers, along with his nephew Ben Warren, and daughter Abby Cook continues to help around the club when needed.

Robert has four grandsons and a granddaughter playing junior cricket or blasters.

Our condolences go to Lindee and the family.

This Sunday we have our ladies day, past players and sponsors day at the club from 12pm.

A game between Trevor Potts XI and Geoff Warren XI will take place in the T20 format, with some former greats and young guns combining – the likes of Damien James, Tim Harvey, David Harvey, Josh Milne, Andrew Cooper, Mike Perrey and Dave LeBrun just to name a few.

It should be a great day, so come along and enjoy a quiet beer at Tiger Park.

Brown and Roberts help finish off Marion

On Sunday, February 23 at Strathalbyn Oval, the Eastern Falcons played against Marion in round 15 of the ATCA Women's Second Grade competition.

The Falcons lost the toss and were sent to field first.

Opening the bowling for the Falcons were Holly Paech and Natalie Frahn, who dried up Marion's run rate.

The first wicket fell in the sixth over when Lisa Mackenzie was placed in to bowl and it was nicely caught by Paech.

Mackenzie bowled out her four overs for an impressive 1/2.

Lucy Schreiber also showed off her talent with an impressive 2/3, with a spectacular catch and bowl off her own bowling.

Special shout outs went to Dani Brown with a tidy 0/0 off her bowling and wicket keeper Rebecca Hull who got a stumping.

However, it was Skye Warburton who showed her incredible ability, with 2/3 off her overs, resulting in her winning the Falcons Player of the Day.

Marion ended their batting innings at 6/58, providing the Falcons a good target.

Opening the batting for the Falcons was Emily Roberts and Captain Hull, who was dismissed for seven after eight balls.

That's when Brown came out and created a match-winning partnership with Roberts.

Brown made 12* off 26 balls, while Roberts made 26* off 24 balls, reaching the target in the 14th over.

The Falcons will play their next game against Woodville South at Ledger Reserve on Sunday, March 2 at 1pm.

Strathalbyn Cricket Club - Stable Snippets

In an unusual set of circumstances last weekend, although the association heat policy was not officially enacted the A Grade fixture was mutually agreed to be abandoned due to the forecast high temperature at Callington.

The lower grade and Saturday morning junior matches proceeded in sweltering temperatures with smoke from the Paris Creek fire passing through the ground at Strathalbyn before thankfully the huge effort by firefighting volunteers got it under control.

A Grade

Abandoned.

B Grade

In very hot and blustery (and at times smoky) conditions at home last Saturday the Stallions were sent into the field after Wistow won the toss.

The bowling was very tight early on with the score 2/31 at the first drinks break after 14 overs.

After 30 overs the Echidnas were 3/124 however Lukins was well set after being given a few lives by the Stallions fielders.

With the home side starting to flounder in the heat the final 10 overs were very productive for the visitors who pushed on strongly to finish at 8/216, a great knock by Lukins to be unbeaten on 112.

Tim Smith was again amongst the wickets with 4/44 while Todd Hillam was exceptional with the new ball with 1/5 from his eight overs.

In reply the Stallions started positively with Lane and Hillam adding 54 for the first wicket with Lane the first to go.

Hillam went 13 runs later before Schofield added 42 with Beerenfels, 50 with Tyler Smith and 35 with Hourigan to have the score at 5/203 after 38 overs.

Seven was then taken from the 39th over leaving seven to win from the final over with Schofield sealing the win with a boundary on the second last delivery.

A great effort by Schofield who pushed through fatigue to get the job done, the win locking in top spot.

Wistow 8/216 (Tim Smith 4/44) def. by Strath 5/220 (S Schofield 72*, J Beerenfels 35, R Lane 35, T Hillam 22, Tyler Smith 19).

C Grade

The C Grade team headed up to the Wistow Hill last Saturday needing to win to keep their finals hopes alive.

After being asked to bowl first an early run out had the home side at 1/4 after four overs.

A good partnership followed, broken by Humphrys for his 150th club wicket and it was 2/81 after 25 overs.

When Halling dismissed the danger man in Travis Lynn for 70 it was 3/9, the Stallions then doing a good job to restrict the Echidnas to 5/136, Halling with 2/18 from his seven overs.

In reply Gane and Brook added 32 for the first wicket before Brook combined with Hanley to add 56 with the score 2/88 after 21 overs.

A fine knock of 69 not out from Hanley guiding the Stallions home in the 31st over for an important win.

A shout out to Cully Berden, Jerry Halling, Elisha Thiele and Braden Gane who all backed up from morning junior cricket to help with our numbers, with Elisha and Braden having already completed 40 overs in the heat in the U14s. Thanks lads!

Wistow 5/136 (J Halling 2/18, C Humphrys 1/25) def. by Strath 5/137 (C Hanley 69*, N. Brook 38).

U16

It's been a tough assignment for the U16s over the past month taking on the two top teams while also being a little under manned.

Last Saturday the lads headed up to Cherry Gardens looking to chase down the 8/209 that was posted by the home side on day one.

Matthews went early however skipper Wheaton, and his deputy Halling steadied the innings with a valuable partnership with both retiring not out.

When Ballantyne went it was 3/121, with the run rate needing to be accelerated but with plenty of batting still to come.

A couple of handy cameos from Williamson with 24 (14), Walsh 21 (18) and Berden 12 (6) drew the Stallions within reach of the target but ultimately, they fell short by 17 runs in a great effort. Wheaton with 53 was the best with the bat.

SCIB/Aldgate 8/209 (B Greaves 2/17, L Ballantyne 2/35) def. Strath 8/192 (A Wheaton 53 rno, J Halling 24*, J Williamson 24, S Walsh 21, C Eldridge 16).

U14

A very challenging two days for the young Stallions at Balhannah over the past round after being bundled out for just 41 on day one and then bowling for the remaining 65 overs of the match.

To the lads' credit they stuck the game out and while it was very hot last Saturday, they still managed to take eight wickets and keep the voice and encouragement up.

It's not often you see an individual player bowl 10 overs in an innings of U14 cricket but Tyrian Cousins kept charging in all day to finish with 3/44 from 10 overs.

Elisha Thiele also finished with the outstanding figures of 1/10 from nine overs.

Smith, Hart, Jenkins, Parsons and Horsnell all picked up a wicket each.

Well done boys, we are very proud of your efforts to fight the game out right to the end.

Strath 41 (H Burgess 11, R Fox-Curnow 10) def. by Onkaparinga 9/330 (T Cousins 3/44, E Thiele 1/9, C Parsons 1/21, J Smith 1/28, R Hart

1/26, H Jenkins 1/37, B Horsnell 1/44).

U12 FILLIES

Match postponed

U12 BOYS

Last Thursday evening the U12s hosted Wistow on the Strath turf for a match brought forward from Friday night.

Henry Turnbull was captain and won the toss and elected to bowl first (a tactic that seems to have crept into the modern game).

Matt Hissey grabbed the first wicket with a genuine caught behind in combination with Tyrian Cousins who kept wicket well for the first 10 overs.

Charlie Sherriff and Kodi Johnson both bowled well before Cousins picked up two wickets in one over (both bowled) when he came back into bowl after keeping, Wistow finishing up on 83.

On the back of a nine-hour (and seemingly effective) net session the previous Saturday, Connor Parsons and Cousins opened the batting and both retired not out.

Turnbull batted third and batted very well, running between the wickets perfectly and retired not out, with Kayden and Matt both hitting a few nice shots.

Cousins and Parsons returned later in the innings and sealed the win, Tyrian finished on 44* and Connor 19*.

Thanks to Connor and Charlie Sherriff and James Choat from the U10s who all fitted in really well and were greatly appreciated by everyone.

U10

A real mixed bag for our U10's over the last two weeks with some good performances across both the red and white sides.

The White side played out a good win over Wistow Gold in round 10 with Connor Sherriff brilliant with 39 and Maddelyn Tonkin from the Fillies making 10 and being outstanding in the field. Izabella and Asher took two wickets each.

White got up 129 to 86.

The Reds were up against a young Meadows Gold side and come away with a good win.

Meadows batted well to not to lose a wicket for their innings, Wolf top scoring with 32 and Dayne 26.

Round 11 saw Strath White travel to Echunga and we bowled first after winning the flip.

The kids really struggled for consistent line and length and Echunga batted well to post 2/87.

In reply our kids battled hard but couldn't get any ascendancy in their innings, losing wickets regularly to eventually tie the scores on 7/87.

Dayne scored 22 and Connor with 11 backed up with two wickets.

Echunga were much better in the field taking the points.

Final score Echunga/Maccy 2/115 def Strath White 7/95 by 20 runs.

The Reds travelled to Langhorne Creek and bowled first with the Creek posting 7/109.

Wolf took four wickets and singles went to James, Jack and Erica who joined in from the Fillies.

While batting the Reds also lost wickets steadily throughout with some late runs by Wolf (20) and Liam (11) bumping the tally up to 10/60. Langhorne creek taking the win by 49 runs.

Next week our season closes with home matches against Wistow Gold and Mount Barker.

WOOLWORTHS CRICKET BLAST

Last week our Term 1 Cricket Blast program got underway at EFS R-6 campus after being delayed a week due to the hot weather the previous week.

It was great to have a healthy number of kids participate in the first session, and we look forward to delivering the remaining five weeks of the program.

Heat out fizzles final tennis round

The hot winds that blew through last Saturday put paid to any tennis being played, resulting in a heat out for the last minor round.

The resultant sharing of points led to no ladder movement at all, and was somewhat of a hollow finish to the season.

Eight teams over the four adult divisions have seen their seasons come to an end, leaving 16 remaining to contest finals.

Turning to week one of finals, and the only week where home court advantage will be available to the first and third ranked teams.

Division 1 between Inman Valley and Back Valley will see the winner straight through to the grand final.

They've only played each other twice in the season with Inman having the superior record though, both times, neither side was at full strength.

Each team are likely to play with three men, with Inman's Darren Lush and Back Valley's Craig Littlely's single to be entertaining.

If Back Valley can snare the men's double, they'll be well on their way to causing an upset, but Inman are determined to go one better this season and should win.

Victor Harbor play Port Elliot with the loser finished for the season.

Port Elliot have timed their run perfectly to sneak into the top four, while Victor have shown their best can beat anyone on their day.

Victor leads, 2-1, in the head-to-head count with the most recent meeting, resulting in a six-rubber whitewash to Victor.

The anticipated Danika Millard/

Zara Bowles singles will be worth a visit to watch, but if both teams are at full strength, Victor should comfortably beat Port Elliot.

A Doubles has the quirk of all four teams in the competition, playing finals with Inman Valley playing Back Valley for a spot in the grand final.

Inman has led the competition all season, losing only one match (against Back Valley).

Inman also have some injury concerns that may not see them at full strength.

Back Valley's Chris Horwood's composure and Tim Milne's big serving ability will be crucial, while the consistency of Inman's Evan Denning and Erica Nicholls will be vital.

If there's an upset, this could be it, but Inman will sneak through.

Port Elliot battle Victor Harbor in the cut throat semi.

Elliot narrowly missed out on second spot and have lost to top side Inman by a single game twice, so their best is more than enough.

Victor have been regularly playing with six players, but could be without Tony Juergens who otherwise adds variety with his left arm spin.

Elliot leads the head-to-head, 3-1, but their last meeting was won on games so it will be a close contest, but if Elliot's at full strength they should win.

Division 2 Inman Valley play Port Elliot for a grand final spot, with Inman having led the pack all season.

Port Elliot have found good form at the end of the season and will have experience on their side.

Their only contest during the season saw Inman winning narrowly on games.

Inman have Chris Threadgold who rises for finals, and his efforts should see Inman advance to the grand final in a thriller.

Semi-Final 2 between Myponga Sellicks Green and the Mount Compass Emu Wrens will be a close contest at Myponga with both teams evenly matched.

There is a one-point difference on the ladder - a one-set difference of sets won over the season and the same win and loss record.

The match of the day will be between the young school aged tyros, Green's Friedrich Hillen and the Wrens' Stirling Down who both have seven singles' victories this season.

The Wrens will be familiar with the Myponga surface, having played and won their match there against Myponga-Sellicks Gold two weeks ago and, with the slightly better form, the Wrens will progress to the second week of finals.

B Doubles Finals has Port Elliot Red playing Victor White for a grand final spot. They played each other three weeks ago with the red team winning on games, but with this time being at Port Elliot and having the better overall record, they should win comfortably.

Port Elliot Black will play Back Valley in the sudden death semi-final.

The Black team are in very good form, defeating their club counterparts, the Red team in their last outing, and will be confident against Back Valley, who they defeated comfortably in both matches this season.

Back Valley will need to pull off a miracle, but the Port Elliot Black team should be too strong.

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Busy time for Strath ladies

Over the past week, some of the ladies from Strathalbyn have been representing the club at a couple of open days at other clubs in the district, as well as playing at home.

On Wednesday, February 19, 12 ladies played a stableford competition off the blue (men's) tees.

This provided some very interesting shots from tee blocks that were different to the usual ones.

Jo Pickhaver won the day with 38 points, with Mandi Vardon coming in as runner-up with 33.

Marie Kingsbury had 32, with Cara Eastwood and Jo Cullen both finishing with 31.

Jenny Drury and Dawne Thomas scored 29 each, and Carol Pelle had 28.

Pauline Walkom, 27, Tonya Merritt, 27, Sue Pryor, 23, and Maureen Need, 22, completed the field.

Nearest the pin winner was Dawne with a very good second shot from the men's eighth tee, and Jo P had a birdie on the 15th.

Other stories from the day included that Pauline had so many putts that sat on the edge or ran around the cup, and Dawne drowned a ball in the middle of the dam.

Sue Pryor didn't like that we were playing from the blue tees, as she was nearly hit twice.

Once she didn't hear the call from the third tee, and the other time when on the seventh/16th, she had not cleared the landing zone.

The ladies would like to welcome Gill Keane for her first foray into golfing competitions.

She played nine holes and will be willing to come out again next week.

Also on Wednesday, Ann Semple, Penny Geue, Di Krutli and Kerrie

Edwards played at Victor Harbor.

They had good weather for golf – cool and cloudy – but with that fantastic view from the first tee.

They played 4BBB and they had mid-range scores.

They were still all smiles, especially after enjoying great food and company.

On Monday, February 17, Di Krutli, Kerrie Edwards, Mel Johnson, Jo Cullen, Cara Eastwood, Jo Pickhaver, Ann Semple, Penny Geue and Jenny Drury played at South Lakes in the Women's Open Day.

There were no major prize winners, but seven of them won a ball in the rundown, and Penny won a lucky number draw and came away with a golf club travel bag.

There are more open days to come, and pennant practice is under way.

Winner Jo Pickhaver with runner-up Mandi Vardon.

Noble, Perrin and Condon scramble to victory

By Perry Jones

The heat was on for the Three-Man Scramble held by the Strathalbyn Golf Club last Saturday, when the combination of Graeme Noble, Philip Perrin and Mark Condon won the event.

As the temperature rose to 40 degrees during the day, all nine teams that played on the day, plus two groups including the Nelsons (who didn't hand in a card), started in the morning, most in the early hours.

The winning combination of Noble, Perrin and Condon didn't think their score of a nett 60.83, having 66 off the stick, would be good enough to win the day, but it was thanks to a countback from Michael Young, Sean Walsh and Kirk Richardson who also had 60.83 with 67 off the stick.

The crew of Gordon Robson, Alan Haberfield and Ken Lester looked like they were in the running when they picked up another birdie on the 14th before they had a lapse on the 15th over the creek, as an easy putt was missed by all of them to give them a bogie on the par three - their first bogie for the round.

This crew then scrambled to a par on the 17th as all three tee shots were just over the creek, needing to use Ken's third mandatory tee shot.

Then they were lucky to salvage a par on the par three 17th when Gordon saved the day with a putt going in from off the green.

The last hole and the group had their second bogie for the round to finish third with 71 off the stick for a nett 62.17.

Michael Beasley and Terry Merritt roped in Mick's daughter, Christine, to give them a shot at winning the day, but Christine was very disappointed that despite her long hitting, Mick and Terry couldn't take advantage of this with Terry mentioning that he thought the others would be able to sink the putts, with himself only nailing one for the round, as they had 73 off the stick for a nett 65.83.

The group of Tyson and Ian Furniss and Gavin Perryman were travelling alright most of the time, with Tyson winning the longest drive (19+) on the third hole. They had 41 off the stick on the front nine and had five shots up their sleeves in trying to break the 40 barrier on the last, which they did, finishing with 79 off the stick and a nett 66.5 to finish in seventh place.

Damien Nettle, playing with Brenton and Josh Roberts, mentioned that they were let down by a lot of their approach shots to the green, as they finished in fourth place with 71 off the stick and a nett 63.3.

Damon Mayes, Erik Heyns and Mike Semple, all suffering from a lack of energy, couldn't buy a birdie on the day and had five bogies in their round, most of them on the par three holes, as they finished in eighth position with 77 off the stick and a nett 68.33, a score just good enough not to finish last, that occupied by the ladies' team.
