Pink ladies connect with others

By Tara Nash

Women who have been touched by cancer are assured they are not alone, as a local support group has been connecting locals with shared experiences.

Strathalbyn Pink Plus Cancer Support Group members lean on each other through treatment, trials, and for support.

Member Leslie Brewer finds it "heart-wrenching" that breast cancer affects young women now, saying "children shouldn't be without their mother".

"Whatever we can put in – just talking to one another – could help the next generation," she said.

"You don't have to be on your own – there's someone out there you can talk to.

"I love the ladies and love the friendship."

At a recent morning tea for Breast Cancer Awareness Month at the Woodchester property Dalveen, the women viewed the garden of farmers Tania and John Richardson, and told The Southern Argus the difference their friendships have made to their lives.

Having 'Pink Plus', in their name represents including women who have been affected by all types of cancer.

Jenny Forrest and Jan Harrison mingling with others at a Breast Cancer Awareness Month morning tea at Dalveen on October 30.

The group was initiated by McGrath Foundation nurses, and started with eight members that has now grown to 25.

They have meetings and sometimes hear from nurses or speakers at the Country Women's Association rooms, at 15 Sunter Street, Strathalbyn, from 10am to noon, on the second Tuesday of each month, with a break over Christmas.

They also have a walking group on Monday and Friday mornings.

Heysen Boulevard crossing complete

A much-needed new rail level crossing on Heysen Boulevard has been completed, providing improved connectivity and safer travel solutions in Mount Barker.

The $5 million project – announced during the State Government's Country Cabinet in August 2023 – connects a crucial section of Heysen Boulevard, giving residents better transport options and easier access to local shops and other amenities.

The works include completion of the road and pedestrian paths, together with realignment of the existing Steam Ranger rail line and installation of new signalling, lighting and landscaping.

The level crossing closes a gap in the Boulevard between the Bluestone and Minters Fields estates, and opens a critical part of the route, which is reliant on developer funding to construct the connector road.

Member for Kavel Dan Cregan said the community had long been waiting for a connection of the east and west sections of Heysen Boulevard.

"These works will benefit thousands of residents in the southern development areas of Mount Barker," he said.

"The new level crossing opens up an important thoroughfare and will serve as a platform for further progress along the increasingly popular route."

The State Government and Mount Barker District Council have jointly co-funded the works, which will help kickstart further construction for the remainder of the connector road.

Heysen Boulevard will eventually run through the entire 1300 hectares of the growth area in Mount Barker following a rezoning in 2010.

Mount Barker District Council Mayor David Leach said council was thrilled with the completion and opening of the level crossing on this section of the Heysen Boulevard connector road.

"Council views the investment of up to $2.5 million for the construction of the new rail level crossing on Heysen Boulevard, in partnership with the State Government, as vital for community safety and social well-being," he said.

"As our district continues to grow, council looks forward to further partnerships with State and Federal Governments, with the knowledge that collaboration on infrastructure projects ensures we build a truly liveable community, integral to the region and South Australia's future prosperity."

Hundreds owed Medicare payments are urged to update banking details

By Giorgina McKay

Almost 800 residents in the Mount Barker area are being urged to complete one simple, outstanding action to claim hundreds of thousands worth of Medicare repayments – update their bank account details.

Under the national Medicare scheme, Australians are provided with free or subsidised health services.

However, due to people failing to provide their most current bank account details, in South Australia alone, about $19 million is sitting in the government's bank accounts.

The Mount Barker region has the highest number of people of any town in any South Australian electorate who are owed payments with 759 residents recorded in the 5251 postcode.

Minister for the National Disability Insurance Scheme and Government Services Bill Shorten pleaded with Mayo residents while at Mount Barker's Services Australia last Thursday to go to the MyGov website or phone app, link their Medicare card to their account, and ensure their bank details are up-to-date.

"If finding treasure was this easy, we'd all be treasure hunters," he said.

"(Medicare) is there to help people defray the costs of the health system, and what we find is there's $241 million which people can legitimately claim – just tell us your bank account details then we will pay you.

"For some people I think the average that is owed is about $262, which is great, but there's thousands of people who are owed tens of thousands of dollars, so my plea is go online to myGov, download the myGov app, link up the Medicare card, make sure you've got your bank details are up-to-date, then if you are owed money, in three days it's in your account."

The payments are non-inflationary and have no due date to be claimed.

The government has already reunited $117 million with Australians who had outstanding payments since last year.

However, people are warned to be wary of scammers who may prey on this opportunity.

Payments can only be claimed by visiting the MyGov website or app – the government will not send a link by any means of telecommunications.

Step-by-step instructions can be found by visiting (servicesaustralia.gov.au/getmedicarebenefits).

Former Labor leader stops by Mount Barker Community Centre

By Giorgina McKay

Former Labor leader Bill Shorten heard from Mayo residents about important local issues during a visit to the electorate last Thursday.

The Minister for the National Disability Insurance Scheme and Government Services stopped by Mount Barker's Services Australia to announce hundreds of residents needed to update their bank account details to claim awaiting Medicare payments, before heading to the Mount Barker Community Centre to see the work they do and speak with the centre's management, volunteers, and group members.

The visit was organised by Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie.

"I think it's important for our community to have the opportunity hear from and meet members of government," she told The Argus.

"Over the years I have had the former Minister for Aged Care Ken Wyatt attend an aged care forum and former Minister for Veterans Affairs attend a veteran's forum.

"I was delighted Minister Shorten accepted the invitation to hear directly from members of our community."

At the community centre, people shared their disability and carer experiences, and asked questions of the minister.

The highlights of the visit for Mr Shorten was connecting and speaking directly to those in the community directly involved with matters relating to the NDIS, and catching up with Ms Sharkie.

"(Mayo is) a great part of the world and it's always great to catch up with Rebekha Sharkie," he said.

"Even though we are not members of the same party, I have tremendous respect for her and the work she does with her office for their communities.

"Mayo is in safe hands being represented by the wonderful Rebekha Sharkie."

Ms Sharkie said it was a privilege to host Mr Shorten in her electorate and many in the community benefited from his visit.

"I felt the Minister took on board many of the concerns raised with empathy and honesty," she said.

"I have great respect for the Minister.

"If we have an issue raised with us by a constituent, my office is assisted in a timely and helpful manner."

Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie was glad to have former Labor leader Bill Shorten visit her electorate.

'Needed' town facilities planned for Milnes Road development

By Giorgina McKay

A one-on-one basketball training facility and an allied health service have been revealed to be in the plans for the ongoing Milnes Road development.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, a modern commercial precinct boasting local employment and multiple tenancy opportunities has been in the works at the former Strathalbyn Harnessing Racing Club headquarters.

New development applications have recently been opened for public consultation for the ongoing development for conversion of building 4, tenancy 1 – which is currently approved for warehouse use – to an indoor recreation centre with associated on-site parking, and change of use to building 5, tenancy 1 – which is currently approved for warehouse use – to consulting rooms, including associated fit-out.

Developer Richard Shoemsmith told The Argus the indoor recreation centre will be a coaching centre/one-on-one training facility, which will be “quite important for the town” and “fill a need” not currently here.

This is a fact that is well-known by the Strathalbyn and District Basketball Association.

The association has been fighting for more basketball facilities in the growing town, particularly at Lot 10, Langhorne Creek Road.

Committee member Chris Clark, who has been an outspoken advocate on the issue, welcomed any additional facilities in Strathalbyn.

“Anything that brings people to the sport, we’re very happy with that,” he said.

“While this one we don’t have any direct involvement, it would maybe assist our players and community.

“It is a private enterprise, so if we utilise it there would be a hire fee, but we are limited to where we can play basketball and that could be a good training facility maybe once we get a few more details.”

Meanwhile, the consulting rooms will be for an allied health service helping train pensioners and people that need specific help with movement.

Both operations will be run by local people who are expanding their business.

“We’re getting a lot of that first-time business people and start-up sort of stuff, where they can’t find anything at a reasonable price or right size to go,” Mr Shoemsmith said.

“None of the changes (in the development) are particularly different from what was there originally.”

Buildings 6 to 9 are currently proposed for use as warehouse/service trade premises.

Tyndale leaders prepped and ready for end-of-year exams

By Giorgina McKay

Tyndale Christian School’s student leaders Mia and Shana say taking care of your health should be the first priority for those completing their end-of-year exams from this week.

The main exam period began on Monday for more than 12,500 secondary students enrolled in examined Stage 2 SACE subjects as part of their South Australian Certificate of Education (SACE) qualification, rounding up next Friday, November 15.

Tyndale Christian School Strathalbyn year 12 students Mia and Shana have been preparing ahead of this week for their exams – the former for general maths and nutrition, and the latter for nutrition, biology and maths methods.

Both have found practice questions and revising over past exams to be the most useful.

“I was doing flash cards, which helped to revise all the content,” Shana said.

“Then I’m hoping to go through them a couple more times.

“Practice questions are really helpful, and the revision guides give you lots of exam questions from past exams which are good to look at.”

Mia has also been remembering to highlight difficult questions to go back over later.

“I initially started with going over my textbook content and taking out key ideas, and actively recalling what I was meant to know,” she said.

“Then I’ve been doing practice questions and exams to solidify my knowledge.

“Then obviously, highlighting the questions I struggled with and going back over that content.

“Doing practice exams and all that makes me feel a bit better about them.”

Surprisingly, both feel most confident in their maths exam.

That’s because for Shana, it’s “less scientific”.

“For biology and nutrition, you have to use your words a lot to describe stuff and I find that difficult sometimes, but maths is a lot of numbers and it just clicks in my brain,” she said.

Mia has applied to study speech pathology at Flinders University, with her back-up preferences being occupational therapy or counselling, while Shana wants to pursue paramedicine at university.

However, both were open to other options.

Ahead of the exams, Shana told her peers to make sure they are getting enough sleep and taking care of their health, so they are mentally prepared on the day.

Mia’s parting advice for the year 11 students who will be in their place next year was to use their time wisely and start revising early.

What a ride for Strathalbyn's rodeo

By Deirdre Graham

Saturday's Strathalbyn Rodeo has been deemed an "absolutely fantastic" event, with 4000 people flocking to the Langhorne Creek Road grounds for a day of 'rocking and riding'.

The rodeo debuted last year, and organisers of the 2024 festival said they had taken on board the message of "more" from the previous event.

President of the Lower Lakes Stockman's Challenge and Bush Festival Kathy Angel said Saturday went smoothly, and was again well-received by attendees.

Tickets were sold out two weeks beforehand, with many scrambling for some via social media at the last minute.

"The message from our first year was more – more toilets, bigger bar, more drink tickets, more food vans and more seating – I think it equated to some pretty good experiences," Ms Angel said.

"It just went off really well.

"It had a lovely, festive feel all day, and was really well-patronised."

Highlights included a hobby bull ride, and blind barrel racer Megan McLoughlin, who took part in the barrel race.

"The hobby bull ride was just a lot of fun," Ms Angel said.

"Three people came out of the crowd and had to ride a hobby bull – a toy bull's head with a stick on it – and they had to show us their best bucking moves.

"It was hysterical, and so well-received.

"Megan came up from Tanunda and that was just amazing to see and to be able to support her.

"With permission, she has support, with a couple of people blowing whistles, so when she gets to a drum, she can roughly work out to turn, and they blow a whistle after the last drum to show her where the gate is out."

Chloe Wright, April Gingell and Molly Wright at Saturday's rodeo.

Some were bucking right out the gate.

Megan's daughter also competed in the junior barrel race and was gifted $200 from a sponsor to put towards her riding career.

Other entertainment was also on show, including busker Malachi Frost and local band Motel Music, while Zac Taylor was offering helicopter rides.

Competitors and crowd members travelled from as far as Broken Hill, Blayney, near Melbourne, and across South Australia.

"For those that were new to rodeo, they certainly got a dusting," Ms Angel said.

"It was dry, thanks to the weather, but we tried to add a bit of bush festival to it, which was fun."

Ms Angel thanked local community groups the Lions, who catered for the event, and Rotary, who took charge of the car parking.

The event will also support the Royal Flying Doctor Service.

Spooktacular turn-out for Halloween celebrations

By Deirdre Graham

Such was the success of a Halloween event in Callington last Thursday that organisers are planning for a 'Calloween' festival on the town oval next year.

The Halloween walk in the town has been an attraction for about five to six years, with a disco also held in the past.

Organiser Lauren Salter said last week's fun was "incredible".

"It is getting bigger and bigger," she said.

"I don't even know how many people we had, but there would have been at least a couple of hundred.

"The whole Callington community came together and created something really special, and the memories these kids are going to take away from the night will be life-long."

Mrs Salter said the smiles on the faces of the 'terrific' kids taking part was reward enough for the adults helping out.

"There were 15 houses featured," she said.

"Some really got into it, and we had one house in particular, Donna's, (that) was incredibly decorated with a little haunted walk in her front garden.

"We had a couple of scare actors roaming and we also had some dry ice in the river, which added a bit of a spooky effect."

Mrs Salter is now keen to stage a "Calloween" event on the town oval, similar to a village fair.

"Basically, we will create a village on the oval so people can walk to each village space," she explained.

"We are going to have static displays, animatronics, and then stalls and (things like) carved pumpkins, best costume, apple bobbing... all the traditional Halloween stuff that we grew up with."

All Mrs Salter wants from the event is to create memories.

"There is no monetary gain in it," she said.

"It is just watching these children enjoy themselves, have a good time, and have really great memories.

"Kids these days are overrun with internet and negativity... so I just want to create events that make them happy.

"They know it is going to happen every year, so they look forward to it."

A committee will soon be formed and will start planning for 'Calloween' in July next year.

Meanwhile in Strathalbyn, local kids descended through the streets, particularly popular around the loop of Hooper Road, Strathmont Drive and Parker Avenue.

Bikers rev in to Macclesfield for annual Lions fundraiser

By Deirdre Graham

Thousands of motorbike riders descended on Macclesfield on Sunday for the annual Battunga Country Lions Bike Show.

Bike Show Chairman Fred Keal said the event was again blessed with fine weather.

"I am only estimating, but I would think we had somewhere around 2000 visitors," he said.

"It was very well-supported.

"We didn't have as many as last year, but that was understandable – there were a number of factors there.

"We increased the gate price a little, which is unfortunately the pressure of economics, and also a number of people, if they have been to the show a few times, might think they have seen it all.

"So, we are looking at adding a few features to freshen up the show for next year."

Awards were given for best American bike, best British bike, best Japanese bike, best German bike, best Italian, and best other bike.

The crowd was well-behaved, with little things tweaked from last year, such as increasing the amount of catering, to help make the event a success.

"It is difficult times for everybody – spending money and going out for the day – so we were happy to have the turn-out we had," Mr Keal said.

"We had a lot of people roll in from the city."

Those attending were treated to live music from Dead Set, Sophisticated Bogans, and Llama.

Money raised by the Lions on the day will go towards the organisation's many charities, supporting causes such as haemophilia, children's cancer, Angel Flight Australia, and Medecins Sans Frontieres (MSF).

Car fire causes hundreds of thousands in damage

A car fire at Hindmarsh Island in the early hours of last Thursday morning caused an estimated $135,000 in damage.

At about 3.30am, eight Country Fire Service (CFS) firefighters on two trucks, with the assistance of SA Police and SA Ambulance, were called to an Arcadia Avenue property following reports of a fire in a vehicle stored under a carport attached to the home.

Upon arrival, the car fire was rapidly spreading to the carport, but a quick CFS response allowed firefighters to assume control of the blaze, and to limit damage to the carport, effectively saving the rest of the house that shared the same roof structure.

The damage to the impacted assets is estimated at $135,000.

Fire investigators attended the scene later that day, but the cause is yet to be identified.

The property occupants were assessed by SA Ambulance on site and no injuries have been reported.

Eight Country Fire Service firefighters on two trucks were at a car fire at Hindmarsh Island in the early hours of last Thursday morning.

Freak accident at Mt Compass

A child is in a stable condition after a fall at Mount Compass last Wednesday.

Around 3.30pm on October 30, it is understood the girl was being pushed in a pram at Mount Compass oval when the accident happened.

Specialist emergency crews raced to the scene and worked on the child before she was airlifted to Adelaide.

Van and truck collide at Murray Bridge

A local man sustained serious injuries after his van collided with a truck at Murray Bridge North in the early hours of last Wednesday morning.

At about 2.15 am on October 30, police and emergency services were called to Mannum Road, near Reedy Creek Road, after a Hyundai van collided with the side of a B-triple road train.

The driver of the van, a 60-year-old local man, sustained serious injuries in the crash and was airlifted to Adelaide for treatment.

The truck driver was uninjured.

Drivers urged to do in SA's risky roads

RAA's Risky Roads survey is now open for drivers to nominate dangerous roads or intersections, with the results to be used by the state's peak motoring body to advocate for safety upgrades.

Risky Roads is SA's most comprehensive state-wide survey of road users aimed at identifying unsafe roads or intersections, with the results then used by RAA's traffic experts to make recommendations to road authorities and the State Government.

Of the 20 most-nominated roads in the latest survey in 2021, 19 have had at least some upgrades completed, announced or a planning study commenced, including the Victor Harbor Road/Hindmarsh Tiers Road intersection, underscoring the potential impact of the community's feedback to RAA.

A recent RAA poll of motorists found 73 per cent say they regularly drive on a road that makes them feel unsafe, with the most common safety concerns being related to road surface, dangerous road users and poor road layout.

"Our Risky Roads survey is the biggest piece of community research we undertake every few years to inform our infrastructure priorities that we present to government and road authorities on a regular basis," RAA Senior Traffic Engineer, Matt Vertudaches, said.

"Nominations can be made by all South Australians for a range of issues, from poorly maintained road surfaces through to dangerous road user behaviour or unsafe intersection design.

"The local knowledge that drivers have about the roads and intersections they travel on every day is invaluable, and helps us identify areas that have an increased risk of serious crashes occurring."

All South Australians can nominate roads or intersections until December 4 at (raa.com.au/riskyroads), as well as provide any feedback on why they find a road or intersection risky.

Mt Barker man arrested over police pursuit

A Mount Barker man was arrested after leading police on a chase through the metropolitan area on Monday.

At about 1.40pm, police allegedly spotted a blue/white motorcycle on Hereford Street at Enfield, which checks revealed its registration had expired and the plates failed to match the bike's description.

The motorcycle then sped off towards the city on Main North Road, travelling south while PolAir was called in to follow the bike.

It drove around the eastern side of the city and headed east on Magill Road, then south on Portrush Road, speeding on to the South Eastern Freeway and heading east before exiting on to Bald Hills Road.

The rider was tracked to his house in Mount Barker where he was arrested.

The 28-year-old man was charged with numerous traffic offences, including engaging in a police pursuit, driving unlicensed, excessive speed, and unlawful possession.

He was bailed to appear in the Mount Barker Magistrates Court on December 11.

Fatal crash at Wattle Flat

A Victor Harbor man has been charged after his truck collided with multiple vehicles at Wattle Flat on Monday, killing two women.

At about 12.15pm, police and emergency services were called to Main South Road after a truck and trailer collided with three vehicles – a black Ford sedan, a silver Ford sedan and a white ute.

Sadly, two women, who were rear passengers in the silver Ford, both died of their injuries – one at the scene at the scene and the second in hospital.

The deaths are the 74th and 75th lives lost on South Australian roads so far this year.

Seven other people were injured in the crash – some of them critically.

The silver Ford driver, a 43-year-old man, was taken to hospital in a critical condition, while his 14-year-old male passenger also went to hospital with minor injuries.

The ute driver, a 48-year-old Hay Flat man, was taken to hospital in a serious condition.

The black Ford driver, a 38-year-old woman, and her two passengers, a 45-year-old man and a 10-year-old girl, were all taken to hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

The truck driver, a 35-year-old Victor Harbor man, was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

He was later arrested by Major Crash investigators and charged with two counts of causing death by dangerous driving, two counts of causing serious harm by dangerous driving, and four counts of causing harm by dangerous driving.

The man was granted police bail to appear in Christies Beach Magistrates Court on December 23.

Anyone who witnessed the crash or has any dashcam footage that may assist the investigation is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or online at (www.crimestopperssa.com.au).

Local drivers reported at Murray Bridge

Two local drivers will front court for traffic offences committed at Murray Bridge over the last week.

On Friday, a 24-year-old Murray Bridge man was stopped on Old Swanport Road, where police checks revealed his car was unregistered and he was disqualified from driving.

He was reported and his vehicle impounded for 28 days.

On Monday Murray Bridge police observed a vehicle driving erratically on Agricultural Drive, and the driver perform a sustained wheel spin.

Police reported the driver, a 21-year-old Murray Bridge man, and impounded his vehicle for 28 days.

Both will appear in court at a later date.

Strathalbyn Art showcase

Noel Paech

Strath is an ideal town for artists. The old gasworks once had a very good artist in residence. The Railway Station has maintained a very good spot for art, but it is just a little too small. Eventually, a place could be found of suitable character and size to hold exhibitions etc and perhaps have sufficient space for artists to work in.

Schools in Brief

Eastern Fleurieu R-12 School

Eastern Fleurieu year 9 students attended a camp as part of The Rite Journey Program at the end of last term.

It was a camp that challenged them both mentally and physically, but also one that helped them grow in unexpected ways. Students had incredible experiences on the river at Murraylands Aquatic Centre, including knee boarding, kayaking, and sailing.

Overall, it was a fantastic way to conclude the term, showcasing the growth and determination of the students as they tackled challenges along the way.

Goolwa Secondary College

Goolwa Secondary College's Operation Flinders team recently embarked on their outback adventure.

All the girls have worked hard in co-ordinating car washes at school, a community BBQ at Kies Home Timber and Hardware on a rainy Saturday, collecting entrance fees at the Goolwa Oval for the Goolwa Netball Club finals, and also hosting the annual Quiz Night to fundraise for the trip throughout the year.

Tyndale Christian School

Tiny Tyndalian Playgroup returned this week with a new look Nature Play programme.

It was a beautiful morning of connection for caregivers and their children.

Movie making at the movies

By Deirdre Graham

A small team of movie makers descended on Wallis Cinemas at Mount Barker recently to film a scene for the short film Little Kindness.

Little Kindness was created as an entry in the Adelaide 48-Hour Film Project by the team 'Often Running'.

The 48-Hour Film Project challenges film makers to create a short film in just 48 hours in a global event that happens in more than 150 cities across the world.

It all begins at a Friday night kick-off event where teams in each city draw genres out of a hat and receive the required elements for each film.

The teams then have 48 hours to write, shoot, edit, and do whatever it takes to submit the completed short film by the Sunday night.

Team leader for Little Kindness Rick Clise said the challenge was "a lot of fun".

"Each team is given three required elements that they have to incorporate in their script," he said.

"One is a character name and this year the character was Ashley Green – dog catcher, while the required prop was an ice cube and the required line of dialogue was 'this, my friend, is my favourite part'.

"Each team also draws two genres out of a hat, and they can use one or both genres in their script.

"The genres we drew were sci-fi and road movie, and we decided to go with road movie for our genre."

This year's 48 Hour Film Project is Mr Clise's third, and this time around he is team leader, producer, editor, and also the writer, after the team's designated one had to pull out on the Friday evening.

"The tagline is that a lonely widow is trying to go through her grief and working with a third party who is the dog catcher, who is supporting her, but it comes as a cost," Mr Clise said.

The scene shot at Wallis Cinemas last month was the start of the movie, featuring Karen Williams as 'Mary' and James McCluskey-Garcia as 'Ash Green – dog catcher'.

Also bringing the film to life were a number of other Adelaide Hills creatives, including Gail Morrison as 'Bobby', director and camera operator David Moore, sound recordist Bruce Hall, and boom operator Kevin Cringle and others, making up a team of nine people, with many of the crew also acting as extras.

Little Kindness screened at the Mercury Cinema in Adelaide on Tuesday, with awards such as People's Choice Award, Best Cinematography, Best Editing, Best Audio, Best Script and Best Performances up for grabs.

"Then the best film for the city goes on to a national competition, and the best Australian 48-Hour Film Project goes on to an international competition," Mr Clise said.

"It is a huge amount of fun.

"It is a crazy weekend, sleep-deprived weekend, but it is just a lot of fun, and it is wonderful to be able to put something together in such a short amount of time.

"It is a no budget film, as no-one can be paid or do anything for a fee – it is entirely voluntary."

Mr Clise said the team had "great support" from both Mount Barker Council and Wallis Cinemas who supported the application to film in their jurisdiction.

Tightening the belt

There's no doubt about it, a dollar doesn't stretch as far as it used to.

I have been having this discussion with my daughter Jessica over the past couple of months, as she picks up extra shifts as a nurse to meet all her expenses.

She lives in the outskirts of Melbourne.

It was a lengthy struggle to find somewhere she could live by herself and afford.

She wanted to know what I thought would be the minimum amount of money you would need to earn each week to be able to live comfortably enough to cover basic expenses such as rent, food, transport and utilities, with a bit extra for emergencies in case the car broke down, which it has done before.

We came up with the figure, for Melbourne at least, of about $1000 a week.

There are so many people who don't come close to earning this much money in their weekly pay packet.

Coming up to Christmas this year our support groups across the Hills and Fleurieu are all expecting the lean times for many to transform into an increased demand for Christmas hampers and other support.

This cycle of hardship also impacts on our small businesses.

People are spending less, so businesses in turn have to put prices up to cover the many costs they have to meet each week such as their own rent, electricity bills, insurance, freight costs – the list goes on.

There are some State Government support packages for individuals and families, along with some help for small business – such as Round 2 of the Economic Recovery Fund to support up to 8000 eligible small businesses and not-for-profit organisations with grants between $2500 and $50,000 to invest in energy efficient equipment of other improvements to reduce and manage energy usage.

These are little things that help, but for now, for many, they are not enough.

Buying local has never been so important, so skip the big companies this Christmas and support those for which a dollar has never meant so much.

Compass prepares for an emergency

By Tara Nash

The amount of community interest in a recent emergency preparedness day at Mount Compass exceeded the organisers' expectations.

More than 50 people learned how to prepare for bushfire season and other emergencies during a special event recently held at Mount Compass.

The newly-formed Mount Compass Resilience Group hosted the event which included activities, games, a sausage sizzle, and a lecture by the Country Fire Service (CFS).

Chair Andrew Wilson was "surprised" with the numbers of people who attended the day. "I didn't expect... for us to be that busy with the community coming through," he said.

"It was a good day – we had good feedback."

Mr Wilson credited the day's success to the volunteers – members from the CFS, Red Cross, Mount Compass' Community Shed, Lifestyle Group, and Resilience Group.

The potential future emergencies for the region are "debatable", but bushfires are a current focus, with the local CFS recently responding to three incidents within one week.

"After bushfires, we would be more concerned with a heatwave or a cold snap where we have power failure because – unless people have their own generators – there is no back up power source in Mount Compass," Mr Wilson said.

"None of the facilities we have at the moment have back up power, which is next on our program – to look at how we get that fixed."

While floods are less likely, farmers could get stranded on their properties if it occurred, as Mr Wilson has seen photos of historic floods where Nangkita and Mount Compass were isolated from the other.

Garden Club rolls onto next year

At the Strath Garden Club's October meeting, the guest presenter was Kerry Newsham, assisted by Bill Bullock, from the Glenbarr Organising Committee.

Ms Newsham announced details of the inaugural 'Glenbarr Garden Gala under the Gum Trees', which will be held at Glenbarr on Sunday, March 9, commencing at 9.30am, with a flat rate admission fee of $10.

Trading tables, food stalls, workshops, demonstrations and guest speakers, including SA's own Sophie Thomson will be there on the day.

The Garden Club will be running a plant stall, with members encouraged to start taking cuttings now in readiness.

Two events held during the month were the very successful fundraising effort in aid of St Andrew's restoration at Dalveen, and a most interesting talk on heritage roses by Margaret Furness.

Last week, a Rufus bus full of members went to see the Chihuly Glass Exhibition in the Botanical Gardens and returned home via Oakbank and Karkoo nursery.

Other than the Christmas lunch at the end of November, the club is now in recess until the next meeting on January 24 when guest speaker Mark Rose will be talking on herbs and honey.

That meeting will be at the Strath Neighbourhood Centre as usual at 9.30am for a 10am start.

New members and visitors will be warmly welcomed.

The community is invited to have it says on the proposed lessee for the wharf shed.

Commercial lessee proposed for Wharf Shed

The draft commercial lease for the newly rebuilt Goolwa Wharf Shed is now open for community feedback.

The lease is proposed for a 15-year term with a German bar and restaurant business aspiring to be the 'go-to' destination for local beer enthusiasts, after-work socialisers and German cuisine lovers.

The business will trade seven days a week, providing all-day café/restaurant services, including snacks, drinks and takeaway options.

Council will receive a commercial rent return, and the tenant will pay for the fit-out of the space, and maintenance and service connections for the facility.

The Friends of the Oscar W will move back into the shed shortly to continue to provide community and tourism services.

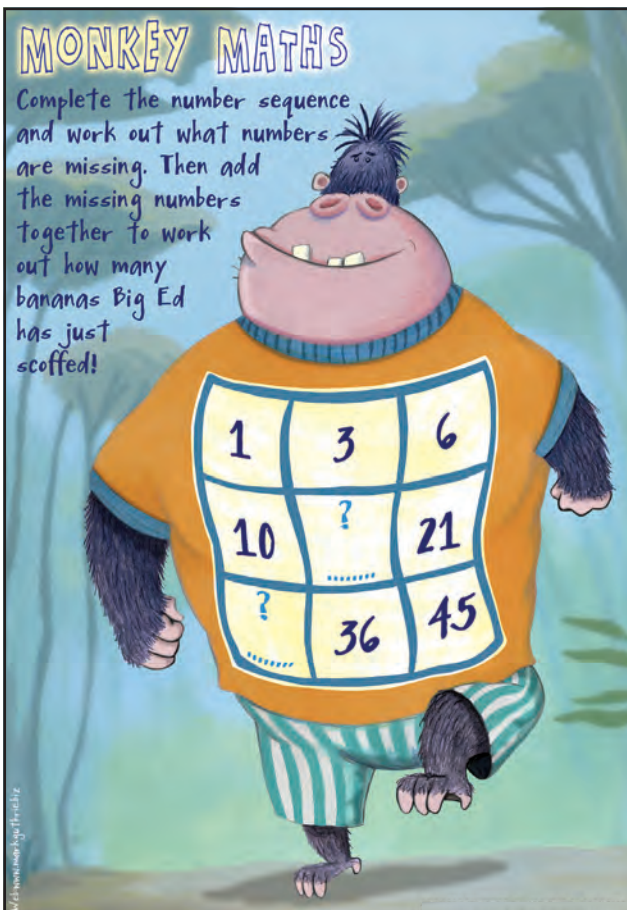

To have your say, either fill out the online survey at (<https://mysay.alexandrina.sa.gov.au/wharf-shed-lease>), send an email submission to (alex@alexandrina.sa.gov.au), mail a submission to CEO, Alexandrina Council, PO Box 21, Goolwa SA, 5124 or complete a hard copy survey at the Strathalbyn or Goolwa office before 5pm on Friday, November 22.

Following an unseasonable flood in the Langhorne Creek area on October 4, the dreaded fungus disease, Downy Mildew, was discovered on October 20 in a large area of vines which had been inundated during the flood and which leaves submerged for several hours. The primary outbreak was undoubtedly the earliest yet recorded in Langhorne Creek and infection took place well before the recognised danger period of 100m of growth on the vines. Growers have been spraying continuously with ground units and in areas still water logged, crop spraying planes are in use.

Teaming up for Shannons Adelaide Rally

By Deirdre Graham

Strathalbyn drivers Steve Coombe and Graeme Nicholson are teaming up to take part in this year's Shannons Adelaide Rally in a Volvo most recently used to promote Gilbert's Motor Museum.

The rally is one of the largest tarmac rally events in the world that is based in Adelaide, with 30 stages across November 8 and 10 in and around the Adelaide Hills.

The Strathalbyn Lunch Stop and Town Stage debuted at last year's rally and was such a hit that this year, on November 10, organisers have scheduled a full rally field through the town streets for two stages, starting on Catherine Street, turning onto Donald Street and Rankine Street before Sunter Street, and crossing the St Andrews Bridge before the stage finish.

Mr Coombe and Mr Nicholson will be taking part in the tour category, with their vehicle holding special significance.

"It is nothing spectacular, but the car itself is significant to me," Mr Coombe said.

"A friend of mine, who we got up to all sorts of high jinks over the years in cars, passed away last year, and it was the last car in his collection of cars.

"I purchased it and I thought as a thing for Roger (Ingerson) we will do the rally this year in the Volvo.

"It is not much of a sports car, although it has been modified slightly - it has a stage one tune, got some wider than usual tyres, and upgraded springs and dampers.

"It is a bit heavier than what I am used to driving in the rally."

Mr Coombe has taken part in the rally since 2016, but the 2024 event will be the first for Mr Nicholson.

"I consider myself to be too old to be too competitive these days, although, the mind is willing but the body is weak," Mr Coombe said.

"I just go in the tour sections, and I thoroughly enjoy it.

"It is a really lovely experience.

"You meet and become friends with people who are regulars in the event, and you get to drive at perhaps less constrained speeds on familiar roads."

The duo have one aim for the rally.

"It is about competing and having the car still running at the end," Mr Coombe said.

"The gentle drive home in an undamaged car, that is always our goal, as it is a long walk home otherwise."

The event will be a chance to promote Gilbert's Motor Museum, with the car already adorned with appropriate sign writing.

"I have had the car done locally by the local signwriter to use as a promotional vehicle for the museum," Mr Coombe said.

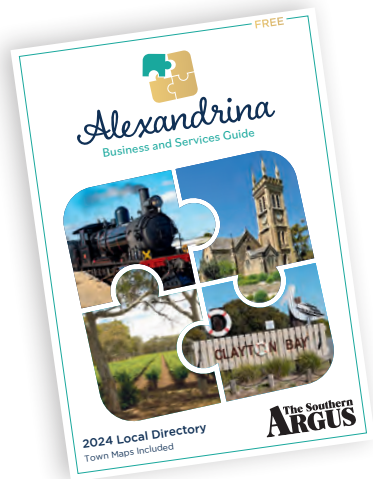

"We have used it a few times during the year for various events, and I thought, with the stickers on it, we could put it in the rally as well."

Other features on the day in Strathalbyn include a formal car show in the Soldiers Memorial Garden, and a 'Cars and Coffee'-style parking area at the Strathalbyn Oval.

Meanwhile, Port Power star Charlie Dixon will bring a 'Drivin' with Dixon' car show, with Dixon and guests Craig and Lara Lowndes set to judge the cars in the 'Show 'n' Shine' event.

The first run of the Strathalbyn Town Stage begins at 10.40am followed on by Macclesfield on Strathalbyn Road at 10.45am.

The field will regroup for stops in Strathalbyn in-between, with the second Strathalbyn Town Stage getting away at 1pm, followed straight after by the second run through Macclesfield.

Scouts reflect at Macclesfield ahead of Remembrance Day

Local scouts stopped to pay their respects to the local service men and women who paid the ultimate sacrifice at a special commemorative service at the Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Garden on Monday night. More than 50 scouts from Strathalbyn, Goolwa, Echunga/Mount Barker, and Prospect Hill gathered for the ceremony led by the Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch ahead of Remembrance Day this Monday and to learn the history and symbolism behind Australia's military service.

After the ceremony, the scouts spent time exploring the garden, then headed to the oval for a barbecue – which proceeds went to the RSL – and some fun and games.

Services to remember those who ‘fought and suffered’

STRATHALBYN

Strathalbyn's annual Remembrance Day service will commence from 10.30am this Monday at the Soldier's Memorial Gardens' cenotaph.

The RSL will be open afterwards.

MILANG

A service to honour the Australian service personnel who have died or suffered at wars, conflicts and peacekeeping operations will be held at the Milang Memorial Gardens at 10.30am this Monday.

Morning tea will be provided at the Institute afterwards along with a sausage sizzle put on by the Men's Shed.

GOOLWA

Goolwa Primary School and Goolwa Secondary College students will once again be involved in the town's Remembrance Day service this Monday.

The “troops will be gathered” at the Goolwa RSL Sub-Branch from 10.30am for the service.

Anyone is welcome to attend.

Refreshments will follow, with the bar open, and tea and coffee available.

MACCLESFIELD

Hundreds of scouts gathered at Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Garden from 6pm on Monday for the first of two Remembrance Day services held by the local RSL.

The community is invited to attend the open commemorative service hosted by the Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch at the Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Garden, starting from 10.45am this Monday.

For more details, contact 0407 395 833 or (macclesfield@rslsa.org.au).

MOUNT COMPASS

Several wreaths will be laid by State and Federal Government dignitaries, and other community groups during Mount Compass' Remembrance Day service this Monday.

Starting at 20 minutes to 11 o'clock at the Mount Compass War Memorial Community Centre, the service will be attended by Mount Compass Area School and the local CFS who will look after the flag, along with a piper and bugler.

Refreshments will be served afterwards.

MOUNT BARKER

People are welcome to join the Mount Barker RSL Sub-Branch this Monday in remembering those who served and paid the ultimate sacrifice.

The service will be held at War Memorial Centenary Park on Mann Street from 1pm.

Strathalbyn Combined Probus Club turns 40

The Strathalbyn Combined Probus Club notched up its 40th year last month with the cutting of a celebratory cake and speeches.

The first Probus club in Australia with only male members was formed in 1976 in Hunters Hill, New South Wales.

On October 31, 1984, the Strathalbyn Probus was formed, with the first President Bill McAnaney elected, along with seven committee members.

The first regular meeting was in November at the Terminus Hotel with 22 members, with the membership fee $6 and morning tea a charge of 30 cents.

Meetings were soon moved to the Strathalbyn Aid Centre.

Over time meetings moved from the Aid Centre to the RSL Hall, Senior Citizens Clubrooms, and the current venue – the Catholic Hall.

The club had a newsletter, initially called The Elixir, that began in December 1984, changing to the present The Maturity Fuse in January 1985.

Editors have included Alan Dennis, Gordon Moore, Doug Lawson, Eric James, Trevor Riches, Graham Warner, Neil Gamble, and current Editor Jan Pinchbeck.

On December 31, 1985, the Probus Club of Strathalbyn was registered with Probus South Pacific, and in February 1986, was issued with a Certificate of Incorporation of an Association.

The membership has remained stable over the years.

At 10 years, it had 36 members, at 20 years 34, 30 years 36 members, and 40 years 39 members.

In July 2019, the Probus Club concluded discussion over months of consultation with its members and admitted ladies for the first time.

Since then ladies have provided committee service as Vice-Presidents, Editor, Public Relations, Welfare and Secretary, and in 2025 will have its first female President.

Current President Rod Ford said the introduction of women had expanded the fellowship and range of interests.

"Our task for the future is to get the word out that Probus is indeed fun and fellowship," he said.

"The interesting topics from the visiting speakers never fails to both educate and entertain the masses."

Life members of the group have included Brian Bishop, John Dawson, and Terry Whittaker.

Probuc month celebrated at 'Sgorra Bhreac'

Ladies' Probuc Club of Strathalbyn members gathered at 'Sgorra Bhreac' – the Strathalbyn garden of Graeme and Cynthia Nicholson – on Monday, October 21, to celebrate Probuc Month.

Before inspecting the lovely, extensive garden, the ladies were treated to a delicious Devonshire morning tea, and learned this was to be the Nicholson's final open garden before they move to their new home elsewhere in Strathalbyn.

Afterwards, some of the ladies adjourned to meet up with others to share an enjoyable lunch at the Victoria Hotel.

Meanwhile, the Ladies' Probuc Club of Strathalbyn met on October 14 when members were informed of the sad passing of Roma Gale at 100 years of age, who had been present at the club's first meeting on November 21, 1991, and had remained a member for many years.

Roma was honoured with a minute's silence.

Three visitors, namely Gail Donaldson, Kaye Billington, and Ann Butler, and 28 members heard Storyteller of the Day Betty Tugwell read two humorous pieces entitled A Cunning Plan and Weight of Years.

Lorna Ferrarese delivered the Member's Chat, mainly speaking about her involvement with the Girl Guide movement.

Honoured for celebrating their birthdays in October were Johanna Jenkins, Di Thorpe, Marg Rogers, and Fay Penniment, and they were each presented with their gift of a traditional, covered coat hanger by Marlene Potts.

Monthly Competition winners were Yvonne Tischer, Aileen Phillips, and Maggie Minchin.

Local historian Brian Simpson was welcomed as guest speaker, who screened many views taken from a hot air balloon over Strathalbyn in the early 2000s, along with pictures of district canoe trees, and views of the township of Strathalbyn during the 1860s.

Brian was thanked by Colleen Jaensch, who presented him with a gift in appreciation.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 11, where the club's 33rd birthday will be celebrated at a luncheon to take place at the Angas Plains Winery.

Probuc Cluster Chairperson Jenni Law will be among the guests attending.

Epic run raises thousands for important cause

By Tara Nash

An epic 80km run from Victor Harbor to Glenelg to fundraise for childhood dementia research will now pass through Mount Compass thanks to a local getting involved.

After recently ticking the Melbourne Marathon off her bucket list, Mount Compass runner Emma Brokenshire is excited for her next challenge that also fundraises for an important cause.

She has a mutual friend with the creator of Run Robby Run, Robby Lippett, who teamed up with Little Heroes Foundation to fundraise for childhood dementia.

The goal is to fundraise $80,000 – which is $1000 for every 1km of the route – and at time of publication was coming close with more than $71,000.

Childhood dementia is a rare neurological condition that affects one in every 2900 children globally.

Similar to adult dementia, symptoms include memory loss, speech difficulties and cognitive confusion.

The condition results from progressive brain damage caused by more than 100 rare genetic conditions and significantly impacts a child's development and overall quality of life.

Currently it has no cure, with half of children with the condition tragically dying by the age of 10 and 75 per cent pass away before their 18th birthday.

Little Heroes Foundation helps fund research aimed at finding a cure at Flinders University.

Awareness of the condition will be spread on December 1, when about a dozen runners will start at Victor Harbor, collecting extra runners at pit stops on the way, including Mount Compass.

"I decided to jump on and do what I love and help make a difference at the same time," Ms Brokenshire said.

"I think we will be taking it pretty slow and steady and promoting as we go along.

"It is not a race – the idea is to be inclusive and get the message out there."

She is calling on other locals to get involved by supporting the crew at the Mount Compass pit stop, whether that be with coffee, help to refuel, or by joining them for the remaining 53km leg of the route.

To donate towards the cause, search for Emma Brokenshire via (runrobbyrun.gofundraise.com.au).

Taking the high road? Gophers face footpath obstacles

By Deirdre Graham

Local gopher riders are being forced to drive on roads in Strathalbyn because of substandard footpaths or a complete lack of them, according to one local user.

Colin Townley has been using a gopher for the past four years and says access issues are a concern for gopher riders, as well as those who use walking frames or wheelchairs in the town.

Mr Townley had a motorcycle accident at 16, and not long after moving to Strathalbyn in 2011 had to use a walking stick to get around.

Then, after a spinal operation about four years ago which eased the pain but affected his balance, he used the stick around home but crutches when outside.

"I so missed walking, so the gopher gave me that independence to feel as if I was walking again," Mr Townley said.

"I can travel up and down the street and I can go to the shop, and I don't need to get the car out, so it has replaced my legs – it is really good."

Mr Townley had praise for the footpaths within the centre of town, but said that outside that area "things can be really horrible".

"Within the township is great – apart from the fact that you can't actually access a lot of the shops because the council has said these are heritage," he said.

"So, I can't go into the butcher and I can't go into Pestka's bakery because they have got steps, and I am in a gopher."

A number of areas have been highlighted where gopher riders have to use roads in the town.

An example was access to the new doctors' surgery and chemist on the west side of town.

"To get over there you cut across the skatepark, you come to the end, and there is no footpath – it is a road," Mr Townley said.

"So, then you have to be on the road for about 40 to 50m, turn left into the new precinct – the chemists and the doctors – there is nothing in between.

"If you are on a walker or a wheelchair, bad luck, that would be really difficult to actually process and move through."

Mr Townley said that was just one example of the need to use roads.

"Sometimes you have to in Strath – there is no other way," he said.

"There are roads around here where the footpaths are shocking, and there is stuff growing over fences and there are pot holes, (so) you don't use the footpath because it is dangerous, so you have to have to go on the road.

"Sometimes I have to go on the road because even though there is a footpath,

Strathalbyn gopher rider Colin Townley is concerned for the safety of fellow riders and others with accessibility problems on footpaths and roads in town. Photo: Deirdre Graham it is in such shocking condition that you would never use it.

"I know my way around Strathalbyn enough to say 'I don't go that way anymore.'"

Crossing South Terrace was another concern for people with accessibility problems.

"When you cross South Terrace, you take your life in your hand because even though they have the koala crossing where you can stop in the middle, if the trucks are barrelling through, you have to stop dead in the middle and make sure your gopher is not sticking out either end," Mr Townley said.

"It will fit just, and then you have to wait for the traffic to come the other way.

"Strathalbyn rush hour – school times in the morning and afternoons – I never go because it is too dangerous."

Mr Townley has approached Alexandrina Council regarding his concerns for disability access but has "basically given up".

"You don't understand accessibility until you have lost it, and that is when you find stuff out constantly," he said.

"Even the public toilets here – the accessible toilets – some of them the doors are so stiff because they are on a tight spring, so you have to push hard to get in.

"In winter they wash the floors and the doors close, so if you go there an hour or two after they have been washed, they are still soaking wet, and if you are on crutches that is deadly.

"Why don't they just prise the door open, leave it so it dries, and someone pops back a few hours later and opens it up?"

"How come the springs are so tight that you have to push on the door with all your might to get in there?"

Though, Mr Townley believed those on walkers or in wheelchairs had even more issues than gopher users.

"It is those people who are on walkers, who tend to be very frail, and those people in wheelchairs that are being pushed along or in electric ones, they are the ones that have way more difficulty than I do with footpaths in Strathalbyn," he said.

"I can bounce over them, whereas they have to actually negotiate them all."

While Mr Townley acknowledged the cost of improving the footpaths he would like to see them made wider, level, and cleared of bushes and hedges growing out onto them.

Alexandrina Council Acting Chief Executive Officer Alan Harvey said council has formal pathways prioritisation guidelines to help prioritise new footpaths and pathways across the region.

"These guidelines are available on our website and they set out considerations for access and mobility needs, and help us determine what are low, medium, or high priority," he said.

"Each year council sets a budget for new footpaths and this set amount, our guidelines, master plan, and the complexity of construction determines what is built and where, and how many footpaths can be built.

"Some footpaths cost more to construct because of where they are, what materials are needed, whether they need stormwater and other considerations."

Last financial year council set aside a budget to construct 1.75km of footpaths.

"Due to community feedback regarding one project along Excelsior Parade on Hindmarsh Island that project was deferred and council constructed 1.2km of new footpaths in 2023/24," Mr Harvey said.

"Council is about to go out for community consultation on our Strategic Plan Review.

"Our pathways prioritisation guidelines form part of our Strategic Asset Management Plan in that review.

"We would encourage the community to give their feedback about pathways through our community consultation process."

St Andrews Church and Milang Railway Museum visit for bikers

By Deirdre Graham

Almost 100 members of the motorcycle group BSA Owners Club of South Australia visited Strathalbyn and Milang on October 26 as part of an annual rally.

The group had morning tea at the Milang Railway Museum and lunch at St Andrews Church.

Club President David Long said members enjoyed learning about the history at both venues, and the restoration campaign at the church, making a small donation to each and purchasing raffle tickets at the church.

The club is based in Adelaide, but has members throughout the state and interstate.

"Once a year we get together and we hold a two-day rally on a Saturday and Sunday" Mr Long said.

"We have people from all over the state participate in that, with runs normally about 120km to 160km in length.

"We contact local service and community groups to do morning teas for us because we like to put money back into the local community."

BSA bikes were a brand produced in Britain from the early 1900s until 1971.

This year's rally was based in Goolwa.

Milang Railway Museum spokesperson Peter Lucas said the museum normally has visits from motorcycle groups up to twice a month.

"Our Devonshire teas were popular, mainly because of the size of the scones, so they went down very well," Mr Lucas said.

"We also started a whole load of engines for them, which they were really interested in.

"These are antique locomotives – some of them 100-years-old – so we started them up with lots of smoke and noise, so that was very popular too."

Meanwhile, Mr Lucas said volunteers at the museum have completed about 80 per cent of the circuit for its train line, with hopes it will be finished by the end of the year.

Members of the BSA Owners Club of South Australia enjoyed learning about St Andrews Church and its restoration venture on Saturday.

Hindmarsh Island code amendment opposed by council

By Giorgina McKay

A “premature” code amendment has failed to gain Alexandrina Council’s support.

Noble Investments Superannuation launched a proposed code amendment with Planning Minister Nick Champion in December last year to rezone Lot 485 Randell Road at Hindmarsh Island from Rural Living to Rural Neighbourhood Zone to facilitate 2000sqm allotments.

Feedback during community consultation, held between July and September, garnered 48 responses – two from utility providers, three from State Government agencies and 43 from community members – the majority in opposition.

Concerns raised included increased traffic, lack of access, bushfire risk, impact on character, avoidance of on-site stormwater treatment and disposal, flood risk, infrastructure provision, and environmental impacts.

While council missed its opportunity to provide its comments as a stakeholder on the amendment during the consultation period, the Designated Entity agreed to give an extension.

In a letter addressed from Alexandrina Mayor Keith Parkes that councillors agreed to submit to Noble Investments Superannuation, council shared the same concerns as the community.

“Council appreciates the increasing pressure to accommodate additional housing opportunities across the Fleurieu region and is working with the state in identifying future growth areas across the South Coast,” the letter read.

“However, in reviewing the proposed code amendment, council believes the proposed rezoning is premature and does not facilitate orderly development.

“In addition, there are opportunities for additional accommodation in existing undeveloped residential zoned areas on Hindmarsh Island.”

Council’s primary areas of concern included:

- Use of the right of way to service the anticipated number of allotments and the ongoing burden for future residents to maintain the ‘private’ roads to service allotments.

- For land divisions creating 10 or more allotments, the SA Country Fire Service will require a second road access for emergency purposes given that the affected area is situated within a high bushfire risk area – this matter has not yet been resolved.

- Any future on-site waste management systems that are poorly managed will place additional environmental impact to the RAMSAR wetlands.

This prompted councillors’ lack of support for the proposed development at last Monday night’s meeting.

“It represents a disjointed development of Hindmarsh Island area,” North Ward councillor, Craig Maidment, said.

“Not to say in future years it could come to fruition, but at this point in time, to have a disjointed number of developments on Hindmarsh Island would be detrimental.”

Upon council’s submission, the Designated Entity will prepare an engagement report, which, together with any amendment instructions, will be forwarded to Mr Champion for decision.

Milang land put forward for revocation

By Giorgina McKay

A Milang land owner plans to maintain and repopulate native vegetation, and repair damaged fencing on an adjoining property if the state’s planning minister approves for its community land classification to be revoked and then sold by Alexandrina Council.

After receiving a request from the adjacent land owner of Lot 4 Landseer Road to purchase and amalgamate it with their existing property, council agreed in June to undertake public consultation on a proposal to revoke the site’s community land classification and dispose of it by sale.

Held from August 22 to September 13, the consultation garnered 14 submissions – half in support and half in opposition – with those against the sale citing it needed to be retained as uncleared land and open space could threaten existing biodiversity.

However, the inquiring landowner Wendy Johnson assured her intent was to maintain the adjacent property in accordance with fire management requirements, manage flora to encourage bird life and native animals, reduce habitat for vermin, manage weeds and replant native species, repair and replace damaged fences, and undertake responsible rotational grazing to control grasses.

At last month’s council meeting, she presented a deputation explaining her plans.

“Our request is to incorporate the land into our existing title and remove the burden with respect to fire load reduction management, weed and pest control,” Ms Johnson said.

“Our intention is to complete all boundary fencing requirements at our cost, and maintain the land in line with the local area.

“The sale of land will offer council revenue and reduce on-ground operation expenditure for maintenance.

“It will also offer the community and users of the Nurragi trail an aesthetically pleasing view.

“Additional native plantings will offer native wildlife habitat further and improve the landscape.

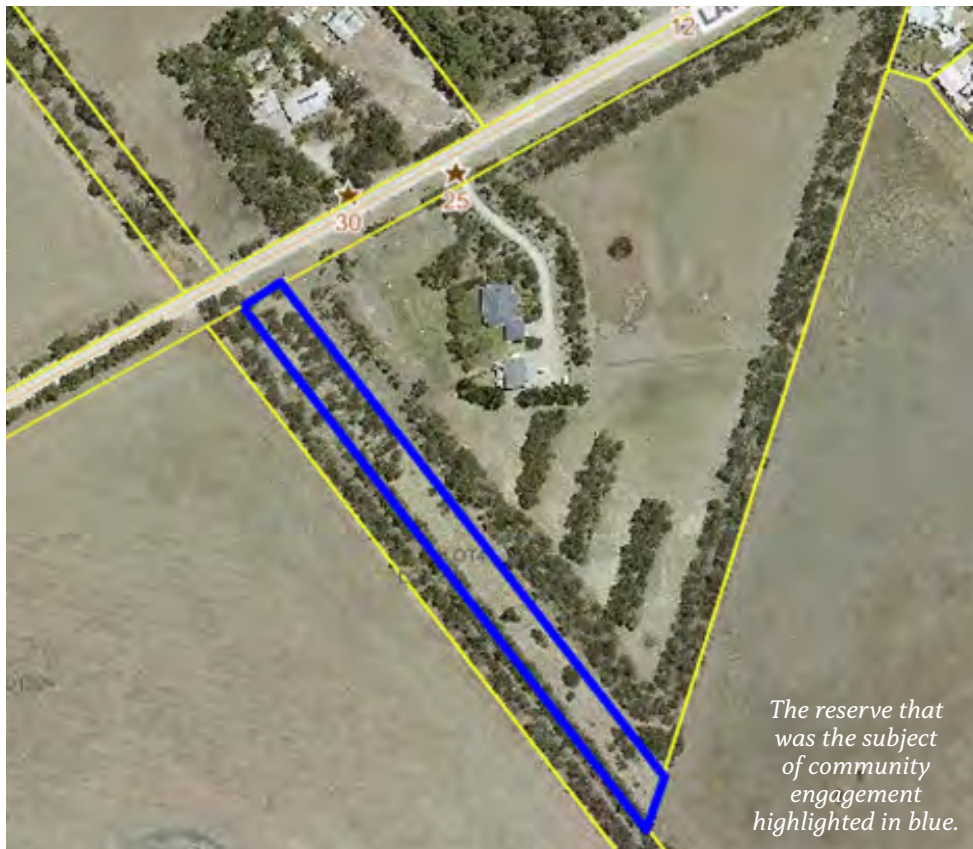

“We do run a few horses for personal pleasure and grass management, but we very much enjoy the rural aspect of the land, and wish to maintain this aspect for residents and visitors.”

At the meeting, councillors supported the revocation and disposal of the land.

The decision will now be presented to Planning Minister Nick Champion for approval.

This will coincide with another revocation of community land classification status at Milang made on the same night.

Aerial imagery shows that ‘Woodrow

The reserve that was the subject of community engagement highlighted in blue.

Woodrow Drive which is in the process of being reclassified as a public road.

Drive’ has existed since at least 1947, transitioning from crown land to a road over time, starting with a casual walking path that was widened by informal vehicle use into an unsealed road that required maintenance to eventually sealed in recognition that it provided a natural access point to the river.

However, as it is technically classified as crown land, Alexandrina Council sought to amend this anomaly and open the land as a road, starting with undertaking public consultation on the proposed change.

Held from August 29 to September 27, the consultation garnered five submissions – four in support and one in opposition of which was irrelevant to the what is being proposed.

At last Monday night’s meeting, councillors supported opening the sealed road to public.

“I’ve lived in the area for 45 years; it’s always been a road,” North Ward councillor, Craig Maidment, said.

“Everyone thought it was a road, and it makes a great deal of sense to get this resolved for legal reasons.”

Council will now need to apply to Crown Lands within the Department for Environment and Water for the amendment for approval by Minister for Climate, Environment and Water Susan Close.

Goolwa Code Amendment raises a ‘stink’ with council

By Giorgina McKay

The potential for an odour overflow under a proposed Goolwa Code Amendment has raised a ‘stink’ with Alexandrina Council, who have asked for guarantees from the developer.

Beston Parks Land Company launched a proposed code amendment with Planning Minister Nick Champion in July to rezone 76 Kessell Road from Rural and Deferred Urban Zone to Caravan and Tourist Park Zone.

This will enable them to facilitate an expansion of the adjacent Discovery Parks tourist park to meet growing demand for short-term accommodation.

Feedback during community consultation, held for a six-week period between August and September, garnered eight responses – three from utility providers, two from government agencies, and three from community members.

Of the community responses, one was in support, another with no objections but a request for additional footpath and street trees, and a third in opposition.

While council missed its opportunity to provide its comments as a stakeholder on the amendment during the consultation period, the Designated Entity agreed to give an extension.

In a letter addressed from Alexandrina Mayor Keith Parkes that councillors agreed at last month’s meeting to submit to Beston Parks Land Company, council supported the intent of the Code Amendment, but raised concerns about the retention of vegetation across the affected land, and potential odour complaints from the decreased ‘buffer’ due to the development.

“Entering into a land management agreement or a document of similar ilk prior to a decision on the code amendment is recommended, clearly identifying the vegetation to be retained so any future development application will enable the protection of existing vegetation,” the letter read.

“Council’s Wastewater Treatment Plant (WWTP) is a significant infrastructure investment and the envisaged development of the affected area will reduce the ‘buffer’ contingency to 40 metres.

“Any odour complaints received via the Environment Protection Authority may warrant additional odour treatment works – the cost of which will be borne by council.

“Council seeks information that the proposed rezoning to the caravan park and tourist zone does not compromise the continued operation of the WWTP, nor prevent any future expansion if required.

“In addition, any future upgrades to council’s infrastructure will need to satisfy the criteria of the environment protection policy, which may warrant more works than what would ordinarily be expected under existing conditions.

“Therefore, it is requested the designated entity demonstrate that with any future caravan park extension, the level of upgrade required by council in the event of an expansion to the WWTP to abate noise will not be more than what is currently required.”

Upon council’s submission, the Designated Entity will prepare an engagement report, which, together with any amendment instructions, will be forwarded to Mr Champion for decision.

Cost-of-living crisis sees businesses s

There's no doubt about it, money doesn't seem to stretch as much as it used to.

For many households, the expenses they incur when buying the goods and services needed to maintain a certain standard of living has increased.

Increases in electricity, insurance, mortgage rates, food, beverages, fuel, transport – they all add up.

What does this all mean for our small business owners who also have these pressures and are seeing consumers being more cautious with their money?

According to an Australian Chamber of Commerce and Industry survey, small business owners have been struggling for some time, and the situation is getting worse for many.

The 2024 survey revealed 45 per cent of small businesses have considered leaving or closing their business in the past 12 months, 40 per cent anticipate a reduced or significantly reduced profit, 61 per cent say the impact of red tape has increased, and 50 per cent say they are spending more time and money on red tape than 12 months ago.

As the cost of living continues to bite, Southern Argus Editor Deirdre Graham spoke with some of the region's small business owners and a support organisation to hear how the 'belt tightening' has been affecting them.

Strath Neighbourhood Centre reports increased need

The number of people seeking help as the cost of living bites is on the rise at the Strath Neighbourhood Centre, which is experiencing the issue themselves.

Manager Mal Sutcliffe first noticed the gradual increase about 18 months ago.

He said people, particularly the elderly on lower grade pensions, have had difficulty spreading a dollar far enough.

"It is generally those on the lower incomes – which is obvious – but I have also noticed there is a little bit of a middle cohort – those that are driving around and you would think 'yeah, you are not doing it too tough'," Mr Sutcliffe said.

"But surprisingly, those people are not necessarily doing as well as what we think because they may have mortgages that are really eating into their income (or) they may have other activities that are part of quality of life that they may have to let go because of the costs."

The neighbourhood centre provides support to the Strathalbyn community in a number of ways, including emergency food relief, community lunch, a garden, a repair shed, and a safe place to chat.

Its programs are aimed at reducing the feeling of loneliness and breaking the isolation barriers experienced by many locals.

More people are taking advantage of the activities available at the centre, as they look to cut back on those they once took for granted.

"Maybe the word is spreading that it is not a bad place to come to," Mr Sutcliffe said.

"I think part of that is that they are recognising this is where they can get some fellowship and some companionship... and instead of travelling to Mount Barker... they are hanging around here a bit more closer to home, which is a bit more cost-effective."

But they too have been impacted by the rise in the cost of living, particularly for the community lunch, amid growing demand.

Numbers for the Tuesday $5 lunch have now risen to 50 people and are heading towards 60.

"That is going to be impacted," Mr Sutcliffe said.

"I have been watching the figures there, and we, as an organisation, get far less for the money I spend than what we were getting."

"I don't plan the menu too far in advance now, and when I do go and do the shopping on the day of the lunch, I look to see what is the best I can get at the best price."

It has meant the price of the lunch is expected to soon rise.

"We are only talking small amounts, but if we are looking to go up $3 from $5 to $8, that is a fairly big jump in percentage terms, but in real terms it is not even the price of a cup of coffee – that some people can't afford anyhow," he said.

"However, if someone can't afford it, they have only got to come and see us, and we will provide a voucher."

"Having to put the cost up goes against the grain, but if we don't we won't be able to continue to provide the lunch."

The Strath Neighbourhood Centre recently hosted a small business breakfast aimed at supporting small business owners.

Mr Sutcliffe said it was time governments on all levels pressure larger companies with "ridiculous profits" to do more to close the wealth gap.

"Our small businesses, while on the surface they look like they are doing well and they are making lots of profit, they are not really making lots of profit," he said.

"Like a hardware shop, you have to put stock on the shelves and there is a lot of stock, but if you are not moving it or if you put your price up and it sits there, it is costing you money as well just to have it sitting"

Market shift sees less customers through the door

Notching up 10 years at Strathalbyn H Hardware, Candeece Falland noticed the biggest indicator of a change in the market came around Christmas time last year.

She says the business has seen a shift from COVID, where people were going "absolutely mad" with DIY projects to spending on just the essentials.

"We are not seeing the foot traffic that we were seeing prior to that," Miss Falland said.

"There's been a shift from COVID when people were just going absolutely mad and doing everything to their house."

"While our electricity bill is at least offset by our large solar system on the roof, even that has gone from us not having a bill to suddenly having a bill... so that would have gone up probably 50 to 60 per cent realistically."

Miss Falland has also noticed the different spending habits among the generations shopping at the store, with younger people having tighter budgets.

"The younger generation who have just gone into mortgages, most definitely they are strapped for cash because they bought houses that probably they couldn't afford in an economic cycle where interest rates were low, and now they are actually feeling the lifestyle crunch," she said.

"I think, in general, people forget that good and bad times are a reality of life and we have had an incredibly long period in the general economy of good times."

"So, therefore, do we have a cost-of-living crisis or do we have a cost-of-lifestyle crisis because everybody has to have 15 TVs, seven new cars and lunch out every day?

"Are we having to pull in our belts? Most definitely."

While COVID for her store as an essential service was "brilliant" because they were the local gas supplier, Miss Falland could see the change coming.

"Getting stock in post-COVID has been a challenge," she said.

"We have had to change suppliers to make sure we still have stuff on the shelf."

"I was actually prepared for this because I follow the financial markets and I also follow what is going on in the mortgage market, so we started to change our strategy prior to August last year when a lot of people were coming off the mortgage cliff... so we had already started changing our strategy with our stocking levels before that."

Prices have had to increase if a price increase from suppliers occurs, with freight increases "ridiculous".

"I think the banks have a lot to do with the cost-of-living crisis," Miss Falland said.

"I think the Australian Government has a lot to do with its decision-making and its policy-making on the cost-of-living crisis."

"I think the next 12 months is going to be incredibly challenging, especially for small business, who are used to running in the good times."

General Store attempts to keep positive outlook

Langhorne Creek General Store owner Chris Holecek is focusing on the positives, despite believing tough times will continue.

Cost-of-living expenses have been hitting the local business hard.

At one point, during a three-month period over winter, it got so bad it almost caused Mr Holecek and his partner Sarah Watkins, to close the doors.

"Being a small business, there just seems to be so many peaks and troughs," Mr Holecek said.

"Your levels get up, but they go straight back down again – you never plateau.

"This year has probably been the most affected that we have been because our trade is down this year about 15 per cent, and we have had some months when we have been down 20 per cent on previous months.

"We were one major breakdown away from closing our doors, but since then, we are sort of back to where we need to be.

"But it just peaks and troughs, you have to go with the flow and hope that the trade keeps continuing."

Among the costs, electricity has been "a killer".

"We went from about $900 a month to over $1200 in a heartbeat," Mr Holecek said.

"The cost of supplying all the products are gradual increases – they don't happen at once – but we will get notified if there is a price rise coming, and then we have to adjust our prices.

"We have a decent turn-over, but our expenses are massive, so with our annual turn-over, our expenses would be probably 90 per cent of our turn-over each year.

"So, we probably only make a 10 per cent net profit on our annual turn-over if we are lucky.

"We have definitely been forced to put our prices up unwillingly just because of the cost of everything for us and our margins... anything cooked like hamburgers and steak sandwiches, there is a really small percentage of margin, so we have to concentrate on other things that cost us a bit less to prop that margin up."

But the costs don't stop there, and they all add up.

"I call them profit killers – electricity, GST, government expenses and bank charges," Mr Holecek said.

"Bank charges and fees are a really big expense for us.

"We would love nothing more than to be cash only, but you can't... a lot of people these days don't carry a lot of cash."

Mr Holecek said many of his customers were battling with increasing costs and pressures in their lives, affecting the amount of money they were spending in the store.

"People have to tighten their belts and have to watch what they spend... this is like a luxury coming in and getting take away food," he said.

"It is not the sort of business that you are going to get rich or retire early from, but we love the shop and we just love the community here.

"Amid all the doom and gloom of everything costing the world... you can't on the good stuff as much as you can and do anything to change it, so you just focus go from there."

Not such a sweet time at Goolwa's lolly shop

Lyn Clark from River Dolls of Goolwa and Dollies Lollies has seen the bad and the good over the 25 years she has ran her museum of 3000 dolls and lolly shop, with the cost of living just another hurdle.

COVID was her biggest challenge, which forced her to close the museum for the duration of the pandemic, but noted the cost of living began having quite an impact around Christmas time.

"You need the better sales to pay the bills and see you through the difficult times," Mrs Clark said.

"You would know which ones were going to be good months and the not-such-good months, but (now with the bad months) it has been very bad.

"Insurance is at least a good third higher, but when you consider we haven't made any claims that would justify it...

"It has been particularly difficult and you have to justify, 'do we put in an order this month or do we wait a bit longer?' – perhaps decide not to offer so many options – because if they don't sell, you are not making any money."

Like Mr Holecek, Mrs Clark has had to put prices up and has some bad news for those who love chocolate.

"At the moment, the price of chocolate has skyrocketed, so all of our suppliers that use chocolate in their manufacturing... each time their order forms come in, the price of chocolate has affected those," she said.

"Come Christmas, we are noticing a big difference in what we paid for lollies with chocolate last year, compared with what is currently being charged.

"It is creeping up now to at least a 50 per cent increase, which is huge.

"Chocolate is a treat, but it is something that people like to give as a gift, particularly for Christmas and birthdays, and other special times like Mothers Day and Fathers Day."

Another problem for Mrs Clark has been the effect of the price of petrol.

"You also have problems with the price increase of petrol and that is affecting deliveries, so every time you get something delivered, that company is under stress as well," she said.

"They try and keep their prices as best they can, but all their delivery prices have gone up as well.

"It is everything, and that is why it is hard to predict how it is going to work out because there are so many categories that influence your business that are all suffering.

"We have tried to control the prices but we have had to put the prices up, and the children in particular notice it when they haven't got all that much money to spend when they are on their way home from school – something they paid 20 cents for for quite some time is now 40 or 50 cents."

Mrs Clark says the future will depend on what governments can do to assist.

"If they make decisions that are encouraging for people to give them the confidence to keep going, then things will improve, but if the traders in particular lose confidence, they will close," she said.

"We are fortunate we built this building so we haven't had to pay rent... if I had to pay rent I don't know that I will still be open.

"Because we are independent in the way that we have been able to run our business... we have been able to weather the storm a lot better than others have simply because they have had to pay the rent, the staff, and all those sorts of things.

"If you can't pay them you have the option of either going into debt, which a lot of people don't want to do, or you close." Mrs Clark said customers were tightening how much money they give children to spend in the lolly shop, and more people were approaching her to see if she would buy any dolls they bring in. "I have been inundated," she said. "What people are doing is they are selling their own things to get a little bit of expendable income to see them through the difficult times." "People are considering, 'do I keep my treasures or do I try and sell them?', and that is a difficult decision for people to make."

Years poured into vehicles

By Tara Nash

With a shared love for automotive history, Adelaide Hills Motor Restorers Club members have passionately dedicated years to working on their beloved vehicles.

They share the stories behind their pride and joys which will be displayed at the club's Power of the Past event at Mount Barker Showgrounds this weekend.

Peter Templer, 1912 Buick

Peter Templer purchased his 1912 Buick about 18 months ago and believes it was last driven about 20 years prior. The Adelaide Hills Motor Restorers Club President took about one week to get it running. The body was built in Sydney while everything else is assumed to have been imported from America. The Buick “potters along all day” at 50km/h.

Ralph Uppill, Dort

What is believed to be one of the last Dorts ever manufactured in 1924 is owned by Ralph Uppill.

The chassis has what they expect to be the highest number in the world, but unfortunately the records to verify this belief were destroyed in a fire. Restoration took nine years.

“I used to ask anybody who had anything to do with cars (for advice), get all their opinions and calculate which way I was going to go,” Mr Uppill said.

“The most important thing – when you’re pulling everything to bits – is to take a million photographs, tag everything and record everything.”

Rob Dick, 1929 BSA Sloper

Rob Dick is riding a high from his 1929 BSA Sloper receiving an award at the recent Bay to Birdwood. The previous owner restored the vehicle and he was “lucky enough” to buy it off him.

“I just like the old machinery – I’m an old soul at heart, I suppose,” he said.

Mark Toohey, 1970 BSA

When Mark Toohey was 17-years-old, he bought a 1970 BSA for $500 and loved it so much that he decided to keep it. That was 49 years ago. Over that time, it got a full makeover in 2001 and an added side-car.

“They’re very reliable if they’re kept in good nick, and they’re so much fun,” he said.

“It was my first bike and I just love the British bikes and I just wanted to keep it.”

Brian Walsh, Hudson Super Six 1950

A family of 11 kids remarkably used to fit into a Hudson Super Six in the 1950s – four in the front, four in the middle, and the smallest kids squeezed in at the back, before seatbelts were mandatory.

This is the memory of one of those children, Littlehampton's Brian Walsh, who has kept the family heirloom and restored it in the 1990s.

Hannah Dridan-Cameron, 1954 MG TF

This 1954 MG TF is so small that the roof had to be removed because the average person was unable to fit inside it. Hannah Dridan-Cameron bought the vehicle about 15 years ago from a man who owned it since the 1990s.

Michael Sheehan, 1929 Chevrolet

Being a motor mechanic, Michael Sheehan has always been interested in the way old cars were built. Part of his collection is a 1929 Chevrolet that he has owned since 1963, which served as an everyday car for a number of years.

Goolwa duo ready to see Magpies' on-court success

Goolwa Netball Club's new Vice-President Jo Wilson and President Brooke Cahill have plans to team together to achieve on-court success next season. Photo: Giorgina McKay

By Giorgina McKay

After years of working hard behind the scenes to cultivate the culture and retain players, Goolwa Netball's new President Brooke Cahill and Vice-President Jo Wilson are ready for the club to see some on-court success next season.

Cahill, whose daughter plays for the club, has been involved with the Magpies for nearly six years – two of those on the committee – and brings both business experience and people skills to the role.

She stepped into the top job to allow past President Olivia Longmire – who both Cahill and Wilson expressed a deep admiration for – to take a step back and to help the club continue on its trajectory forward.

"For me, I jumped into the netball club being that my two daughters are young and they wanted to play, and then hopped on the committee because it's on a volunteer basis and there's always a need for people to volunteer," Cahill said.

"I did a year this year as Vice-President then took on President purely so Olivia could have a bit of a step back.

"She's done it since 2021, and she did a really great job with the whole committee and getting (it) back to full capacity.

"I'm hoping we can just follow on doing the same thing... with that positive attitude and retaining all our players."

Wilson has been involved for eight years from a player and coaching capacity to being on the committee.

Over the last eight years, she has seen the club go through many positive changes and hoped to see some of them begin to eventuate into on-court success.

"I think we've invested a lot of time, effort, and money into restoring the culture at the club to make sure we're retaining players and we're setting a good standard," Wilson said.

"We want a place for people to come, but we also want to nurture pathways for girls that want to pursue netball further.

"We've already set those wheels into motion, but we're really at the point where we should start seeing that fruition, so we really need on-court success because that's part of a successful club whether you like it or not.

"A (goal) of sport is to win – that's the sole purpose of it – and people enjoy it more."

Wilson comes with experience in her work and netball life that will enable to keep the club produce "quality as well as quantity".

She is looking to work with Cahill to following in Longmire's footsteps and make further improvements.

This will be done with the help of this season's committee members: Rachael Norde as Secretary, Sarah Milosevic as Treasurer, Ashlee Wray as GSNA Rep, Bek Read as Umpire and Social Co-ordinator, Stevie Robinson for Merchandise and Public Officer, Jackie Volkman as Sponsorship/Fundraising Co-ordinator, Kylie Jarrett as Coaching Co-ordinator, Jodie Edwards as Patron, Chelsea Hastings as Senior Advocate, Abby Pike as Junior Advocate, Tamara McPherson as Property Officer, Olivia Longmire for Oval Grounds, and Amy Griffen as Child Safety Officer.

"I've got a daughter who plays and I also play, so I just think there's always things that could be better," Wilson said.

"We don't want to stop where we are, there's still things we can do better, so I'm keen to be part of that and make some impact where I can while my daughter is still playing, and hopefully leave it better than when I arrived.

"I'm thinking together, (Brooke and I), if we oversee how things go, we should see that come to life which is the club's goals as well."

The club welcomes any new players to join, as well as any interested coaches and umpires.

Two wins for Langhorne Creek Hawks

The girls started the ball rolling on Thursday when they hosted Strathalbyn at Langhorne Creek.

Strathalbyn struggled to get enough players for the game and one of our guys played as a sub for them – thanks Graham Cullen for helping out Strathalbyn.

Di Golding and her girls had a close match all day, finally finishing the game two shots up.

Jo Cullen and her rink had a considerable win, so a good start for the girls.

Div 2 were at home to Port Elliot, and they were determined not to let home ground advantage slip.

Justin Cleggett's rink, which included one of our senior bowlers 96-year-old Jack Williams, played consistently all day, winning 14 of the available ends to score an eight-shot win.

Shane Rothe's rink found a bit of form this week, scoring a big win by 17 shots, but sadly on the rink next door, Ben Footner and his crew were struggling to get into the game.

However, after smoko, they managed to win some ends to reduce the losing margin, thus enabling the Hawks to gain 10 points for the day.

Div 4 side travelled to Willunga on a green which can be tricky on the best of days.

Saturday was pretty warm, with a very gusty wind challenging all the players.

All rinks were losers, but I heard one of the girls say they had a bit of fun – great positivity from that rink.

It will be a busy time for the Hawks club this week, as Monday they hosted their regular 'Pork N Plonk' day, and tonight our Night Owl season starts.

The committee have been busy getting new teams involved and this season promises to be big.

Good wins across the board for Milang

Finally, the ladies' pennant season has started.

Milang and Goolwa had a draw with 58 shots each, however, Milang won one rink and Goolwa two, so Milang scored five points to seven.

Thank you to the two men who replaced two ladies who were still interstate.

Our next game is at Strathalbyn.

On Saturday, both sides played at Milang – Div. 3 against Goolwa White and Div. 5 against Clarendon.

Glen's team scored 26-10 in Div. 3 and got Rink of the Week by percentage from Pam's 28-12 in Div. 5. Lee's team were 22-11 and Kevin's 15-11.

A good win overall.

Div. 5 scored 10 points, with Heather's rink 26-15 and Peter's 22-28, despite having a big lead at the mid-game break.

The numbers 28, 26, 22, 15 and 11 featured highly in these results.

Well done to all the teams for being competitive each week so far.

This week Div. 3s are at Aldinga Bay and Div. 5s at Encounter Bay.

Keep up the good work!

Around the Grounds

The Tigers' B Grade headed to Woodside on Saturday with a young team again, and it was Under 14s Coach Chris Nutt who led the way with 74*.

The Tigers fell short by seven wickets, with Martin Rigby picking up two wickets.

The C Grade welcomed back the Tonkins from Bali, but it was to no avail, as Ashbourne won by 29 runs.

James McInnes was the MOM for his 32 and three wickets, and also the luxury of playing alongside Sam, his son, who is 11.

What a great day for Jim!

Former Richmond Tiger Ben Moore dusted off the willow and smashed 80 at Callington #2 to lead the D Grade to a great victory against the Bremer/Callington Cobras to keep Craig Filsell and the boys in the hunt.

The Under 16s had the bye and the Under 14s hosted archrival Strathalbyn at home on Saturday.

Mitch Stitt picked up three wickets with the support act of Ed Boag, with two wickets also.

The Under 12s continued on their merry way, demolishing Wistow, with Sam McInnes 40*, Dylan Butler 33* and Max Tonkin leading the charge with the bat.

Rupert Potts has the ball on a string and he picked up another two wickets.

The 10s had a great game at Strathalbyn, taking on Strath Red, with the McNamara brothers on debut.

Isaac Fullerton 22* and Jai Farrimond 18* belted the Stallion young bowlers around.

Eastern Falcons 2024/25: Round 4

Falcons defeat Woodville

On Sunday at E.P. Nazer Reserve Oval, Port Adelaide, the Eastern Falcons played against Port Adelaide in round 4 of the ATCA Women's Second Grade division.

The Falcons won the toss and batted first.

The Falcons opened the batting with Rebecca Hull and Emily Roberts, however, unfortunately were quick to lose wickets in the opening overs.

This saw Holly Santibanez to the crease who, along with Natalie Frahn and Minka Macauley, were able to put some runs on the score.

Throughout the remainder of the innings, a tight partnership was created between Holly Peach and Jacinta Coulter.

The Falcons finished the innings with a score of 7/103.

The Falcons came out with a strong opening over and gained a quick wicket from Minka Macauley, later followed by wickets from Natalie Frahn and Jacinta Coulter.

The energy was high in the field from the Falcons, leading to Coulter's second wicket of the day – a tidy catch by Emily Roberts.

The Eastern Falcons lost by six wickets.

Jacinta Coulter was named the Falcons' Player of the Day.

The Falcons will play their next game against Hope Valley at Strathalbyn Oval on Sunday, November 10 at 1pm.

A Grade Cricket

Blackwell hat trick steam-rolls Nairne

SA Outback's fast bowler Troy Blackwell recorded another hat trick to put the clamps on Nairne at Langhorne Creek in the round four A Grade clash.

The former Milang junior railroaded the Creeks to victory with a brilliant spell of bowling to record his second A Grade hat trick in six games – the last coming in the last minor round game of the 2023/24 season against Strathalbyn.

Nairne won the toss and looked in a good spot early, with the inclusion of fiery opening batsman Shane Kenney.

Kenny struck a run a ball 26 with three boundaries and six, before he was brought undone by the big medium pace bowler Dan Kropp.

Brodie Clarke looked happy to hang around in his surprise role as opening batsman before he was run out by a brilliant piece of fielding from the Creek skipper Adam Clements.

Luke Timmins and Robert Crook consolidated and they looked like taking the game away from the Tigers, as they pushed through to 3/81 before the off spin of Daniel Cleggett brought Robert Crook undone, one over before drinks.

The slow bowlers of Brodie O'Dea, who the Tigers welcomed back for his first game of the year, and Daniel Cleggett made the going slow for the Razorbacks, but they had a good pad to launch from, getting to 3/132 in the 35th over.

Troy Blackwell was introduced back in the Tigers attack, as the fiery fast bowler hammered the base of the stumps.

He removed five Nairne batsmen in quick time as he blasted out the Razorbacks with a fine hat-trick, knocking over Tom May, Nick Williams and Will Brooks 41st over to get the Tigers back on top.

Nairne finished all out 152, losing the last six wickets for just 18 runs.

Blackwell was the best of the Tigers with 5/18 from seven overs.

Adam Clements had to attend a wedding and got the Tigers off to a blistering start, hitting 14 runs in quick time and gave the Tigers a boost to be 26 from three overs.

Brodie Clarke had the opening break through bowling Clements, and when gun batsman O'Dea fell for four and Jagga Kotz a duck, both to Nick Williams, it was up to Shannon Jones and Daniel Cleggett to get the Tigers back on track.

Jones was slow but punished the bad balls, hitting seven boundaries in a fine knock for the Tigers as he went untroubled.

Cleggett fell to the spin of Williams for 12 who had taken three of the first four, but it was Jones who kept the run rate ticking over, with Shane Bown to have the Tigers at 4/88 at drinks.

The pedestrian Llewellyn struck to remove Jones straight after drinks for 43 and the Razorbacks had a sniff, with the Tigers still needing 57 for victory.

Bown and Kropp were exactly what the Tigers needed, as they both played pivotal roles in the middle order to guide the Tigers within 16 runs before Bown went down to fast bowler Clarke for 23.

Kropp went not long after to the wayward Caleb Walker, but it was the hat trick hero Blackwell who took the Tigers to victory, as he often does, with eight* with the help of Brad Clements one* to see the Tigers sit in second spot, while Nairne will rue the close loss after being in a good position early in the game.

Left arm man Nick Williams was the pick of the Nairne bowlers with 3/27.

Langhorne Creek head to Woodside on Saturday, while Nairne head to Lobethal.

Strathalbyn Cricket Club - Stable Snippets

It was a mixed bag of results last weekend across the senior grades with the B Grade unfortunately called off due to a leaking sprinkler next to the pitch at Mt Barker.

The U14 and U16 matches are both evenly poised after day one while this coming week will see some changes to the U12 Boys and U10 fixtures to dodge EFS Gala Night this Friday.

This weekend with Handpicked being held the B Grade and C Grade matches will be played on Sunday whereas the A Grade host Bremer-Callington on Saturday.

A Grade

At home against Lobethal last Saturday the A Grade were sent into bat and the decision soon appeared questionable with the Stallions in real strife at 6/50.

Riley Brook then combined firstly with Brayden Gaiter and then Tyson Roberts for two 50 run partnerships which enabled 8/158 to be posted.

Brook with an important 46, Roberts an unbeaten 29 and Brayden Gaiter 26 were the best with the bat.

In reply the Northern Tigers started aggressively before the Stallions dragged things back to 4/85, however a 57-run fifth wicket partnership steadied the run chase, and the visitors went past the total in the 32nd over.

Matt Harris and Kane Gaiter picking up two wickets each.

B Grade

Abandoned.

C Grade

In the C Grade at Woodside #2 the Stallions batted first and lost Paul Gane early before skipper Harvey shared in consecutive 50 run stands with Brook and then Cutting to see steady progress made.

Harvey would eventually navigate through to the close of the innings for an unbeaten 40 with 6/182 posted from the allotted 35 overs.

In reply the Warriors got away to a fast start and were 0/82 after 14 overs.

New Life Member Bear Humphrys took just the single delivery to secure the crucial break through which shifted the momentum.

The score was 2/92 (18) at drinks before Humphrys, Harvey and Fullarton ran through the Warriors to bowl the home side out for 144 in a great fight back.

First gamer Jadon Tree added some serious leg speed in the field while also combining with Harvey to add 26 with the bat.

Strath 6/182 (R Harvey 40*, M Cutting 33, N Brook 29, S Stevenson 21) def. Woodside 144 (D Fullarton 3/7, C Humphrys 3/25, R Harvey 2/21).

U16

It was an interesting morning for the U16s last Saturday when they hosted Hahndorf on the Strath turf.

The Magpies won the toss and elected to bat first with both openers retiring not out and setting a great platform.

The first wicket didn't fall until 126 was on the board with Ben Greaves getting the much-needed breakthrough.

From here it was all the Stallions as they took regular wickets and restricted the visitors to 9/153 in a great comeback.

Lucas Ballantyne with 4/18 was the chief destroyer while Vice Captain Jeremy Halling picked up 2/4 from five overs in a tight spell.

U14

The U14s headed down to Langhorne Creek last Saturday morning and elected to bat first after winning the toss.

Braden Gane went early after being elevated to the opening position before Max Filsell and Jackson Smith consolidated adding 50 with Smith retiring not out on 30.

Filsell went in the final over before drinks, after looking very solid and seeing off the new ball bowlers.

At 8/97 a low total looked on the cards before Rory Fox-Curnow combined with a returning Smith to add 50 for the final wicket, pushing the total up to 147*, Smith's unbeaten 50 anchoring the innings.

*Full player scores were not available at time of submission.

U12 Girls

Last Wednesday evening our U12 Filies took on Mount Barker at Mount Barker oval.

Our captain for the night was Erica.

We lost the toss, and we bowled first.

We had a real mixed bag on the night with some exceptional deliveries sent down mixed in with a few sundries as the girls still get accustomed to taking concrete wickets.

It was really pleasing to see the advances made by Chloe, Charlotte and Maddie as a result of some technique changes at training.

Erica, Maddelyn, Chloe and Charlotte all took a wicket each and a run out closed the Mount Barker innings at 5/45 after 16 overs.

Our batting innings was a real solid effort.

The girls all played some good shots and valued their wickets.

Maddelyn, Mackenzie, Erica and Mia were all amongst the runs as we completed our innings at 3/46 after 16 overs, a single run the difference.

A huge thank you to Karen again for an exceptionally neat scorebook and to Troy Raymond and the Mount Barker Cricket Club for a great game.

Final scores Mount Barker 5/45 (57)

U12 Boys

Last Friday evening we headed up to Macclesfield to face the Redbacks.

Samuel won the toss and elected to bat first.

A few early wickets by the Redbacks meant we were already behind the eight ball, however James and Henry were both able to stay in and retire not out (James three times).

Tyrian came in and made some amazing shots in his 43 from 29 balls which helped get our score up to 86.

Samuel and James did some good wicket keeping with James taking a caught behind off Connor's bowling.

Working on bowling at training meant we didn't give as many extras away which shows the boys are improving.

Tyrian Cousins completed a fine double with 2/1 from three overs.

Maccy went past the score in the 17th over before bad light and the cold weather resulted in an early finish.

U10

Last Friday evening our two sides again hosted a double header at Strathalbyn oval.

We had five kids out due to illness so our Red and White teams played with five per side and did a great job.

Strath White came up against Mount Barker and we batted first after captain Connor won the toss.

Noah, Connor, Charlie, Asher and Billie all working together well to post a very good 80 for the loss of only two wickets, Connor top scoring with 20.

Mount Barker came out flying scoring rapidly, but we were able to slow the scoring and take a few wickets and turn the game around.

In the end Mount Barker got the better of us posting 5/117.

Final scores Strathalbyn 2/80 (100)

def. by Mount Barker 5/117 (125) by 25 runs.

Thank you to Mount Barker for rotating two players around the field to help us fill the gaps.

Strath Red were up against Langhorne Creek where we also batted first.

Wolf, Flynn, Jack, Liam and Poppy were all able to score a boundary each as the team reached a total of 3/74 from our 20 overs, Wolf top scoring with 23.

Our bowling started very well, bowling tight and not allowing Langhorne Creek to get away early.

We managed some wickets through the middle period of the innings with Langhorne Creek finishing strong in the second half.

Wolf bowled well to finish with 3 wickets.

Final scores Strathalbyn 3/74 (94) def by Langhorne creek 5/92 (104) by 10 runs.

A huge thank you to Sam Melville and Linda Gowing for their help in the kitchen, the burgers were delicious!

Thanks also to the team at Luke Cousins Turf Services for mowing and marking the two outfield pitches to accommodate the hosting of double headers.

Great Southern Tennis - Round 5

Inman too strong, Myponga-Sellicks first win

Great Southern Tennis got its first blast of Summer last Saturday but that didn't deter Division 1 winners Inman nor Myponga-Sellicks from getting the points in their respective encounters.

Inman accounted for Victor in very strong fashion, winning 5 rubbers to 1 that was an all-round top class team performance.

Darren Lush and Margaret Dyer were particularly strong for Inman who won the doubles and making it too far back for Victor despite the heroics of Jeremy Bell's great singles win.

This continues Inman's unbeaten run after four rounds while for Victor, they'll be sure to rise again quickly after this defeat.

Myponga-Sellicks got their first win of the season, defeating Pt Elliot 4 rubbers to 2 at Myponga.

After splitting the doubles the home side exerted their superiority through great wins to Jack Pacitti, Courtney Gum and reserve player Amy Veron while Pt Elliot's Scott McPhee had a decisive singles victory.

For all their competitiveness so far this season, last year's premiers Pt Elliot remain winless at the bottom of the ladder but this won't phase them as they know there's plenty of tennis to occur.

Round 5 action has Myponga-Sellicks travelling to Back Valley in another challenging contest.

Back Valley are coming off the bye and have shown to be very competitive, pushing ladder leaders Inman the previous week.

Last Saturday's win for Myponga-

Sellicks will be a confidence booster and they'll relish the opportunity to take down their opponent.

Back Valley's men are still working through their 'playing roster' having used four different men in the three rounds they've played, while their women of the two Tanyas of Milne and Crompton along with Kerryn Pearsons remain consistent and ultra determined.

Myponga-Sellicks will be looking for a fast start to have their nose ahead after the doubles but I feel this match will be split along gender lines with Back Valley winning a close one on sets.

Victor Harbor hosts Pt Elliot with the home side determined to make amends for last weekend's result and with a great opportunity to create some points distance over Pt Elliot with a win.

Pt Elliot will be extremely determined to break their 'duck' and take the points.

There'll be great matches including Pt Elliot's Zara Bowles versus Danika Millard that will be great viewing for the spectators and the statistics show both teams to be very even.

Both teams are running at 42 per cent winning rate for doubles while Victor has a slightly superior winning record in singles this season.

Pt Elliot's Charlie Vincent has been a valuable contributor and his success will go a long way towards Pt Elliot winning the day, and I think they will prove to be too strong.

In other divisions...

Division 2 Inman Valley remain undefeated after a strong win over Back

Valley while the Myponga-Sellicks local derby was a thriller with the Green team winning by a mere two games.

Goolwa and the Mt Compass Emu Wrens had comfortable wins against Mt Compass Gold and Pt Elliot respectively.

It doesn't get easier for Back Valley this Saturday as they'll face Myponga-Sellicks Green.

Mt Compass Gold and Emu Wrens will have a great battle, while Goolwa versus Pt Elliot will be a crucial middle of the table battle.

Myponga-Sellicks Gold will be too strong for Mt Compass Maroon.

Inman Valley A doubles continues to lead the pack after successfully downing Back Valley while Victor is emerging as a powerhouse team with a strong victory against Pt Elliot.

Inman will attempt to maintain their winning record by defeating Pt Elliot while Back Valley will relish the challenges of taking on Victor Harbor but Victor will still get the win.

Big wins were the order of B Doubles last week with Back Valley, Pt Elliot Red and Pt Elliot Black having percentage boosting results.

This week, the top of the ladder Pt Elliot local derby will be a great tussle with the Red team's form being the difference.

Victor White will comfortably account for Inman Valley while Victor Blue will have a close stoush with Back Valley that takes on significance as being close on the ladder.

Magpies find new leader of the nest

By Giordina McKay

Having a place for the community, particularly young athletes and families, to play and enjoy football is the main priority for Goolwa/Port Elliot Football Club's new President Mark Telfer.

The Goolwa resident only really got involved with the local club midway through the year, but is keen to help it out of some tough times and continue its growth to ensure it can service the town for years to come.

He will be aided by his previous experience as not only a player, but as past President of the Roxby Districts Football Club and the Far North Football League

"I think what probably gets me in a little bit is (the club has) struggled for quite a few years, and the town is growing and we can't afford to let it go, so it's important we get the structure right so we've got a nursery for young footballers that come to the town and want to stay here," Telfer said.

"Obviously, A Grade and B Grade is important, but I think we need to build from the bottom up with the kids, and womens footy have done really well, so keep that going as well.

"I think that experience of different leagues and cultures will help.

"I've had a fair bit of success over the years, so I'm trying to bring that here."

"Footy clubs rely on families and kids, so you've got to get that foundation right.

"I'm not going to be here forever, but I certainly would like to see that when I leave, they're heading in the right direction and getting more wins obviously because it's good for the league when you don't have sides getting beaten by big amount of points each week."

Telfer will be supported by the committee.

The 2024/25 season committee comprises of Craig Ostigh as Vice-President and Vice-Patron, Keith Parkes as Patron, Rachael Norde as Secretary, Angela as Treasurer, Dan Crawford as Assistant Treasurer, Ryan Bridges as Football Director, Rowena Sheridan as Women's Co-ordinator, Jodie Allsop as Junior Co-ordinator, Ryan Carnelly as Players' Representative, and Gavin Wilson, Alan Gane, Simon Harrison and Daniel Wilton as general members.

The club is looking to fill the positions of Bar Manager, Kitchen Manager, and

Social Co-ordinator.

Telfer looked forward to working with the "diverse" committee, particularly on generating some money for the club, and the local community.

"That's been our struggle – when you start losing, you don't get people through the gate and you don't get the money over the bar, so to be able to change that around is important," he said.

"I am looking forward to working with the local football community to support the growing culture of family sport and development within the area."

Hawks seek new senior coach

The Hawks are on the hunt for another Senior Club Coach just one season after appointing Peter 'Galbs' Galbraith to the role.

Galbraith was signed to the Langhorne Creek Football Club in November 2023 for a two-year term, however, The Southern Argus understands the two have mutually agreed to part ways next season.

The club is now seeking expressions for the position for the 2025 season, noting applicants must have extensive experience at a high level, and excellent leadership and people management skills.

All expressions can be directed to (creekpresident@gmail.com) before Monday, November 18.

For any further information, contact Vice-President Greg Follett on 0407 619 682.

The Hawks are on the hunt for another Senior Club Coach just one season after appointing Peter 'Galbs' Galbraith to the role.

Barnes takes over the Reserves

Strathalbyn's new Reserves Football Coach Max Barnes will be looking to continue developing the team's culture and support its younger players in the season ahead.

Barnes takes over the role from Nathan Duffield, who is officially hanging up the boots.

The club believes Barnes brings "great experience, enthusiasm and all the qualities that make him such a wonderful club person" to the role.

Barnes was grateful for the opportunity and the club's support.

"I'm excited to take this role on, and continue with the development of our football community (and) team culture, and support our young players coming up from the Colts this season," he said.

"And (I am) looking forward to a successful 2025 season ahead."

Redsox Blue (14) def Redsox Red (6)

BEST: Oliver Gray (Redsox Blue) and Nathan Golder (Redsox Red)

It was a battle of the clubs for the U14s Mixed on Saturday morning.

The Redsox Blue team came out swinging, scoring 7 runs in the first inning.

This was due to some great baserunning and a key hit from Zaxton Sward.

Oliver Gray had a great pitching outing with four strike-outs, helping the Redsox Blue team hold the Redsox Red team to only 6 runs in the game.

Nathan Golder and Connor Abbotts both had hits for the Red team, contributing to their 5-run inning in the second.

The Redsox Blue team had another 7-run inning in the second, with hits from Devilan Manners, Patrick Mezzatesta and Zaxton Sward.

BEST: Hayden Bunn and Sophie Flynn (Hahndorf), and Jet Donahue and Lindsay Butler (Pirates)

With the Pirates playing short, they did a great job of trying to hold a strong Hahndorf side.

Both teams showed good speed to make the most of getting on base.

It was capped by another home run by Kaiden Martin.

Both pitchers, Charlie Askew (Pirates/Echunga) and Hayden Bunn (Hahndorf), worked hard and were well-supported by their teams.

Bunn took nine strike-outs across the four innings.

The score reverted to 14-7 as the final innings wasn't able to be completed.

A 3-run hit to Hayden Bunn, and strong pitching efforts by Sophie Flynn and Roman Martin helped to secure the win.

Mount Barker Redsox (7) def Echunga Pirates (6)

BEST: Zaxton Sward and Lucas Whinnett (Mount Barker Redsox), and Archer Brown and Lindsay Butler (Echunga Pirates)

Echunga Pirates scored 2 runs in the opening innings.

Leadoff batter Lindsay Butler picked a walk and was moved around the bases by a hit to Hugo Owen who was out at first after a play by Redsox's pitcher Zaxton Sward.

Patient batting saw the next two batters pick walks.

A hit by Lawson Elliott brought in the second run before two more outs at first were made by Sward.

Hits by Butler, Owen and Elliott helped Pirates add 4 runs in the second innings.

A runner caught stealing home secured the third out.

With Pirates currently leading 6-0, the Redsox batters responded.

Hits by David Trevinio-Hernandez, Lucas Whinnett, Zara Peterson and Bianca Lemmo saw Redsox score 7 runs and take the lead.

The third innings saw Pirates score another 4 runs.

A hit by Jack Walters and a triple by Butler brought in the runs.

With time running out the Pirates needed to get the three outs to take the win.

Redsox took the win 7-6 in a close game.

A Grade Women

Redsox (13) def Strathalbyn (1)

BEST: Kylie Gray and Claire Mohan-Ram (Redsox), and Kathy Pash and Kim Cutting (Strathalbyn)

In a dominant performance, Redsox clinched a 13-1 victory over Strathalbyn, showcasing skillful offense and defence throughout the game.

The scorecard revealed a series of well-executed plays and strategic decisions by Redsox that kept Strathalbyn on their toes and limited their scoring opportunities.

In the first inning, Amelia Rusden managed to get on base and advance, setting the tone for her team.

The players displayed great patience at the plate, drawing walks and taking advantage of errors to move around the bases.

Throughout the game, Redsox's batters used a combination of singles, well-placed bunts, and sacrifices to drive in runs consistently, while Strathalbyn struggled to keep up defensively.

The Redsox line-up was effective, with each player contributing to the score in various ways.

Lauren Christensen and Kylie Gray were active in moving runners along, while Alex Mackay capitalised on opportunities to reach base and score.

This offensive consistency, combined with heads-up baserunning, allowed Redsox to build and maintain a commanding lead.

Defensively, Redsox played a sharp game, with minimal errors that could have given Strathalbyn chances to get back in the game.

Strathalbyn's batters, including Kim Cutting and Kathy Pash, faced tough pitching, but were unable to string together enough hits to mount a significant challenge.

Redsox's defence kept Strathalbyn from advancing past first base in most innings, and key defensive plays resulted in timely outs that stalled Strathalbyn's momentum.

Strathalbyn's sole run came in a brief moment of opportunity when they managed to get a runner around the bases, but they couldn't build on it, as Redsox's Claire Mohan-Ram quickly regained control.

The scorecard indicated that Strathalbyn's batters struggled with strike-outs and ground outs, highlighting Redsox's strong pitching and defensive execution.

Strike outs by Redsox pitchers, along with smart infield plays, including a double play, kept Strathalbyn's scoring to a minimum.

In the end, Redsox's relentless offensive pressure and disciplined defence allowed them to secure a 13-1 win.

This game was a testament to Redsox's well-rounded skill set and teamwork, which they executed in all aspects of the game and limited Strathalbyn's chances to score.

B Grade Women

Redsox (13) def Hahndorf White (3)
BEST: Sienna Golder and Kylie Gray (Redsox), and Nancy Johns and Jackie Pocock (Hahndorf White)

Redsox claimed a decisive victory over Hahndorf White, with a final score of 13-3. The game unfolded with a steady performance from both teams, but Redsox consistently held the upper hand, scoring in almost every inning.

Hahndorf White on the other hand struggled to keep up, scoring 3 runs throughout the game, failing to match the Redsox's strong offensive play.

The Redsox line-up showcased effective batting and solid baserunning.

Key contributions from players Kylie Gray and Sienna Golder were evident, as they managed to secure multiple runs for their team and S Golder scored her first home run in the B Grade competition.

Additionally, several Redsox players drew walks, demonstrating patience at the plate and adding to their scoring opportunities.

On the defensive end, Redsox showed resilience, with effective pitching by Talia Moyle to Amy Golder, and fielding that limited Hahndorf White's scoring chances.

Hahndorf White had notable efforts, but faced challenges in keeping up with the Redsox's aggressive strategy and offensive prowess.

Despite their best efforts, they couldn't close the gap, ultimately allowing Redsox to maintain a comfortable lead and emerge victorious with a strong scoreline of 13-3.

NFA Pirates (18) def Hahndorf Black (1)

BEST: Taminka Wilks and Jodie Karayiannis (NFA Pirates), and Jess Pilkington and Michelle Gore (Hahndorf Black)

The NFA Pirates took on Hahndorf Black, looking for redemption from the first-round loss against them at the start of the season.

went aggressive, bringing in 4 runs for the innings before being retired.

Taminka Wilks took on pitching duties for the Pirates for the second week in a row and held Hahndorf scoreless, with three up, three down.

Leading off the batting again, T Wilks was the only Pirate to make it around the bases for this inning, with Hahndorf tightening up in the field, backed up by pitcher Michelle Gore.

The Pirates then took to the field and held Hahndorf at bay again, with three up and three down.

The game started to get to be a bit of an arm wrestle, with Hahndorf holding the Pirates scoreless and keeping themselves in the game.

Not to be out, Pirates' fielding held tight for another scoreless innings.

Then the Pirates' bats woke up.

Leadoff batter T Wilks had a first pitch home run to left field to open the gate for a 10-run innings, including another home run by Danielle Hupfield, bringing the Pirates run tally to 15.

Hahndorf's leadoff batter Jess Pilkington tried to rally the team with a three-bag hit to left field, then getting home on a sacrifice hit by M Gore.

Unfortunately, this is all Hahndorf could manage before being retired for the innings.

The Pirates managed to put on another 3 runs in the fifth innings to bring the run tally to 18 before the third out.

Coming back out to field, the Pirates made a pitching change, with new recruit Jodie Karayiannis coming in to relieve T Wilks.

J Karayiannis showed she was more than up to the challenge and held Hahndorf scoreless, facing only four batters for the innings.

With the last batter being call out, time and game was called, with the Pirates taking a victory 18 runs to 1 for Hahndorf.

Although the score seemed one-sided, both teams played in the true spirit of the game and there were still smiling faces on both sides of the diamond.

I think both sides are looking forward to when they face each other next.

C Grade Women

Pirates (15) def Macclesfield (9)

BEST: Sue Stewart and Brenae Wieringa (Pirates), and Elsbeth Lions and Anna Gotch (Macclesfield)

Pirates started the day off well with some disciplined batting and clever baserunning, keeping the pressure on the fielders.

Sue Stewart scored the first run after an over throw.

Debbie Taylor followed suit and scored the second run.

Maccy's fielders settled, with a great stretching catch by Anna Gotch at short stop, then Karlyn McLeod, at second base, fielded cleanly and tagged Charlene on the way past to finish the Pirates turn at bat.

The Pirates had some fun in the field, with Sue Stewart pitching to her daughter Michelle Stewart.

It took a couple of batters for Sue to find her rhythm, walking the first batter before a good hit to left field was made by Elsbeth Lions.

Sue then struck the next batter out, and was backed up by some great fielding, with the next two outs being hits to Dannielle Hupfield at centre field then a throw to Tracy Pearce at second to get the outs.

Stephanie Zuzolo had a nice hit but was caught out at shortstop.

Sue also had a nice hit, but again Anna at shortstop fielded well then made the throw to second for the second out.

The Pirates kept up there disciplined batting with walks to Debbie and Brenae, then Michelle Stewart came up to bat and hit a perfect hit to centre field, scoring 2 runs to get the Pirates in front.

Charlene Klenke hit hard straight down the third baseline, but Terilee Nash fielded the hit and got the out at third.

Sue stayed in pitching for the Pirates, backed up by her crew.

The next two batters got on with hits to load up the bases.

The next batter hit to Brenae at third and was caught out.

Karlyn McLeod came up to bat and hit a great shot to left field, scoring 3 runs.

Leoni's great day continued with yet another play at shortstop, throwing to first where Charlene had to quickly get off the base to field the ball then stretched back for the out.

The Pirates' good discipline batting continued, with the first four batters getting

Then Sue Stewart had a powerful hit to left field, scoring 2 runs.

Debbie had a good hit to shortstop, scoring the run but getting out at first.

Brenae came into bat and smashed a monster home run over left field.

The Pirates' disciplined batting continued, scoring 4 more runs to bring up 10 runs.

Maccy started their last turn at batting well, with a hit to left field by Jerrilee, then Tylah got a safe hit to past second.

Chole Watkin then hit a big hit over centre field, scoring 2 runs.

Leoni made yet another out, throwing the runner out at first, making a good day out for both teams' shortstops.

The final out was made when Tracy, who made the perfect backhand pick-up, then threw to first, ending a very enjoyable game for both teams.

BEST: Kerry Lawson and Celesta Paul (Hahndorf), and Amelia Rusden (Redsox)

Hahndorf batted first, bringing in 2 runs, with Kerry Lawson and Celesta Paul safely home before side away.

Redsox's turn at bat saw a massive home run to Amelia Rusden.

Molly Rusden also scored in this dig before side away.

Some great batting in the second saw safe hits to most of the Hahndorf team, bringing in 4 runs before side away.

Redsox scored 7 in the second, with a few errors creeping into the game.

The third and final dig saw Hahndorf score another 3 runs with a three-base hit to Kerry Lawson.

Redsox scored 2 runs through Sienna Golder and another home run to Amelia Rusden.

Div 1 Men

Macclesfield (10) def Hahndorf (6)

BEST: J Vernocchi and C Rothall (Macclesfield), and N Dawe and F Langford (Hahndorf)

Hahndorf were quick to start the game with a hit from Fynn Langford to left field.

Hahndorf then backed this up in the first, retiring the first three Macclesfield batters.

Macclesfield's pitcher Sam Flinn was able to return the favour, retiring the next three Hahndorf batters within a dozen pitches.

Macclesfield then returned with hits from Harome Vernocchi, Kris McLeod, Luke Kirpensteyn and Christian Rothall, which saw 2 runs scored, gaining the lead.

Hahndorf then returned with safe hits to Lewis Rozenzweig and Archie King, and a hit by a pitch to Nick Dawe; King scoring two RBIs.

James Goslett scored the third run for Hahndorf with a single to centre, making the score 4-2 in Hahndorf's favour.

Macclesfield were able to force a few errors from the Hahndorf field, while Lachlan Abbott hit a two-RBI home run over the left field fence.

This set the pace for Macclesfield, who then went on to score 3 additional runs through disciplined batting and a three-RBI double to Aaron Pearce, retaking the lead 7-4.

But Hahndorf weren't going to give up easily.

Dawe then scored on a fielder's choice before Macclesfield tightened their field to keep the lead, 7-6.

A walk to Kaleb Zakelj and a single to left field from Flinn scored Zakelj.

A triple to Vernocchi then scored Flinn. A sacrifice from McLeod that scored Vernocchi saw Macclesfield push their lead out to 10-6.

Mt Barker Redsox (5) def Pirates (4)

BEST: H May and B Williams (Mt Barker Redsox), and B Atkins and Mitch Butler (Pirates)

Harry May started on the stripe for the Mt Barker Redsox and allowed Clayton to take first with a walk.

Harvey only lasted his turn at bat before being hosed at first, then a hamstring strain saw him retire for the game.

M Butler had a solid hit to right field, scoring the first run of the game.

Redsox responded with 3 runs in the first which set up an early lead.

May kept the Pirates at bay for most of the game until the top of the sixth, where Atkins, M Butler and Fraser all found hits and added to the Pirate run tally.

One of the stand-out moments came in a pivotal inning when Jayden Craine of the Redsox made a spectacular catch that not only ended the inning, but also prevented two critical runs from being scored for the Pirates.

Craine's athleticism, focus, and quick reflexes were on full display, showcasing the importance of defensive prowess in tight games.

Another stand-out player for the Redsox was Bodie Williams, who exhibited 'shark skills' on the field with his tenacity and keen instincts.

Williams led by example both defensively and offensively, making key plays in the field and wielding a potent bat to contribute to the team's run production.

Redsox's resilience and ability to deliver under pressure was evident throughout the game, as they held off a determined Pirates team that fought hard until the final out.

The team's cohesive teamwork, strong individual performances, and unwavering determination were key factors in securing the hard-fought Redsox victory.

Div 2 Men

Macclesfield Red (11) def Echunga Red (1)

BEST: C McLeod and S Williams (Macclesfield Red), and J Baker and M Chilton (Echunga Red)

A betting man would have had Macclesfield Red short-priced favourites against Echunga Red on Saturday and punters wouldn't have been disappointed.

Three runs were scored by Maccy early, as Sam Williams, Coen McLeod and Brad Pearce scored before the innings ended, as Echunga pitcher's Seth Mancini worked hard.

McLeod slammed the door on Echunga with his pitching prowess to start things off, and soon sent his side back to bat without troubling the scorers.

Maccy tacked on 3 more in the second innings.

As the game progressed, McLeod was near-perfect with his pitching.

Maccy kept piling on runs in the third and fourth innings due to a home run by Sam Williams, a triple to McLeod, and hits to Dale Martin, Pearce and Ryan Van Kaathoven.

Echunga toiled hard in the field and with one last turn at bat, Justin Baker broke the drought with a single and later scored to open the tally.

The game was over after the next batter and the final score line read 11-1 to the Maccy army.

McLeod was given best on field, and Williams and Scadden were also prominent.

Mt Barker Redsox Blue (8) def Pirates (7)

BEST: Jaiden Crane and Sam Hancock (Mt Barker Redsox Blue, and Andrew Harren and Greg Bell (Pirates)

In a game that went down to the wire between two evenly matched teams, Redsox Blue were victorious in the last inning.

Pirates made a swashbuckling start to the game, opening the scoring with 2 runs in the top of the first inning and plundering a further 3 runs in the second, including a home run by Greg Bell.

Good pitching from Andrew Harren kept Redsox Blue off the score sheet for three innings.

Pirates continued the scoring in the top of the fourth inning by adding a further 2 runs.

Redsox Blue started chipping away at the deficit in the bottom of the fourth inning, with Sam Hancock coming around to score after some good baserunning, and Jaiden Crane hitting the second of two home runs for the inning.

Pirates were kept scoreless in the top of the fifth and made a pitching change in the bottom of the inning in an attempt to change things up to finish out the game.

Redsox Blue started the fifth with a walk to Conner Wray-Martin after a great turn at bat. Redsox Blue hitters displayed great concentration and restraint, with three walks and some good baserunning contributing to scoring 5 runs, which culminated in the come-from-behind victory.

Local horse in Melbourne Cup

By Tara Nash

Murray Bridge horse The Map was placed 21st during Tuesday's Melbourne Cup, trained by locals Dan Clarken and Oopy MacGillivray.

This follows the six-year-old mare's second placement in the Adelaide Cup earlier this year, reported by The Argus at the time, and his golden ticket to the Melbourne Cup came after racing in Andrew Ramsden Race Day.

Clarken's dad originally bought their Murray Bridge property where the pair train horses, and would have been "absolutely beside himself" to have known they had a runner in the race that stops the nation.

Before the race, Clarken admitted they were "happy to be the underdog", and was one of 22 South Australians involved in the day.

"To be able to pull off one of the biggest races – it would be pretty cool," he said.

"I can remember as a kid going to school and the teacher would pull out the TV and we can watch the Melbourne Cup... that's the sort of things you remember but to actually be in it – that's another thing all together.

"I think she's coming in great form – she's been building up, building up, and I think we've got her where she needs to be."

Strathalbyn Storm Basketball Club

Storm Captains ready to lead by example

Helping others develop their skills and being a positive role model for the younger athletes is how the new Strathalbyn Storm Captains want to lead the junior program this season.

Strathalbyn and District Basketball Association's Storm program caters to players from U12 to U18, focusing on improving each athlete's skills in a fun and supportive environment, and also co-ordinates senior teams for the Senior Country Championships.

Captains are selected each season to lead the program, and this year, it's Emerson Beeching, Lucas Bell, Tommy Clark and Darcie Pegler who will assume the roles.

Playing basketball from the earliest age of the four, Bell started at Storm in the U12s, where he has continued to create strong friendships and gone to play SA Country, Division 1 in district and American high school games.

Being selected as a Captain was "great" and he hopes to be a "chill" person others can come to for advice.

"I got into basketball because my mum had previously played," Bell said.

"Being selected in the Storm Captains was great to hear, as I've watched older Captains do it and felt that I would enjoy being one myself.

"I would like to set a role of being a chill person that you can speak to about what can improve your game and how I've gotten to where I am.

"I'm looking forward to watching the young talent that the younger Storm players have and what's to come in their future."

Clark and Beeching both started playing basketball from age seven and have been with Storm for nearly a decade.

Sadly for Clark, he tore his ACL in April and is unable to participate on the court, however, he will be helping from the sidelines and coaching the Under 16 Boys Team 2.

"My family has been involved in basketball for years, so it was kind of always going to be my thing," Clark said.

"This final year as a junior at Storm hasn't turn out how I thought it would.

"After tearing my ACL in April, I am unable to participate on court, so with my dad Chris' help, I'm looking at putting my playing experience into coaching our Under 16 Boys Team 2 side, which I am really enjoying.

"I look forward to supporting everyone from the sidelines."

Beeching grew up around basketball and, like Bell, has experience playing SA Country, Division 1 in district, and nationals in Bendigo.

She felt this experience will help with her new role.

"I was very excited to be named as one of the Storm Captains for 24/25 because I feel like I have always looked up to the Captains and how much they have developed as a person," Beeching said.

"I feel like because I have been playing basketball for a long time that I know a lot about what to do during different scenarios.

"An example I want to set as a Captain is being able to be someone you can talk to if you want to know how to develop your skills and be there to support other Storm teams as they play.

"I am looking forward to seeing how each individual gets better and has more confidence in themselves, and I can't wait to see how each team develops from the Murray Bridge Carnival all the way through to Junior Country Championships."

Pegler started playing basketball at eight-years-old, mainly through local friendships, and like the others, became involved with Storm early.

She also has experience in Division 1 at district for Eastern Mavericks, through which she attended Nationals in Sydney in 2022, as well as playing SA Country and coaching local basketball.

Pegler was surprised but grateful to be selected.

"There is a real sense of family and community when playing for Storm, as we all go away together to the same carnivals as families and watch each other play," she said.

"When I got told that I had been selected as one of the Storm Captains I was both surprised, being a bottom age U18 player, but also was very happy and grateful, as in previous years I have watched other Captains be selected and how much they have developed as a person and I wanted to experience that myself.

"I would like to be someone who players can talk to if they want to know how to improve their own skills and be there to support the other Storm teams, as I know how much the younger players just starting out look up to older players like me.

"I am looking forward to watching how players develop individually and as a team from Murray Bridge Carnival just held in October all the way to Junior Country Champs in March next year."

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Kerrie Edwards wins with 39 points

A total of 12 ladies headed out to the Strath golf course on Wednesday, October 30, to be greeted with slightly foggy conditions.

However, as the morning passed, the sun came out to give the ladies perfect golfing weather.

The course was also in wonderful condition which made the game easier, if you stayed on the fairways.

Kerrie Edwards made the most of the conditions to win the day by scoring 39 points.

Not too far behind was Jo Cullen on 36, followed by Tonya Merritt with 33.

Next came Jenny Drury with 31, with Marie Kingsbury and Jo Pickhaver both scoring 29. Ann Semple, Penny Geue and Cara Eastwood all finished with 28 while Charmaine Aplin and Mandi Vardon had 27 and Pauline Walkom finished with 23 points.

NTP was won by Jo Pickhaver with a very close second shot on the 17th hole.

Kerrie had an interesting day with a birdie/gobbler on the 15th hole and visiting the dam and the creek on other holes.

Marie found the dam and Mandi found both the dam and the creek.

Mandi also said that she found all the trees on the course, however she hadn't been out to play for a while, so it was good to see her back playing.

Kerrie Edwards, winner, with Jo Cullen, runner-up.

Golfers raise $5000 for disability cause

An annual Golf Day event has raised more than $5000 for people living with disability in the Murray Bridge area.

Community Living Australia (CLA) staged its annual Golf Day fundraiser on October 25, marking the organisation's tenth such event in the region, with 14 teams taking part.

The event united the CLA community along with partners, sponsors and community organisations in the spirit of a friendly ambrose competition where all golfing abilities were celebrated.

Across the 10 years of Golf Day, CLA has raised money for clients, their families, and the local team which has tangibly contributed to its recent location move back to the centre of Murray Bridge.

"We are incredibly proud of what the Golf Day has represented in the Murraylands and we are immensely grateful for the widespread support we have received from the community, event partners and sponsors", CLA Chief Executive, Mark Kulinski, said.

"Murray Bridge is proudly home to the All Abilities Festival, our sporting and wellbeing festival, which has been confirmed in partnership with the Rural City of Murray Bridge for February 2025."

Goolwa Sailing Club

Small fleet and tight racing in Goolwa

A smaller fleet was rewarded with beautiful conditions on Sunday for round four of the 2024-25 Goolwa Sailing Club dinghy series.

A warm spring day with a steady 12-14 knots from the south to south-east and a longer course format gave sailors plenty of time to find their groove and pick the shifts.

In Division One, on yardstick, the top three boats couldn't be split after the two races, resulting in a countback.

In the end it was Andy Harris in Purple Haze (Europe Dinghy) just ahead of Keegan Eatts in Aquaholic (Laser Radial) and Django Westmoreland in Kookabugga (Laser 4.7).

In Division Two, the optimist fleet, saw Jimi Westmoreland in Wild West narrowly ahead of Lucy Norris in Raider.

In both divisions, personal handicap results landed the same as yardstick.

Round five is set to be a beauty at Goolwa Sailing Club next Sunday, with a full fleet expected and series results on a knife-edge.

The action on the start line showed the intent of the keen sailors.

Haberfield pips the early leaders

By Perry Jones

The Strathalbyn Golf club conducted a Stableford competition last Saturday with all but one group hitting off early due to the predicted heat.

That group of five contained the winner of the day in Alan Haberfield coming in with 42 points in a field of 39.

'Lord' Haberfield had his work cut out for him as Don Bell came in earlier with a score of 41 points, which was then beaten by Stuart Warnock on a count back.

Habers picked up birdies on the seventh being just off the green in two and the 15th with his ball just running past the NTP plate.

There were a few tragedies in his round having 41 and 39 off the stick for 20 and 22 points, one of his partners Kim Wittwer keeping him honest with 39.

Don was well on his way to setting a big total when, with 40 off the stick on the front nine picked up 24 points to win the prize for the best front nine, having putted in twice from off the green and landing his tee shots on the sixth and eighth green.

After a par on the 10th Don ran into a bit of trouble on the 11th with a double bogie on the 11th, while grandson Cooper Barker was in the trees with his tee shot and then under a bush near the green, also having six for the hole.

Don travelled from left to right off the fairway on the 12th but was still in contention for a par if he could sink another putt from off the green.

But his putt only made it half way to the hole as his next putt went in and out of the hole, just like partner Kevin Shepley's putt for par on his way to nine's of 14 and 15.

Cooper, however, sunk a long putt for par.

The 13th saw Don in the drain off the tee on the right and he was still in it after his second shot for another double bogie and he was in early trouble off the 14 tee when the ball didn't travel too far as it hit the big tree on the left near the drain.

Kobi Hutchinson, also in that group, went further left with his tee shot onto the 13th fairway saying that at least he got to play on that fairway as none of his shots were on it on his way to that green.

Don did recover to have 19 points on the back nine but was later rolled by Stuart Warnock.

As for Stuart he played some great recovery shots, picking up two birdies from off the green, as he had nine's of 21 and 20.

Des Kelly, not used to real early morning starts, had a few problems adjusting his games with 16 points on the front nine but then had pars on the 10th and 11th, but said on the 12th, after his poor tee shot, that he would not be making a par five on this hole, but he did on his way to 20 points on the back nine and 36 in total to beat three younger players in his group in Henry Kelly, Ben McLeod and Ben Clark.

The bright spot in this group was Henry Kelly, who after sinking a long putt on the ninth and having tree trouble on the 10th in trying to cut the corner, put plenty of effort in his tee shot on the 11th, almost falling over as he had an 'airy'.

His next shot off the tee was not that long by his standards, while his third shot went far right up past the first tee block heading towards the practice fairway to finish with a double bogie.

Ben McLeod on the seventh lining up a shot at the green over the dam found his eight iron getting over the dam and over the boundary fence and onto the road.

On the 10th Ben also tried to cut the corner with his tee shot finishing on the 12th fairway but he had a clear shot at the 10th green finishing just off it, but like Henry and Ben Clark, who went over the back, still only had six, while Des calmly sank his par four putt.

Ben Clark, after picking up after six shots on the 11th, had a problem in going over the back of the green on the day, like he did in getting out of the dam on the 16th, then chipping the ball back into the hole.

On the 17th par three his tee shot went over the back of the green but he recovered to pick up a par, as did Des Kelly in landing his tee shot on the green, while Henry, after a stray tee shot, picked up a four, as did Ben McLeod after missing a one foot putt - a bit like his putting effort on the 11th when his was just off the edge of the green with his second shot and taking four putts to get the ball in.

Some players to still have reasonable scores but with a few problems included Terry Merritt on 33, starting off on fire until he found himself pinned against the fence at the back of the ninth.

Mike Semple got 33 points with pars on the first and 10th holes but produced just one putt on two holes, while Sam Avramidis, with 37, quickly turned a birdie two into a bogie five on the 15th.

Gary Beasley was travelling well with 18 points on the front nine to finish with 34 points, striking trouble on the par three 15th when going right with his tee shot, then went over the back of the green before seeing his third shot go well past the flag and then missing the putt to have his first scrub for the day.

Brian Simpson, playing with Kingsley Handke and Michael Clarke, said he was in no danger of coming last with his 27 points, but he must have thought that to win the hole in one jackpot money on the par three eighth was to hit the sign on the edge of the 17th tee block just up a bit, as he did, the ball going half way down the fairway.

Kingsley was bragging on the sixth as his tee shot over the creek finished 10 metres below the green and then proceeded to chip the ball over the rise and in for a birdie two.

Michael Clarke certainly had some issues to deal with on the 13th as his second shot hit Kingsley Handke's cart near the green, then only getting his short chip shot up the rise to the edge of the green before sinking a long par putt.

He finished the round with 37 points as he picked up three points on five holes for the back nine.

Darryl Holt certainly had plenty of problems in scrubbing the first three holes and had three more scrubs on the back nine for scores of eight and nine.

Good to see Sydney Swan's player Matthew Roberts on leave back home to play at Royal Strathalbyn with his handicap of three, but he was a bit off the pace with only 30 points for the round, scrubbing the par three 17th despite his tee shot being just off the green.

Matthew did have birdies on the eighth, 13th and 16th, on which he held nearest third shot prize (0-18) being about two feet from the pin.

However, Matthew's effort on the par five 16th was not to last as there were a few eagles flying around on the day, two of them popping up on the 16, when Andrew Hentschke and Sean Naylor, playing with Graeme Bertholini and Sean Walsh, both landed on the green with their second shot.

While captain Bertholini had first go down hill to salvage a par missed by an inch, he cheekily then marked his ball to let Andrew and Sean have a go at their long uphill putts to pick up the nearest third shot prize, but they both went one better in getting their third shot in the hole for eagles.

The pair carried on with their antics on the 17th when Sean Naylor, with his second shot, in chipping from just off the side of the green, looked away thinking it was off target but it dropped in for a birdie.

Then Andrew, who won nearest the pin on this hole, also dropped the ball in for a birdie while Berti picked up a par and Sean Walsh was just short with his birdie putt.

While Sean Naylor missed a birdie on the last when his putt ran around the top of the cup and out, not all went to plan on the day.

Sean Walsh with 31 points and Berti in his 33 had trouble on the par three sixth and 15th, the first time off the tee bouncing the ball over the creek and off the tee on the 15th curled the ball to the left of the green then missed a long putt but got the long putt back for four.

Big hitter Andrew Hentschke took three putts to get the ball in on the 15th and he had his normal lack of direction shots.

On the 14th he was having a bit of luck as his first tee shot was thought to have gone right and into the creek and his provisional tee shot went left somewhere, but luckily his first shot was clear of the creek on his way to five for the hole as Berti missed a six-inch putt to get six.

Andrew on the 18th off the tee was on the other side of the 12th fairway, then hitting over the trees towards the 18th green hit the big tree on the left of the green, before his putt for par bounced out of the hole, as Sean Walsh curled one in for his par four.

C grade player James Beney did well on the day picking up six points for an eagle on the ninth and have nearest third shot (19+) on the 12th, finishing with 35 points.

BIDDING: N E S W

BIDDING ANALYSIS

South 1S : Normal 5-c Major Opening
West 2D: Normal Overcall
North 4S : Pre-emptive Raise

Bergen Raises provide us with options for bidding with 4-card support for partner's Major suit, and that means we need new methods of bidding 3 and 5 card support. With 3-card support, a weak response is 2H over 1H, a strong response is a delayed raise to the level appropriate for Total Points held.

With 5-card support, and based on the Law of Total Tricks, the correct response is 4H, a pre-emptive raise, for any 5-card supporting hand that has no prospect of going beyond Game, say, 0 to 12 Total Points, but with 0 - 6 some distributional values will be highly desirable. With 6 - 12 TP, you have other well-developed ways of reaching the optimum contract, sometimes you will treat the 5th trump as a bonus and stick to Bergen Raises. A pre-emptive raise gives you a device for the lower point-count hands.

In the above hand played in A-Grade, three pairs found the 4 Spades contract, and with the bidding as above, East/West were cut off from discovering their Heart fit and 11 tricks. This was the results: -

ALEXANDRINA COUNCIL Community Consultations

Council seeks community feedback on the following three (3) projects. Please direct all written submissions via mysay.alexandrina.sa.gov.au, email alex@alexandrina.sa.gov.au or by post to the Chief Executive Officer, PO Box 21, Goolwa SA 5214. For further information, please call Council on 8555 7000.

Strategic Management Plan Review

Council is seeking your feedback on the four (4) draft plans that will influence our direction over the next four to 10 years.

Our draft documents - A2040 Our Plan to Thrive: Long Term Community Vision, Four Year Delivery Plan, Strategic Asset Management Plan, and Long Term Financial Plan - are essential for guiding our projects and services. These plans will help us sustainably manage our assets and finances, to bring life to our community's vision for Alexandrina to be liveable, green and connected.

Council Staff will be available to answer questions and take feedback at the drop-in sessions:

- South Ward – Wednesday 13 November 2024, 5 pm – 7 pm, Goolwa Council Chambers, 11 Cadell Street, Goolwa
- West Ward – Tuesday 19 November 2024, 5 pm – 7 pm, Mount Compass War Memorial Community Centre, Peters Terrace, Mount Compass
- North Ward – Thursday 21 November 2024, 5 pm – 7 pm, Strathalbyn Community Centre, 1 Colman Terrace, Strathalbyn.

Submissions will be accepted by Council until 5 pm, Wednesday 4 December 2024.

Strathalbyn Speed Limit Review - 40km/h Precinct in Town Centre

Council is seeking community feedback regarding a proposal to create a 40km/h speed limit precinct in the Strathalbyn Town Centre.

The precinct would encompass the streets surrounded by West Terrace, East Terrace, and South Terrace. The proposed precinct would exclude Department for Infrastructure and Transport arterial roads.

Submissions will be accepted by Council until 5 pm, Friday 29 November 2024

Recreational Vehicle (RV) Parks in Alexandrina

Council is exploring the creation of short-stay RV parks and seeks community feedback on three (3) proposed locations:

- Strathalbyn – The area adjacent to Parker Avenue and behind the Visitor Information Centre
- Mount Compass - Sam Court Reserve
- Goolwa - Barrage Road Reserve (adjacent PS Federal).

Submissions will be accepted by Council until 5 pm, Friday 29 November 2024.
